HANNOVER SAILS THIS MORNING

WILL CARRY EIGHT ALIENS BACK TO BREMEN.

OTHER PASSENGERS ABOARD

North German Lloyd Liner Has Finished Loading and All Passengers Are Aboard, Ready to Leave Early—Dense Fog Delays Shipping in River and Bay—Ships Proceed Cautiously in Order to Prevent Collisions.

The North German Lloyd steamship Hannover, commanded by Capt. R. T. Troitsch, is scheduled to sail from its Locust Point pier early this morning, bound for Bremen. Booked for the voyage are five cabin and 30 steerage passengers, who boarded the steamship yesterday afternoon, so that no delay would be experienced in the steamship's departure. The cabin passengers are: Philip Mauro, Miss Louise Mauro, of this city; Frank Abt, of Cincinnati; Fritz Nussbaum, of San Francisco, and Mrs. Caroline Schwaiger, of Cedarville.

In addition to the regular passengers, there are eight aliens being deported by Commissioner of Immigration Stump who did not measure up to the requirements of Uncle Sam's immigration laws. Four of the aliens arrived at this port—three on the steamship Main and one on the Hannover. Two are being returned as contract laborers, one with a disease of the eyes and one certified by the immigration surgeon as being physically defective. The other four were brought here from Philadelphia to be returned on the Hannover.

Dense Fog Delays Shipping.

A dense fog which settled over the Chesapeake Bay and Patapsco River yesterday morning caused great inconvenience to the deep-sea craft. The British steamship Dalton Hall, with general cargo from Leith and Middlesboro, and the American steamship Fieda, with cargo of sulphur from Sabine, Tex., reached port safely after being delayed in the Bay 36 hours.

The Dutch tank steamship Energie, from Tuxpan, Mexico, which passed in the Virginia Capes Friday, and which was due yesterday morning, is held up somewhere in the Bay by the dense curtain of mist. While a number of steamships were cleared at the Custom-house, their departure was delayed until a favorable change in the weather.

The mist which settled over the river was eccentric. At times it would lift sufficiently to see a considerable distance down the river, only to shut in again a half hour later. The fog was low, hovering about 20 feet above the water. Local Bay craft were obliged to proceed slowly on account of the danger of collision. In some instances only the funnels and the tops of the pilot-houses could be distinguished over the top of the fog. The hulls of sailing craft were completely hidden from view, while the masts and sails above the mist presented an odd appearance.

Light Vessel Change.

A circular notice issued by the Commissioner of Lighthouses at Washington, D. C., calls the attention of mariners to a postponement in the change affecting the light on Winter Quarter Shoal light vessel No. 91. The notice announces that the intended change in the light on this is postponed from May 1 to July 1, after which the light vessel will show a double white flash.

The position of the light vessel is off the Virginia seacoast, in latitude 37:55:25 north and longitude 74:56:22 west.

Bluejackets for the Navy.

Lieutenant P. E. Dampman, who is in charge of the United States Navy Recruiting Office in this city, reports 37 applicants for service for the week ended yesterday. Eleven passed the examination, but two failed to enlist. Those enlisted are:

Ira Henry Ormond, Goldsboro, N. C.; Walter Stauffer Hawk, Shippensburg, Pa. (reenlistment); Maynard Colmus, 1105 South Charles street; Joseph Gabriel Rafferty, York, Pa.; Stephen John Holder, Towson, Baltimore county, Md.; Franklin Leo Baungart, Joppa, Harford county, Md.; John Harvey Purcell, Washington, D. C.; Joseph Gormly, Philadelphia, Pa. (re-enlistment); John Francis Schultz, 2116 West Vine street; William Robinson, 1206 Park avenue.
