IN MEMORIAM.

BAILEY.—In sad but loving remembrance of our dear father, ALFRED J., who died five years ago today—February 2, 1908. BY HIS CHILDREN.

BROWN.—In sad remembrance of my dear husband, FRANK BROWN, departed this life four years ago—the 24 of February 1909.

How slender is life's tender cord, How soon 'tis broken here; Each moment brings a parting word And many a fallen tear. BY HIS WIFE, LOUISA BROWN.

BROWN.—In sad but loving remembrance of my beloved son, CHARLES E. BROWN, who departed this life one year ago—February 9, 1912.

Gone, but not forgotten. BY HIS BELOVED MOTHER.

BURMAN.—In sad but loving remembrance of my dear husband, LOUIS BURMAN, who died six months ago today—August 2, 1912.

Rest, sweetly rest, so prays thy wife; Thou hast won the victor's crown; Dearest, thou of all my treasures, Thou has laid thy burden down.

Never canst thou be forgotten, Thou shalt live within my heart; But will meet you ever yonder, Where no sorrow shall part.

By the beautiful gate he stands and waits, My dear husband from pain set free; I shall clasp his hands and feel his kiss When the hinges turn for me.

Think not, dear husband, that thou art forgotten, For by me thou shall never be; As long as breath and memory last My thoughts will be of thee. BY HIS WIFE.

DONAHOO.—In sad but loving remembrance of our dear husband and father, HENRY K. DONAHOO, who died one year ago—January 31st, 1912.

I once had a cheerful, happy home, And a devoted husband who stood by me; But now, since he is dead and gone, My home is not what it used to be. BY HIS LOVING WIFE.

Death has robbed us of our father, Whom we loved and cherished dear; It was father, yes, dear father; Can we help but shed a tear? BY HIS DAUGHTER, MAY, AND SON-IN-LAW, HARRY.

Dearest father, you will never be forgotten, Never shall your memory fade; Sweetest thoughts will ever linger Around the grave in which you are laid. BY HIS SON, WILLIAM.

Oh, our dearest, sweetest father, Since you have passed away It seems not that it is a year ago, But only yesterday. BY HIS STEPDAUGHTER, MRS. ANNIE MERSON. 1

ELLICK.—In sad but loving remembrance of our dear son and brother, HENRY ELLICK, who died one year ago—January 30, 1912.

Memory is grief's only friend. When the angels brought the message That my darling son should go, None but mothers who have lost one Can my grief and sorrow know. He sleeps, but was so young and fair; He slumbers sweet and knows no care; His heart was pure, his life was young; Yet not our will, but God's be done. BY HIS LOVING FATHER AND MOTHER.

Gone in the best of his days, Blighted in manhood's bloom, Torn from the hearts that loved him, To sleep in the silent tomb.

He did his best by every one, And everywhere true friendship won; But God in His wisdom, kind and just, Called our brother away from us. BY HIS SISTERS AND BROTHER.

Sleep on, dear Uncle Henry, And take your rest; We loved you, too, But God loved best. BY HIS NIECES AND NEPHEWS.

FICKE.—In sad but loving remembrance of DORA FICKE, who died January 31, 1911.

Sleep on, dear one, and take your rest, God took you home—He thought it best; It was hard, indeed, to part from thee, But God's strong arm supported me.

When they asked us if we miss her How it fills our heart with pain; But her voice is sweetly saying, "Courage, we shall meet again." BY HER LOVING HUSBAND.

GRAHAM.—In sad but loving remembrance of my son, WILLIAM R. GRAHAM, who departed this life two years ago—January 31, 1911.

Memory is grief's only friend. When the angels brought the message That my darling son should go, None but mothers who have lost one Can my grief and sorrow know.

In peace to rest, He slumbers sweet and knows no care; The parting was painful, But God knoweth best. BY HER HUSBAND AND CHILDREN.

HAYWARD.—In sad but loving remembrance of our dear mother, MARY F. HAYWARD, who departed this life three years ago today—February 24, 1910.

Dear mother, smile upon us from on high; Ask God to lead us when we die. That we may meet you up above Some sweet day by and by. BY HER CHILDREN.

HORN.—In sad but loving remembrance of my beloved mother, ELIZABETH HORN, who departed this life seventeen years ago today.

Loved in life; in death remembered. BY HER LOVING DAUGHTER, MRS. E. DANKS. 1

HUBBARD.—In loving remembrance of my dear mother, ELIZABETH HUBBARD, and my dear son, WILLIE STANLEY, who departed this life fifteen years ago—February 1, 1898.

I often sit and think of them When I am all alone; For memory is the only friend That grief can call its own.

I will cling to the hope to meet them again When my task here on earth is o'er; For they are not gone forever I know, Just a little while before. FLORENCE STANLEY.

KING.—In loving remembrance of our dear son and brother, JAMES KING, who departed this life three years ago today—February 2, 1910.

Oh, the sorrow of the morning As I stood with aching heart, Seeing the one I loved so dearly Pierced by death's most evil dart.

A tear within a mother's eye, A mother's breaking heart, Can only tell the agony Of how hard it is to part. BY HIS PARENTS.

Gone in the best of his days, Blighted in manhood's bloom, Gone from the hearts that loved him, To sleep in the silent tomb.

Oh, God, how mysterious are How strange are thy ways, To take from me my brother In the best of his days. BY HIS BROTHER

McCANN.—In sad but loving remembrance of our dear father and husband, JOSEPH ALBERT McCANN, who died two years ago today—February 2d, 1911.

Into sweet rest he has entered, No more to suffer and weep; He is smiling on us from Heaven— Dear father and husband has fallen asleep. BY HIS LOVING WIFE, ANNIE J. McCANN, AND CHILDREN, MARY, ELLEN, JOSEPHINE, JOSEPH AND ROBERT. 1

MILLER.—In loving remembrance of my dear husband and son, CHARLES F. MILLER, who departed this life one year ago—January 30, 1912.

Loved in life; in death remembered. One year ago I laid him Where the flowers gently wave, My best friend, my dear husband, In his lonely, silent grave.

Sleep on, dear husband, and take your rest; God took you home—He thought it best; He saw your suffering, here so great, And He opened wide His golden gate. BY HIS LOVING WIFE, ROSE MILLER.

He sleeps, but was so young and fair; He slumbers sweet and knows no care; His heart was pure, his life was young, Yet not our will, but God's be done. 1 BY HIS FATHER, JOHN MILLER.

MILLER.—In sad but loving remembrance of my dear brother, CHARLES MILLER, who departed this life one year ago—January 30, 1912.

Our brother is sleeping, so free from all pain; Oh, wake him not, sweet spirit, to suffer again; He slumbers so soundly, oh, let him sleep on; His sickness is ended, his trouble all gone. Oh, think how he suffered and moaned with pain The long night hours as we soothed him, in vain, Till God in His mercy, sent down from above An angel that whispered a message of love. 1 BY HIS SISTER, MAGGIE BISHOP.

IN MEMORIAM.

MOESLEIN.—In loving remembrance of our dear son, JOHN ROTH MOESLEIN, who entered into rest three years ago—February 4th, 1910.

He died so young, and yet Of all that vanished hence, Is none to lingering regret, So lost as innocence. 1 BY HIS PARENTS.
