UP AND DOWN THE Eastern Shore

Minister to Germantown

Trappe—The Rev. Ellwood Hannum, for a year and a half rector of Whitemarsh Parish, has accepted a call to an Episcopal Church at Germantown, Pa., fashionable suburb of Philadelphia, effective Nov. 27.

Nimble-Fingered at 93

Snow Hill—Still in Possession of a keen eye and nimble fingers, Mrs. Julia LeCompte Purnell, 93, has worked an embroidered replica in wool of old Whatcoat M. E. Church, Snow Hill, of which she is the oldest living charter member of the Ladies' Aid Society. The old church in its hand-woven design is clear and sharp.

Peas in November

Crisfield—English peas are blooming in the garden of George L. Lowe, which the Crisfield Times ascribes as another reason why the Democratic party should be continued in office.

Federal Bureau Here

Salisbury—One of the five district offices of the Social Security Board in Maryland for the administration of Old Age pensions and other benefits under Federal legislation is to be located here, according to a tentative announcement. Baltimore, Hagerstown, Annapolis and Cumberland are other offices.

Landon, Maryland

Princess Anne—Associated Press writers, anxious to cook up oddities in the news for their readers on the eve of election, scoured the country to learn how many towns in the U. S. bore the name of "Roosevelt" or Landon". They found 14 Roosevelts in as many states but not a single "Landon" until they learned that Somerset County has a community which bears that name—population 75— a cross road settlement in Fairmount District near Westover which apparently got its name from a family that once lived there. Incidentally all ballots cast in Somerset, whether for Roosevelt or Landon, may be thrown out. James E. Byrd, Democratic election board member charged that Senator Lloyd, Candidate for Congress, insisted on a last minute change in the ballot which Byrd said made it "purely illegal."

Talbot County Proud

Easton—Talbot County took justifiable pride when the Washington Times, in a feature article, referred to Miss Pat Haley, an AAA employe, as a "perfect example of attractive femininity. When Prettier girls are to be produced the AAA will produce them", said the item. Miss Haley is a graduate of Easton High School and is a comptometer operator in Washington.

Martin to Rebuild

Galena—John C. Martin, Philadelphia publisher, will rebuild his summer home on the Sassafras River near here which was damaged in a $10,000 fire caused by a defective fireplace.

Veasey Kills Self

Salisbury—H. J. Veasey, son of the late W. F. Veasey who for more than forty years was captain of a steamer operated by the BC&A Ry., took his own life in a San Antonio, Texas, hotel. He had been in Texas for 15 years. His body was found in a gas-filled room.

Writing Professors

Chestertown—Three members of Washington College's faculty have had articles published in publications of national circulation in recent weeks. Dr. Corrington wrote "A Bouquet for Your Microscope" for Nature Magazine; Dr. Livingood prepared an article for Mental Hygiene; and Dr. Arthur L. Davis's writings were published in the "Germanic Review".

Boardwalk Repairs

Ocean City—Property owners along the boardwalk must defray the cost of damages caused by the September hurricane and work is to start soon, Mayor W. Thomas Elliott and the City Council have ordered. Original plans were to seek Federal aid but these have been abandoned in the hopes of having the work season opens. Estimates of the cost range from $60,000 to $100,000.

Workout for Siren

Princess Anne—Taking no chances on cold weather freezing up the fire alarm, local firemen will give the siren a test each Saturday to see that it is in working order. Atop the firehouse and unprotected, it becomes clogged with snow and ice.

Landmark Sold

Port Deposit—Tome Institute station on the Pennsylvania Railroad, a landmark to every student attending Tome School and constructed of Port Deposit granite, has been sold and is to be converted into a bungalow. Trains on the branch line suspended some time ago.

2 Burned, 1 Fatally

Cambridge — Orville Lloyd, 30, burned to death when his oyster bateau caught fire while anchored in Cambridge harbor. At Williston, in Caroline County, Ulysses G. Todd narrowly escaped death when a gasoline torch exploded. Todd freed himself from the machinery on which he was working and jumped into the mill stream.

Hole-in-One Wins

Salisbury—Making a hole-in-one on the 135-yard fourth hole, John Roane won the Green Hill Golf and Country Club championship by defeating Henry de Fries 2 and 1 in the annual fall tournament. It was the first ever made in local tournament play.

Student Flyers

Chestertown—Washington College students have gone in for flying under the tutuelage of Charles Richards of Easton, former Chesapeake Air Ferries pilot. Ten are in the class which is not sponsored by the college.

Police Court

A fast game of three-card monte down at the Narrows Sunday afternoon blew up when State Patrolman Albert F. Anderson happened along and arrested Gilbert Pritchett, Carolina Negro, for operating a gambling game. Pritchett was fined $25 and costs by Magistrate J. West Thompson in Police Court Monday evening.

George N. Benton of Sudlersville was fined $10 and costs for permitting his wife to drive his car without a license while Mrs. Benton was fined the same amount for driving without a license. The arrests were made when a state patrolman stopped their car because the tail light was out and started checking on operator's cards.

Marion Nichols, Narrows Nero, went to jail in default of $5 and costs for disorderly conduct while Mamie Smith paid that amount on a similar charge. Joshua Wilkins, Wye Mills Negro, paid $10 and costs for disorderly conduct.

Carroll Wilson, Tilghman's Neck Negro, paid $1 and costs for drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

Traffic cases included Joseph S. Moses from the Western Shore, $10 and costs for reckless driving; Walter J. Hastings, also from the other Shore, $5 and costs for passing a car on a curve; Ralph S. Hoyt, St. Michaels, $5 and costs for reckless driving and the same amount for failure to stop at a boulevard sign.

A wife may be the boss, but that doesn't mean she likes to be called "the boss."

Girl—Mother, what is meant by the Progressive party?

Mother—Why, it's one of those parties where all the partners change after every hand.

From a struggling village on the sand dunes on the shores of the Mediterranean, to a hustling city of over 140,000 inhabitants, all in 28 years, is the amazing history of the all-Jewish city of Tel-Aviv.

The per capita consumption of candy in America last year rose to 13.7 pounds, a full pound better than the average for the past decade. Total sales for the year reached 1,743,539,000 pounds.
