VICTIM OF MOCK MARRIAGE

Charge Against Son of a Wealthy Porto Rican Planter.

Bureau of The Baltimore American, 1410 Pennsylvania Avenue, Washington, February 4.

The Washington police were notified today of the arrest in Atlanta of Castro Rivera, son of a wealthy sugar planter of Ensenada, Porto Rico, and a former medical student at the George Washington University, here, on a charge preferred by Miss Mary Easterday, of this city, who for nearly four years believed that she was Rivera's wife. A warrant was sworn out here charging Rivera with nonsupport and then it developed that the couple had probably never been married. The Baltimore police authorities will probably look into this matter, as the girl says that she was married to Rivera in Baltimore while he was a student in a medical school in Baltimore, but now believes that the marriage was a mock one and that a friend of Rivera's performed the alleged ceremony. The District Attorney's office here has made an investigation and can find no record in Baltimore of a marriage between Rivera and Miss Easterday. Detectives have been sent to Atlanta to bring Rivera back to this city, and when he is given a hearing either in the police court or the Juvenile Court it is expected that it will develop whether the couple were actually married in Baltimore or whether the girl was tricked into a fake marriage.

PREACHER IN A MARATHON

Preaches Twenty-one Sermons in Twenty-one Consecutive Hours.

Special Dispatch to The American.

New York, February 4.—The Rev. Dr. William Hamilton, pastor of the South Third Street Methodist Church, Williamsburg, rested today after having preached 21 sermons in 21 consecutive hours, beginning at midnight Saturday and ending at 9 o'clock Sunday night. Each sermon was from a different text and each required from 40 to 45 minutes for delivery.

The voice of Dr. Hamilton was a bit hoarse today, but he said it would be fit by next Sunday and he would express to his congregation his appreciation of a gain of 62 members of his church by reason of his long-distance discourses.

The largest attendance during the services, about 400 persons, was Sunday evening, and the smallest at 4 o'clock Sunday morning.

A BLAZE IN THE MAIL

London Post Collector Burned by Suffragettes' Outrage.

London, February 4.—When a mail collector was emptying a mail box in the business section tonight the contents burst into flames just as he was about to place them in his leather pouch. The mail matter was entirely destroyed and the mail man's hands were slightly scorched. The outrage is laid to the door of the militant suffragettes.

Three suffragettes, armed with buckets of paste and big brushes, plastered the facade of Marlboro Street Police Station with "votes for women" placards and woman's social and political union proclamations today, and then permitted themselves to be arrested.

In Bow Street Police Court they refused to give their names, and the choice was given them of a fine of $5 each or a week in jail. They chose imprisonment.

THIS BATHTUB HOMELESS

Relic of Battleship Maine Refused by Two Cities.

Special Dispatch to The American.

St. Joseph, Mo., February 4.—The City Council today refused to appropriate money for bringing Admiral Sigsbee's bathtub, relic of the battleship Maine, from Urbana, O., to St. Joseph. Several weeks ago the Navy Department at Washington announced that the bathtub, which had been rejected by Urbana, would be presented to the first city making application.

Mayor Pfeiffer immediately asked that the tub be awarded to St. Joseph and was advised that St. Joseph should receive it. But when the Mayor asked the Council to provide funds for bringing the bathtub to St. Joseph, it refused on grounds that his action already had brought the city into considerable notoriety.

TO CAPSIZE AEROPLANES

An Apparatus That Will Put Them Out of Use in War.

Paris, February 4.—An apparatus has been devised, which, if all that is claimed for it is substantiated, may have an important bearing on the aeroplane as an engine of war.

General Hirschauer, of the flying corps, has received a communication from the inventor of the apparatus, Dr. Cousin, a scientist, who has recently been experimenting on this device with Jules Vedrines, the aviator. He informs General Hirschauer that the apparatus, which is small and simple, and can be carried in a soldier's knapsack, by provoking disturbances of the air will cause any type of aeroplane to capsize, even if it has ascended to a height of more than 9,000 feet.

TURKS ONLY FEEBLY REPLY

Allies Still Hammering Adrianople

BLAZE AT TCHATALJA

Bulgarians Reported Retiring From Burning Town.

PROBABLE STRATEGIC MOVE

Turkish Officials Insist That the Adrianople Fortress Can Hold Out for at Least Three Weeks—Reports That Some Sections of the Holy City Are in Flames—Turkish Commander Still Has 40,000 Men to Man the Forts — Allies Have a Vast Army in Front of Tchatalja Lines.

THE OPPOSING FORCES.

The Bulgarians have 550,000 men in the province of Thrace, with 45,000 Servians and a few divisions of Greeks.

The greater portion of the combined allied forces remain in front of Tchatalja and at Gallipoli to hold the Turkish armies concentrated at those places.

Should the allies clear Gallipoli of Turkish troops and attack the Dardanelles straits, they will give free passage to the Greek fleet.

The big powers are taking no further steps to have peace negotiations resumed and will likely hold off now until the fate of Adrianople is settled.

British and German warships passed through the Dardanelles for the protection of the foreign residents of Constantinople and a fleet of warships belonging to other powers is anchored in Besika Bay ready for any emergency.

London, February 4.—The Turks remain on the defensive at Tchatalja and Adrianople. The Adrianople fortress replies only feebly to the Bulgarian's terrific bombardment, and apparently no attempt has been made in the way of a sortie. It is reported that portions of Adrianople are in flames.

The Turkish newspaper Tanin asserts that Adrianople has sufficient provisions for four months, and other Turkish reports declare that the fortress certainly will be able to hold out for several weeks.

Official quarters in Constantinople breathe a spirit of great confidence in the new regime, and declare that the condition of the country and the wintry weather precludes serious operations along Tchatalja lines for the present.

DIPLOMACY HALTED.

Meanwhile, diplomacy has made no step forward since the resumption of hostilities, and the Porte has made no further communication either to the Powers or the allies. Should it turn out that Adrianople can resist for any considerable time, diplomatic negotiations are likely to remain at a standstill, although in the European capitals a settlement by diplomacy rather than by arms is still hoped for.

There is no confirmation of the reported occupation of Scutari by the Montenegrins.

Shukri Pasha, the Turkish commander, who is defending Adrianople, is one of the most determined officers of the Ottoman Army. He has declared that he will not surrender the fortress until the last of his soldiers has been killed.

While there have been some desertions from the ranks of the garrison, these have been chiefly Christian soldiers serving with Turkish regiments. Shukri Pasha still has some 40,000 men, a number which is considered quite sufficient to man the forts and hold at bay the much greater besieging force.

The Bulgarians are said to have 550,000 men in the province of Thrace, with 45,000 Servian soldiers and perhaps a few divisions of Greeks assisting them. The greater part of this force, however, is compelled to remain in front of Tchatalja and at Gallipoli in order to hold the Turkish armies concentrated at those places.

WOULD OPEN THE WAY.

It is possible that the allies may attack one or both of these positions. If they could clear Gallipoli of Turkish troops and attack the Dardanelles Straits this would give free passage to the Greek fleet, which would then be able to render some assistance at Tchatalja. On the other hand, the winter season is so unfavorable for offensive operations that the allies may decide to let the Turks make the first move from Tchatalja.

The Ottoman army at Tchatalja has greatly improved during the armistice. The soldiers are better armed than they were, sickness among them has diminished, supplies have been brought up in great quantities and fresh troops now man the string of powerful forts. All was quiet along the Tchatalja lines up to a late hour this morning.

The great drawbacks to the success of the Turks are the political quarrels among the Ottoman officers, which must tend to undermine the efficiency of the army.

TO DRAW TURKS OUT

A Strategical Movement in Vicinity of Tchatalja.

Constantinople, February 4.—The Bulgarians, according to reports received tonight, are retiring from the burning village of Tchatalja, especially on the left wing. This is regarded as a strategical movement, possibly with the idea of drawing the Turks into the offensive.

The belief is held among military experts here that no serious operations are to be expected at Tchatalja for the present. The condition of the southern portion of the zone between the lines of the belligerents is such as to render the movement of men impossible. It is little better than a morass. Only on the higher ground in the northern region can the armies come into contact, and it seems improbable that either side will indulge in an attack in force.

It is supposed that the Bulgarians de-

THE SIXTEENTH AMENDMENT

Proclamation to Be Issued as Soon as Formal Notice Is Received.

Special Dispatch to The American.

Washington, D. C., February 4.—The proclamation making the income tax amendment a portion of the Constitution will be issued by President Taft and promulgated by Secretary of State Knox within a fortnight, according to information available at the White House tonight.

As soon as the official ratifications of West Virginia, Delaware, Wyoming and New Mexico—all of which are en route to Washington—reach the State Department, Secretary Knox will issue the proper proclamation, which will be signed by the President, and the sixteenth amendment will be added to the Constitution. Telegrams informing the department of the ratification of the income tax measure by the four states in question were received here today, and it is expected that the papers themselves will arrive within the week. Secretary Knox today expressed his pleasure at the widespread approbation which the income tax amendment has received, and promised to do everything possible to expedite the last steps.

NEW JERSEY RATHER SLOW

State Senate Finally Ratifies Income Tax Amendment.

Trenton, N. J., February 4.—The New Jersey Senate today, by a vote of 12 to 9, ratified the amendment to the Constitution of the United States authorizing Congress to impose an income tax. The House had previously ratified the amendment.

The vote in the Senate was a party vote, except that President Fielder (Democrat) voted against the ratification and Senator Nichols (Republican) voted in the affirmative.

DAZZLING BAL MASQUE

Many Baltimoreans at a Brilliant Philadelphia Function.

Special Dispatch to The American.

Philadelphia, February 4.—Characters of the Orient mingled and pirouetted with beings of the Occident, forming an animated scene of dazzling splendor at the famous bal masque at Horticultural Hall tonight.

Turkish, Chinese, and Japanese costumes added beauty to the scene of gliding men and women whose attire more than rivaled the colors of the rainbow.

Society folk from New York, Baltimore and Washington were among those who attired themselves in fantastic garb. Those present from Baltimore included Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Miles Cary, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin P. Baugh, Jr., Dr. and Mrs. Clement A. Penrose, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Playford, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Shriver, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Van Ness, Mr. and Mrs. Horatio Whitridge, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Perrin, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. A PROGRESSIVE CHURCH

To Have Classes in Eugenics, and Dancing, Pool Tables, Etc.

Special Dispatch to The American.

New York, February 4.—Classes in eugenics for the young men and women, with prominent physicians as instructors, weekly dancing classes, billiard and pool tables, and bowling alleys are to be a prominent part of the equipment of the Flatbush Congregational Church, according to a progressive program outlined by the pastor, Rev. Lewis T. Reed, and adopted at a meeting of about 250 members of the church.

There was some surprise and considerable opposition manifested by the more conservative members, but the progressives were too strong and they carried their point in upholding the pastor in his advanced ideas.

CHURCH SOLD AT AUCTION

Philadelphia Edifice Put Up to Satisfy Former Pastor's Salary.

Special Dispatch to The American.

Philadelphia, February 4.—The Union Presbyterian Church in West Philadelphia was sold at sheriff's sale yesterday to satisfy a judgment obtained by Rev. Alexander Waddell, a former pastor, for back salary amounting to $6,800. The property, after lively bidding, was sold for $7,950, subject to mortgages amounting to $11,600. The purchaser, whose name was not disclosed by his attorney, is said to be a member of the church, who will arrange for the congregation to continue in possession. The edifice was erected five years ago at an expenditure of $31,000.

AFFIANCED AT BIRTH

Girl and Boy, Five Days Old, Already Engaged to Marry.

Special Dispatch to The American.

East St. Louis, Ill., February 4.—Miss Clara Carter Mallett and Mallett Carter, born in the same flat here last Thursday, are engaged to marry. The children are each five days old, and the wedding is scheduled to take pace many years hence.

It seemed so remarkable to the parents of the children that the stork should visit both homes within four hours, that they agreed to bring up the children in the knowledge that they were engaged to each other.

A FREAK BILL

Legislator Would Prohibit Women's Dresses Buttoned Up Back.

Special Dispatch to The American.

Jefferson City, Mo., February 4.—Representative Hay, of Butler county, introduced in the legislature today a bill prohibiting women from wearing dresses that button up the back unless the buttons be as large as a dollar. The bill provides for a fine of $1 to $3 with a jail sentence for persistent offenders.

Wild Geese Fly North.

Special Dispatch to The American.

Newport News, Va., February 4.—Wild geese flying northward, frogs croaking in ponds, fruit trees in blossom and green fields lead the oldest lay weather prophets in Southern Virginia to predict that winter really is over, despite the present cold snap over the Atlantic States.

Set the Cabinet Sneezing.

London, February 5.—The Express says that the whole cabinet was set sneezing yesterday by the simultaneous receipt by each minister at the House of Commons of suffragette letters containing red pepper.

SHOCK IS GIVEN FREDERICK BEACH

Case Against Him More Serious Than He Thought.

A FIGHT TO THE BITTER END

EVIDENCE ADDUCED IS ONLY CIRCUMSTANTIAL.

Defense Uncovers Trail of Man to Prove It Was a Negro Who Assaulted Mrs. Beach—Four Witnesses Tell of Screams on Night of Crime and Later Hearing Loud Knocks and a Man Cry Out: "It Is Beach; Let Me in"—Sheriff and Counsel in Tilt.

Special Dispatch to The American.

Aiken, S. C., February 4.—Frederick O. Beach, society man and exquisite, realized with a shock today the deadly seriousness of the case which the State of South Carolina has built up against him on the charge of murderous assault upon his wife. The case, which was to have been laughed out of court, must be fought in bitter earnestness to the end.

From the group of mysterious circumstances surrounding the brutal assault upon pretty Mrs. Beach on the night of February 26 last City Solicitor Gunter has massed an array of circumstantial facts which have carried many a man to jail. And the state is not yet through. A trial which was to have been swept clear of the docket at a single session has gone over to another day, with the prosecution still at work piling up detail for the consideration of the jury.

A hint of the nature of the defense came today during cross-examination of one of the prosecution's strongest witnesses when Judge Henderson, chief of the Beach legal forces, uncovered the broken trail of a heavy-booted man leading irregularly from the scene of the assault through a main-traveled street down to the railroad cut, 300 yards back of the Beach cottage, where it was lost in the cinder-strewn roadbed. The man who made these tracks, it was said by the defense, was the negro who struck Mrs. Beach down.

A WEIRD NOTE.

But meanwhile, to reach that point before the jury, the defense is called upon to travel through a maze and tangle of circumstances in which Frederick O. Beach was a constant participant.

Meanwhile, at the very opening of the

WORLD'S NEWS IN BRIEF

WASHINGTON.

The President and Mrs. Taft were hosts last night to the Army and Navy at a reception which marked the climax of the Taft social regime in the White House.

A bulletin of the Bureau of Education states that education, especially in the rural schools, is usually in the hands of unskilled instructors.

A delegation of Salisbury business men called on Congressman Carrington to urge the claims of that city for a public building.

Washington women workers objected before Senate Labor Committee to La Follette eight-hour bill for women workers.

Representative Clayton introduced a bill to authorize certain national banks to loan money on real estate security.

A delegation of suffragists called on President Taft to ask for a military guard for their big parade.

President Taft signed the bill incorporating the National Institute of Arts and Letters.

Democratic senators again prevented action on presidential nominations.

President Taft signed the Loan Shark Bill.

COUNTRY AT LARGE.

With the examination of eight witnesses at Aiken, S. C., the prosecution practically finished the construction of its circumstantial case against Frederick O. Beach, of New York, charged with attacking his wife.

The body of S. Homer Everett, the young society, club and business man of Cleveland, O., who mysteriously disappeared Saturday night, was found on the lake shore in Lakewood, at the foot of a high cliff.

A jury was secured at Detroit, Mich., to hear the evidence at the retrial of the government's criminal suit against the so-called bathtub trust, charged with conspiracy in restraint of trade.

Announcement was made of the postponement of the third annual meeting of the National Drainage Congress at St. Louis, Mo., from February 26 to 28 to May 1, 2 and 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Finley H. Shepard, the latter formerly Miss Helen M. Gould, sailed from New York for Bremen and Egypt for the rest of their honeymoon.

The initiative and referendum constitutional amendment was defeated in the Kansas State Senate. The measure was passed last week by the House.
