Holstein Sale To Be Held Friday

To Be Held November 3, At McDonogh, Md.

The eighth annual Maryland Holstein sale is to be held Friday, November 3, at 11:30 a. m., at McDonogh School, McDonogh, Md. A grand total of 65 animals have been consigned to this sale, consisting of 35 females and 30 bulls. Most of the bulls are out of cows with A. R. or Herd Test records; and from herds accredited for both T. B. and Bangs. Eighteen of them are old enough for service and all are of good type.

This is an excellent chance for the Holstein breeds of this county to secure a good herd sire or well-bred milk cows and heifers at very reasonable prices.

The Essex Farms, Riderwood, owned by John M .Dennis, jr., is selling 20 heifers from their herd in this sale, all in excellent condition, and from dams which average over 400 lbs. fat in herd test. This is a fine group of heifers and would be a fine start for any 4-H or F. F. A. boy or girl.

If there are any boys or girls interested in attending this sale get in contact with Chester M. Cissel, Assistant County Agent, and he will arrange means of transportation.

Mrs. E. H. Covell Inducts Staff

First Visit As District Vice-President

Mrs E. Hall Covell, vice-president of the North Eastern Shore District of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Maryland American Legion, inducted her first staff of new officers when she visited Elkton Wednesday night to install officers of the Woman's Auxiliary of Susquehanna Post. A banquet preceded the regular meeting.

Mrs. Covell was elected district vice-president at the annual convention of the Legion and the Auxiliary late in August and was installed in that post by Mrs. Bessie Mercer, retiring State Department President, in the War Memorial Building in Baltmiore.

One of the few women entitled to belong to the American Legion, Mrs. Covell has membership in Jeff Davis Post, and the Woman's Auxiliary. She was president of the Auxiliary to Jeff Davis Post, was co-chairman of the membership committee last year and was chairman of the Poppy sale committee this spring. She served as a nurse during the World War.

200 Prizes For Cox Hall Party

Few Guests Will Miss Being Winners

The question whether prizes will outnumber guests or guests prove more numerous than prizes available at the card party in Cox Hall in Sudlersville, tonight., Thursday, is one intriguing the committee in charge. Already approximately two hundred prizes have been donated by businessmen and others, men and women, interested in the cause.

The card party is being held for the benefit of the Aged Women's Home at Easton, particularly for the upkeep fund. Mrs. J. Percy Bittle, only Queen Anne's member of the Board of Managers is in charge of arrangements and is being assisted by a steadily augmenting volunteer committee of women.

All sorts of games will be played, even Chinese checkers. In addition to scoring prizes, door prizes will be awarded and refreshments provided. With the stack of prizes already rounded up it will require pretty erratic work to be out of the money at the event.

Dairymen To Hear About New Type Breeding

A meeting of interest to dairymen of Queen Anne's county and adjoining territory will be held in the auditorium at 2 o'clock when the topic of artificial insemination of dairy cattle will be discussed

The principle speaker will be Dr. Hoffman, State Veterinarian in New Jersey, with additional talks to be given by Dr. Mark Welsh, State Veterinarian of Maryland and by other breeders who have followed the introduction of the new type of breeding.

The meeting was arranged by Dr. James W. Crowl and Leon A. Andrus, of Cheston-On-Wye. All dairy farmers are invited to attend.

GRACE GLEANERS

The Grace Gleaners will be hostesses to their husbands at a Hallowe'en party to be held in the Sunday School room of Grace Church Monday evening Traditional Hallowe'en games, dunking for apples and what not, and traditional Hallowe'en refreshments will be provided.

County Soccer Club Loses 5-1 At Greensboro

Locals' Lone Goal First Scored Against League Champs This Year

The Queen Anne's soccer team journeyed to Greensboro Sunday to tackle Greensboro, champion outfit of last year, found the Greenies as strong as a year ago and went down 5-1 after a stiff battle. The lone Queen Anne's score marked the first time Greensboro's goal has been violated this season.

The game was tighter than the score indicates as Queen Anne's put up the stiffest competition the Greensboro club has faced so far. Queen Anne's opened the scoring early in the first quarter when a nicely centered ball was headed by Anthony to Henry Lewis and finally Chester Cissel who butted the ball through for the initial score.

The battle raged in Queen Anne's favor until late in the second quarter when Greensboro found the range of Queen Anne's goal and started pounding it. Two tallies sent the home ahead.

They held their lead in a stirring third quarter. In the final period Queen Anne's weakened and Greensboro pumped three goals through to settle the contest. The day was unusually windy and both sides tired toward the finish, Queen Anne's sagging first.

Good defensive play by Bruehl and Everett spoiled many a Greensboro offense. Greensboro showed its accustomed smooth game led by Sipple and Henderson. Riddleberger shot three goals for Greensboro and Sipple and Kibler one apiece.

Lineups:

Queen Anne's, 1	Pos.	Greensboro, 5
Massey	G	Roberts
Everett	RF	Smith
Bruehl	LF	Pierson

Poultry Show To Feature Shore Broiler Industry

Young Enterprise Mushrooming On Shore Overlooked At Fairs. Future Seen For Eggs, Chicks To Supply Stock. Rice To Judge Division

The recently introduced broiler industry which has mushroomed into a decidely important feature of Eastern Shore activity in recent years will get a heavy play at the Eastern Shore Poultry and Farm Products Show to be held at the First Regiment Aromry in Centreville on November 15, 16 and 17.

Heretofore broilers have been shunted out of the picture at poultry shows in Maryland as being a stepchild of the business of developing finer poultry poultry and better eggs. Consequently the creation of a broiler division among the chicken, turkey, baby chick and egg departments of the Eastern Shore Poultry Show marks an innovation which may develop into a regular feature at many fairs.

The Show committee under the leadership of General Chairman John P. Corcoran is taking cognizance both of the present development of the broiler industry and its future possibilities and has given broilers a sufficiently important place to indicate its importance to the general public.

Wicomico, Worcester and Caroline counties are already important centers of broiler production and marketing. At present much of the Shore industry depends upon baby chicks bought from hatcheries outside the State.

A leading broiler producer on the Shore stated at a meeting of the Show committee that he and other producers are ready to buy their baby chicks from Shore sources when eggs and hatcheries are prepared to supply them. Already Rhode Island Reds and Barred Plymouth Rocks, crossing of which produce the desired broiler stock, are coming in for increased notice among poultry raisers and flocks of excellent quality are being collected.

Harry H. Rieck of Preston, president of the Maryland Poultry Council and a large scale producer of broilers, will be superintendent of the Broiler division. Wade H. Rice, poultry specialist of the Extension Service and a leading figure in the field of poultry improvement, will judge the division.

Premium lists for the entire Poultry and Farm Products classes were issued last week. Responses have been unusually heartening to the Committee and the outlook for a superb show is bright. The Committee reports that cordial cooperation is being shown by poultrymen and agricultural leaders from the entire Show and that it is evident the Show is being anticipated as a bright feature of the November calendar.

The Show which is a non-profit enterprise and for which no admission is to be charged, will be divided into the main sections of Poultry and Farm Products. In addition a decorative scheme is planned with a display of Java Jungle Fowl, the type of bird from which domestic chickens were developed.

Colored Woman Shot, Killed At Kent Narrows

Hattie Waters, 40, Oyster Shucker, Is Victim. Bessie Brooks Held

Hattie Waters, 40-year-old colored oyster shucker at Kent Island Narrows, was shot and almost instantly killed in a packing house at the Narrows shortly before noon Wednesday. She died a few minutes after the shooting.

Bessie Brooks, 31 was arrested as the alleged wielder of the pistol. Her husband, Ira Brooks, was also held in connection with the death. The Brooks woman, who asserted she fired in self-defence, waited with her husband at their shanty for Sheriff Edward Earle Coursey to arrive.

The fatality was said to have been the outgrowth of an argument between the women on Monday when the Waters woman, who worked in another shucking house, entered the one where the Brooks woman was employed and in the course of her stay got into an altercation.

On Wednesday morning she is said to have entered the other shucking house again with an oyster fork. Bessie Brooks was working with her back turned. Other shuckers warned her and she turned in time to see the tines of the fork pointed at her. She is said to have fired at the other woman who staggered out and fell dead.
