NEW YORK MUST DO ITS SHARE

OTHERWISE GIANT LINER CANNOT DOCK THERE.

Secretary Stimson Informs Hamburg-American Directors That the Government Will Grant no Permit for the Extension of the Piers Until Mayor Gaynor's Promise Has Been Fulfilled.

Washington, January 30.—Secretary Stimson today declared that if no suitable dock arrangement were available when the giant steamship Imperator makes her maiden trip across the Atlantic and arrives in New York harbor May 14 next, the blame would rest entirely with the city authorities of New York. As far as he was concerned the Secretary was determined to grant no permit for the extension of the piers until the city had done its part, according to promise, to initiate the permanent harbor improvement project.

Julius Meyer, Carl Buenz and Albert Polis, directors of the Hamburg-American steamship line, were the persons who received this ultimatum from the Secretary. They called at the War Department to learn what action was to be taken upon their application to extend one or more of the piers on the Hoboken side of the Hudson River to accommodate the new ship.

Secretary Stimson called the attention of his visitors to the fact that two weeks ago Mayor Gaynor had promised to send him a resolution by the city government defining its policy in regard to the harbor lines, and definitely stating whether the city was prepared to locate and contract for the construction of the first of the new long piers in the Desbrosses street section. He had received no such notice, and he was determined that no more long piers should be built in the narrow portions of the Hudson. This decision applied not only to the New York city side of the river, but to the Jersey side, as it was evident that any obstruction on one side of the channel would affect the other unfavorably by narrowing the river. The steamship people returned to New York with the intention of stimulating the board of estimates into action on this proposition.

FLOOD VICTIMS DESTITUTE

Quartermaster Reports to War Department After Investigation.

Washington, January 30.—Considerable destitution and distress along the lower Ohio as a result of the floods are reported to the War Department by Capt. William Elliott, the quartermaster, who was dispatched to that section to initiate the relief work.

In a telegram from Evansville, Ind., received at the War Department today Captain Elliott states that the situation at Ashbyburg, Ky., is very bad. Four hundred people are destitute, located in vacant buildings and in camps on the high ground. There were two cases of smallpox among them, which had been isolated.

The entire country is under from six to 10 feet of water, for 15 miles around Ashbyburg. The people for the most part have lost their household goods, their winter provisions and forage for their stock. Captain Elliott has purchased 10 days' supply of provisions to relieve the distress and is about to buy forage for 350 head of stock.

He has advised the Adjutant General of Kentucky to leave all the tentage in the hands of the people, looking to the government for reimbursement, as it would be unsafe to return them to the state arsenal without fumigation. The officer left Evansville for Ashbyburg, Mount Vernon and Calhoun today to extend relief in that direction.

AFRAID TO ARREST HER

Warrants for Negro Servants Instead of Woman Higher Up.

Washington, January 30.—Mrs. John B. Henderson, one of the social arbiters of the capital and wife of a former senator, has pacified the local authorities by agreeing to plant a new tree in place of one she cut down in violation of an ordinance, and for which she was threatened with arrest. Mrs. Henderson set society by the ears the other night, when she held a lantern while two workmen chopped down the tree which obstructed the view of Sixteenth street—"the Avenue of Presidents" from her home, "Henderson Castle."

Today, after some reflection, the local authorities quashed a warrant they had issued for the society leader's arrest and prepared to prosecute the laborers who did the work under Mrs. Henderson's direction. To save the men from prosecution she proposed to replace the tree.

SWAT THE FLY CRUSADE

The Movement Has Extended to Faraway Finland.

Washington, January 30.—The "swat the fly" movement that swept the United States last year and which incidentally swept out of existence several millions of those disease-carriers, apparently is spreading throughout the world. Dr. Arthur L. Murray, health officer of the District of Columbia, who was active in directing the campaign against the fly here, has been in receipt of letters from the capitals of various countries asking for information and the best means of enlisting the aid of schoolchildren. One of these letters received was from Baroness Aletta Korff of Helsingfors, Finland, an American woman, who proposes to inaugurate the movement there.

NIAGARA FALLS POWER

House Committee Fails to Agree on a Bill.

Washington, January 30.—In a prolonged session today the House Foreign Affairs Committee failed to agree on a bill to restrict the use of power generated at Niagara Falls. The committee decided any legislation should prevent any diversion of water above that now diverted, which amounts to about 15,600 feet per second. It also agreed that the Secretary of War should be given the power to issue permits to companies to divert water for power purposes. The committee could not agree, however, on a provision proposing that companies at present diverting water be given the preference in the issue of permits. Deliberations will be continued tomorrow.

AN UNHAPPY ALLIANCE

Former Miss Constance Lee Sues Spanish Ambassador for Divorce.

Washington, January 30.—Mrs. Constance Lee De Pastor filed suit in the District Supreme Court here today for the annulment of her marriage to Louis De Pastor, ambassador of Spain to China and Siam. The De Pastors were married in Baltimore in 1906, when De Pastor was attache of the Spanish Legation in Washington and Constance Lee was a Virginia belle. De Pastor accepted service here today and the court ordered the papers sealed.

Oldest Odd Fellow Dies.

Washington, January 30.—Marine T. Krepps, 95 years old, who claimed to be the oldest Odd Fellow in the world, died here today of heart failure. He had been an Odd Fellow 73 years.

A great sale---with a double reason

Stock-taking is over! It is to be expected that the inventory sheets record lots of things---you can't conduct a big business like this without good-sized stocks. We must effect a thorough clearance to make room for incoming Spring goods; here you have one reason for the sale. The other is, "special purchases"---they're in order even at the end of a season---if important enough---and these surely are! All in all, Friday holds in store countless opportunities to save in really worth-while fashion. You can't afford to stay away.
