Red Sox Clinch Berth In Playoffs

RED SOX 7 - SALISBURY 1
RED SOX 6 - SALISBURY 1

With a roar that could be heard around the Eastern Shore League and into the sports departments of the Baltimore newspapers the Red Sox journeyed to Salisbury Thursday night, tangled with the Indians in a crucial double-header to decide the ownership of fourth place in the standings and whopped the cocky Indians 7-1 and 6-1 for a one-two knockout punch.

The twin killing dumped Salisbury into fifth place and lifted the Sockers into the final playoff position with but five games left to play.

Each team threw the full strength of its pitching staff into the frays but where the Sox relief pitchers held firm Salisbury's mound corps cracked under the strain.

Red Walsh was the slugging hero for the Sox, whaling a homer in each game. His clout in the first tilt started a big inning while his round tripper in the second with two on broke a close match in the sixth and the hopes of the Salisbury fans with it.

Donald Steffens won the first game by shutout relief hurling. He relieved Bud White in the second when Salisbury shoved over a run to tie the score and was tighter than a closed bank from then on.

Comellas, Cuban hurler, was relieved in the fifth when he strained his side. Walks to Grant, Clark, Johnson and Steffens and a wild pitch handed the Sox two runs. Walsh opened the sixth with a homer and Salisbury fell apart. Walks, hit batsman and errors eased over three more tallies.

The second contest was a stiff mound duel between Frank Mussel and Zukowski of Salisbury until the sixth. Williams started the scoring by singling Mussel home. Bell walked and Walsh lofted a ball out of the park to ruin Salisbury's playoff hopes.

Scores by innings:

		R	H	E
Red Sox	0 1 0 0 2 4 0—	7	3	1
Salisbury	0 1 0 0 0 0 0—	1	6	2

Batteries: Centreville — White, Steffens and Clark; Salisbury—Comellas, Bertrand, Nothe, Kreft and Weiss.

Salisbury	0 0 0 0 0 0 1 0—	1	9	3

Batteries: Centreville — Mussel, Brosnan and McDuffie; Salisbury—Zukowski and Barnes.

RED SOX 2 - FEDS 1

Taking advantage of miscues by the visitors' infield the Red Sox edged out Federalsburg 2-1 at Queen Anne's Park Saturday night in a close mound duel. The game was played in record time, the full nine innings racing through in an hour, 23 minutes.

Both Walker Cress, Sox moundsman and Knuckler Brown of the Feds had the hitters biting. High flies or soft grounders marked the tilt. General Grant tossed in the fielding gem when he snared a difficult grounder to his right for a natty forceout at second, a fast and brainy bit of fielding.

For five innings neither side dented the home plate. The Sox had a chance in the first when Freeman strolled and after two men went down Red Walsh also strolled and Grant's infield single filled the bags. Johnson's fly to center went up too high for safety and ended the threat.

For the Feds Valo tripled in the second, Rullo singled in the third, Kolberg in the fourth and Detwiler doubled in the fifth but Cress bore down each time and worked out of each threat.

Cress singled in the Sox second, Williams in the third, Grant and Johnson in order in the fourth but the needed hit never appeared.

The visitors broke through in the sixth. Rullo opened with a double. With two down he tallied on Kolberg's single.

Not until the eighth did the Sox get going. Then a bad throw on Williams' grounder put him on second. Bell whiffed. Walsh spun a slippery grounder to third and Phillips' hurried throw went to the bleachers, Williams carrying in the tieing run. Walsh took third as Grant grounded out. Then Jim Johnson stepped into a pitch and flailed it to the scoreboard for a triple, Walsh bringing in the winning run.

Score by innings:

Red Sox	0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 2 x—	2	7	0
Feds	0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0—	1	8	2

Batteries: Red Sox—Cress and McDuffie; Feds—Brown and Worthington.

RED SOX 10 - DOVER 4

Stacking up their sixth straight victory the Red Sox trampled Dover 10-4 at Queen Anne's park Sunday afternoon, thereby clinching a place in the playoffs.

Dover scrapped all the way but were checked successfully until the sixth when Donald Steffens bruised a hand stopping a rifled liner and lost his effectiveness. He was relieved by Brosnan when the Orioles began to connect in the eighth. Steffens had allowed but four hits in six innings and was found for four more in the next inning and a third.

The middle of the Sox lineup carried the artillery. Ding Dong Bell paced the attack with two homers and a pair of singles, drove in four runs and took the heart out of Dover. Walsh and Grant, the next batters, each picked off three hits and drove in two runs apiece.

Paul Gaulin opened for Dover with a homer. An error, walk and single admitted another Dover tally in the first.

The Sox got one back on Freeman's walk, steal and Bell's single. Grant also singled in the inning but was left.

Duncan opened the Sox second with a double only to be trapped at third on Steffens' grounder. Freeman followed with a basehit to right which was wasted.

The Sox pulled ahead to stay in the third. Bell went to bat with one eye closed by dust and hit the first pitch on a line over the right field wall. Walsh belted a double to the scoreboard and Grant scored him with another double to left. Johnson walked. After Duncan's sacrifice Clark walked to fill the bags. Steffens' bunt for a squeeze went to the pitcher and the rally was chilled.

Williams' walk, Bell's single to center, an infield out and Grant's basehit rolled up two tallies in the fourth to ice the game.

Another run came over in the sixth on William's basehit over second, his steal and Walsh's single past third.

The Sox added their final four runs in the seventh. Duncan walked, Clark drove a grounder up Gaulin's sleeve and made first before Paul could find the ball. Steffens attempting to sacrifice forced Duncan. Freeman forced Steffens with a grounder to second. Then Williams plunked a basehit through short to score two runs and Bell salted a homer over right field for two more. Walsh doubled and Grant walked. Johnson rolled out to short to end the Sox scoring.

Two singles, two walks and a sacrifice fly brought Dover's last runs in the eighth. Brosnan finished the game without much trouble.

Score by innings:

		R	H	E
Red Sox	1 0 2 2 0 1 4 0 x—	10	14	2
Dover	2 0 0 0 0 0 0 2 0—	4	9	2

Batteries: Centreville — Steffens, Brosnan and Clark; Dover—Vogel, G. Johnson, Clemence, Burt and Howell.

RED SOX 10 - FEDS 6

With Francis Red Walsh leading a concentrated batting attack the Red Sox defeated Federalsburg 10-6 at the latter's park Friday night in a long range hitter's duel punctuated by wildness on the part of the Feds' starting moundsman.

Walsh slugged out two homers, one with the bases loaded, and a single to drive six runs in and bring the Sox from behind into the winner's circle.

The Feds jumped on Walker Cress and Bud White in the third inning for five runs. Kolberg's homer with two on doing the greatest damage. White settled down then and stopped the Feds until Red Walsh could haul out the artillery.

Wildness by Wilson helped the Sox no end. He franked an even dozen men but Walsh's homer with the sacks crowded in the sixth and another round-tripper with a man aboard in the seventh actually pulled the fat from the fire. Ken Williams fired a valuable double in the sixth, easing in two mates.

The Sox outhit the Feds 11-8 with doubles by Williams, Bell and Duncan abetting Walsh's fence busting.

Score by innings:

		R	H	E
Red Sox	0 0 0 1 0 4 4 0 1—	10	11	3
Feds	0 0 5 0 0 0 0 1 0—	6	8	3

Batteries: Centreville — Cress, White and Clark; Feds—Wilson, Meusel and Worthington.

Winters, of Land's End Farm, and Mr. Ivan Paul Lindsay Cory, of Talbot Farm, Dorset, England, son of Mrs. Janet Crawford, of Cannes, France, were married by the Rev. Francis J. Fisher, pastor of Mother of Sorrows parish, in a quiet ceremony in the parish rectory Saturday morning.

The wedding was planned originally to be held in Buffalo on Saturday, September 9. Due to the European crisis the date was advanced. The groom is to be a commissioned officer in the British army and with complete mobilization of the British forces imminent, a change in plans for the wedding was necessary. Mr. Cory had arrived in America on a leave of absence but was subsequently advised by the British Consul at New York to be ready for immediate call.

Miss Constance Winters was maid of honor at the ceremony and Mr. Jerry Winters best man.

The bride wore flesh colored marquisette. Her veil, an heirloom in the groom's family, was brought from England. The maid of honor wore pale pink marquisette trimmed in deeper shades.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at Land's End Farm, Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Winter's home near Grasonville. A wedding trip to Bermuda originally planned was also postponed and the young couple left for New York Saturday afternoon.
