FARMERS' DEPARTMENT.

"He who by the plow would thrive,
Himself must either hold or drive."

FARMER'S WIVES.

The farmer's wife has plenty of hard work to do. We all know that. She cannot fold her soft white hands, and sit in her elegant parlor and await a stream of fashionable callers. No! Farm life means work—hard, rough, continuous work. It means something else, too.—Let us see.

First of all, the farmer's wife lives much in the companionship of her husband. She has him, body and soul. To her he can bring all his vexations and cares. She can understand them all—can sympathize with all. The day's work done, how sweet the twilight hour, the evening converse! There is time for interchange of thoughts and feelings. Husband and wife are partners in all business relations, and can fully understand each other's cares, trials, and perplexities.

Very different is the course of the merchant or the professional man. There is no partnership here. Day by day the husband enters the lists in the keen competitions of business, anxious to gain wealth or honor that he may thereby gain friends. He only cares for the money, so that his wife may spend it. She does not understand his business—cannot understand it. So their paths in life diverge. They have few interests in common.—The beautiful dreams of "united hearts and hopes" which maidenhood revels in are forever unfulfilled, and the married pair go on in separate paths to the end of their journey.

The farmer's wife has also the companionship of her children. In the farmhouse there is plenty of elbow room for the little ones in their mother's presence. They can go with her wherever she goes; she can always listen to their prattle, can direct their first efforts at thinking and doing. No "kindergarten" ever invented presents so good a school for the little ones as is afforded in the farmer's home. Could some hard working farmer's wife, who is discouraged at the difficulties of her post, once step into these city palaces, and see how utterly impossible it is there to afford children the devolpment, physicial and moral, they ought to have, she might be reconciled to her lot of seeming hardship.

Lastly, the farmer's wife is sure of the future. The house she has labored so hard to beautify and render comfortable may, in almost every ease, be hers till she removes to the better land. No fear of a turn in business, or an adverse wind of popular disfavor, which shall in a moment reduce her to penury. No! the small accumulations are, in all human probability, never to be suspended. The quiet little stream will continue its course, not like a "summer fountain dried when our need is sorest," but, fed by springs that Heaven opened up when the foundations were laid for the solid earth, when seed-time and harvest were ordained—it will grow deeper and broader till lost in the boundless ocean. Think of these things, my good lady, and don't complain of the toil, the dust, and the roughness of your rural life.—Western Rural.

Don't Sell the Calves.

Too many farmers are tempted into selling their calves and young stock when some butcher or dealer comes along and offers them a fair price.

This is poor economy. Farmers should remember that all animals used for food, and raised upon the farm, should be regarded simply in the light of machines for converting grain and grass into money. This is one of the fundamental principles of good farming.

Every farm needs just as many of these machines as it can possibly support; and there is scarcely a limit to the amount of stock an industrious, goahead, pushing farmer can keep upon a quarter section of land in Kansas, especially in those portions (and they are by no means few) where the range is almost unlimited.

The farmer should resist all fancy prices for his calves, build up a herd, start the mowing machines early and keep it moving late. Save your corn fodder and straw, and raise more vegetables. Economy in saving feed will enable you to raise and keep more stock; and if there is profit in ten calves, there is more in fifty.

To a less extent the same is true of hogs; but it is easier to overstock a farm with hogs than with cattle or sheep.

The Cow's Intelligence.

That cows have memory, language, signs, and the means of enjoying the pleasant association combining for aggressive purposes, have been recognized, but scarcely to the extent the subject merits. Traveling in Italy, many years ago, we visited some of the large dairy farms in the neighborhood of Ferara. Interspersed among much of the low lying, unhealthy land, remarkable for the prevalence on it of every fatal form of anthrax in the summer season, are fine undulating pasture lands, and the fields are of great extent. We happened to stop at a farm house one fine autumn afternoon when the cows were about to be milked. A herd of over one hundred was grazing homeward.

The women took their positions with stool and pail close to the house, and as the cows approached, names were called out which, at first, we thought, were addressed to the milk maids. Rosa, Florenza, Giulia, Spesa, and many names, which were noted by us at the time, were called out by the overseer or one of the women, and we were astonished to see cow after cow cease feeding or chewing the cud and make direct, sometimes at a trot, for the woman that usually milked her.

The practice, we found, was not confined to one farm; all the cows on each farm knew their respective names, and took up their position, just as readily as the individual members of some large herds in this country turn in from the fields to take up their places in the sheds. —London Milk Journal.

Boys that ride horses to plough are advised by the Maine Farmer to remember that a horse does nearly all the stepping, when he turns, with the fore foot. He makes use of the hind feet chiefly as a pivot. Now just take care of his fore feet, keep them away from the hills, and pay no attention to his hind feet, and you will succeed nicely.

ECHO.—Of what has Heaven given us an equal share? Air.
What does rumor often do when it flies? Lies.
Which is the loveliest flower that grows? Rose.
Whose children are we apt to think the sweetest flowers? Ours.
What in manner is sure to please?—Ease.
What will frequently overcome the most austere? Tear.
What looses its flavor when we borrow it? Wit.
What is it that wealth seldom extinguishes? Wishes.
What traits are difficult to exterminate? Innate.
What enabled Newton the law of the universe to grapple? Apple.

Experiments.

Let every farmer try some experiment on his farm this season, and carefully report its results to some agricultural publication, for the benefit of his brother farmers. If each one will thus add what he can to the general stock of information, great good must result. One carefully conducted experiment, though not conclusive, is of more value than a large amount of theorizing. If you are in doubt of the value of subsoiling, try it on small portions of several different fields, and note the results.

If hauling muck on to your sandy lands, or sand into your clays, look like too much work for the gain likely to be made, try it on a small scale this year and see. If you have not saved your liquid manure, get out a good pile of muck or loam, use it in your stables, and try its value on your corn land or meadow.

If you have not been in the habit of raising roots for your stock, try a quarter of an acre this year, and satisfy yourself whether your course is the best one or no. If you have had no green fodder heretofore to carry your milch cows through the dry season, by all means try it this year.

Every farmer should attempt to make some improvement in his farming every season, and there is no way so satisfactory as that of trying experiments, one at a time.

HAY-CAPS will cost fifteen cents each. One hundred will cover and secure from rain fifteen tons of hay at once, at a cost of fifteen dollars. It is thus seen that they may pay for themselves in one season, while with care they will last a lifetime. A square yard of cotton sheeting is the thing, the torn edges hemmed, and a small, round hole, worked like a buttonhole, in each corner; a pin, or long skewer, thrust through each hold into the haycock will secure it.

A SUCCESSFUL POTATO GROWER in Maine recommends the following mixture to be applied in the hill, at the rate of about one-third of a gill each: a cask of lime slacked with water in which has been dissolved half a bushel of salt. To this add an equal quantity of ashes and a bushel of plaster. Mix thoroughly. This will make about five barrels, and will be sufficient for an acre.

THE CHERRY TREE.—An amateur fruit raiser has become so disgusted with his non-success that he thus gives vent to his disappointment and indignation: "I have no more admiration to waste on the father of George Washington for forgiving the destruction of his cherry tree.—A cherry tree is only a curculio nursery, and the day my George Washington is six years old I'll give him a hatchet and tell him to down with every cherry tree on the place."

Clear and Harmless as Water!
NATTANS' CRYSTAL DISCOVERY
FOR THE HAIR!
A PERFECTLY clear preparation in one bottle, as easily applied as water, for restoring to gray hair its natural color and youthful appearance, to eradicate and prevent dandruff, to promote the growth of the hair and stop its falling. It is perfectly harmless and entirely free from any poisonous substance and will therefore take the place of all the dirty and unpleasant preparations now in use. In everything in which the articles now in use are objectionable, CRYSTAL DISCOVERY is perfect. It is warranted to contain neither Sugar of Lead, Sulphur, Litharge, or Nitrate of Silver. Bear this in mind when you want anything for your hair.
Clear and clean as water, it does not soil the scalp or clothes, is agreeably perfumed, and makes one of the best dressings for the hair in use. It restores the color of the hair more perfect and uniformly than any other preparation, and always does so in from 3 to 10 days. Virtually feeding the roots of the hair with all the nourishing qualities necessary to its growth and healthy condition, it restores the decayed and induces a new growth of the hair more positively than anything else. The application of this wonderful discovery also produces a pleasant and cooling effect on the scalp and gives the hair a glossy appearance.
We call especial attention to the fact that a limited number of trial bottles will be given away gratuitously to those desiring to try it. You will notice that in pursuing this course our aim is to convince by the actual merits of the article. ARTHUR NATTANS, Inventor and Proprietor, Washington, D. C., to whom all orders must be addressed.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 5, 1870.
Mr. Arthur Nattans:
Dear Sir—I do not hesitate to say that your Crystal Discovery deserves to supercede all other preparations claiming to restore the growth and color of the hair. I have used it a week now, and my hair has already returned to its natural color, and has ceased falling almost entirely. I cheerfully recommend it.
Respectfully,
MRS. ANNIE MORRAIN.

A NEW ERA IN BELTING.
PAGE'S PATENT Tanned Leather Belt.
Tanned in Oil and by the same process as Lace Leather, by PAGE BROS., inventors and manufacturers of the celebrated Page's Lace Leather.
These Belts are perfectly soft, and hug the pulley like pure rubber, thus giving 25 per ct. more driving power than any other belt.
They also have eighty per ct. more strength than the best oak-tanned belts.
They have been placed on pullies running 9,000 turns per minute, and in places where all other belts have failed, have given entire satisfaction, outwearing every other belt 50 per ct.
The fact that they are driving out of the market in the East, very fast, the other kinds of belt, is sufficient testimony.
All the large Eastern Factories now use them.
The following are a few of the many testimonials we have received:
Messrs. Charles E. Inloes & Co.:
GENTS:—We have been using Page's Patent Belt in our factories for over a year, and believe it to be the best and cheapest belt made. Best, because it is stronger and more durable than oak-tanned; and cheapest, because its adhesive qualities give it so much more driving power. Very respectfully,
R. H. THOMPSON,
Sup't Union Mfg. Co. of Maryland, Ellicott's Mills.
Messrs. Charles E. Inloes & Co.:
GENTS:—The fourteen-inch Page's Patent Belt, bought from you, has been in daily use ever since, and gives perfect satisfaction, and you are at liberty to use our name in endorsing the qualities you claim for it, in every respect, as we believe it to be the best Belt made, and shall adopt it altogether in our mills. Very truly,
W. W. TUNIS & BRO.,
Oakland Steam Saw Mills, Talbot Co., Maryland.
The following are a few of the parties now using it in Baltimore:

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.
Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.
Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.
Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.
Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.
Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.
So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,
For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.
As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.
Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.
For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.
For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.
Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world.
PRICE, $1.00 PER BOTTLE.

COUGHS, SORE THROAT, ETC.
No Medicine or Treatment can excel the Powerful Curative Power of
DR. SIMMS' WHITE PULMONIC BALSAM.
It cures with a rapidity unequalled by any other remedy offered for Throat and Lung diseases. It is recommended by over 2,000 persons in Wilmington, and hundreds in Philadelphia, Baltimore and other cities and communities throughout the country. Mr. Pennington, of Wilmington, Illinois, writes that there is not (with a few exceptions) a family in that city who will be without it if possible to procure it. Such is its popularity wherever it is known—and this popularity arises rom. the fact that it universally cures all who use it. There is no case of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, Blood Spitting, Hoarseness, and even Pulmonary Consumption, where the system is not broken down with the wear of the disease, or pretended medicine, or inexperienced advice, that this Balsam will not cure if carefully used, according to directions. We guarantee it all we represent it to be, and invite a trial from the afflicted everywhere. Price, 50 cents, medium size, and $1 for large size bottles. Prepared only by
