☞ The Orphans' Court of this county will sit on to morrow.

BUCK TOWN CONVENTION.

Our learned adversaries, the supporters of that venerable and harmless Military Chieftain from the North Bend, of red petticoat memory, appear to be as a Philadelphia lawyer once said of himself, in a pretty considerable quandary. The election for state officers fs fast approaching, and we have seen no call for the Buck Town Convention for the purpose of nominating their candidates. What can be the matter. Now we will undertake to guess, that the reason is, there are a great many of their friends who are desirous of being candidates, and if they went into a caucus, to razee all but four, it might give some dissatisfaction, and operate against the electoral ticket for the Senate. This is their condition. They can now promise them all, but after the September election, the Magi will shew their hand, and then to the devil with most of the promised. One thing is certain they are very much alarmed. Why not bring out their candidates as usual, and shew their blood? They are in a critical situation,—their fears are but the prognostics of their final overthrow. The first Monday in September, will sing their death knell, and the people of the state will rejoice, for they have been unfaithful and prodigal stewards.

GENERAL DOUBTFUL.

Mr. Van Buren, Mr. Webster, Judge White and General Harrison, have all been announced as Candidates for the Presidency. We have lately heard of another candidate, by name, General Doubtful. Judging of his title, he must be a Military Chieftain. We have not heard of the battles, in which he has figured—nor do we know much about his connections and genealogy. It is said that he was raised somewhere on the lines of Kentucky and Virginia, near Swoonsborough, up Salt River, and that he is half horse, half aligator, and a little touched with the Roebuck, that his father was half Canadian and his mother, a very respectable old lady, who always set her hens in the summer season. As for his uncles and aunts, they were always shrewd and calculating, and very numerous. We are at a loss to know the principles of Gen. Doubtful, in all probability he is on the fence. His electoral candidates can tell us when they come out, what are his views.—As for his prospect of success, it seems to be pretty good; for there are many, who avow themselves in his favor. And in the papers, we find in the calculations upon presidential prospects, that many of the states, are put down for General Doubtful. As for ourselves, we can only state, that, however much we may respect the Heroism of the General, we must go against him, and shall defeat him if we can.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

According to an act of our State Legislature, passed the 15th March 1834, chap. 261, the mode of choosing the electors for President, &c., is changed from the district system, to a general ticket one, and the first Monday of November, is the day designated by that law for the election—this will be 7th November. We discover from a statement going the rounds of the newspapers that the Presidential election, so far as our State is concerned is put down, as occuring on the second Monday, that is, the 14th of Nov. This, according to our view is a mistake, and from an advertisement of the Sheriff of Talbot co., published in the "Whig," we observe, that he, too, has fallen into the same error, which should be corrected, in order to save any difficulty. We are not aware that the time has been changed since the act above mentioned, which fixes upon the First Monday of November for the choice of Electors. On that day, the freemen of Maryland will rally to the polls, we have no doubt, and elect by a very triumphant majority, the ticket of Electors, favorable to Mr. Van Buren, in opposition to that imbecile old man, Gen. Harrison.

SQUALLY.

Notwithstanding the majority that our adversaries have generally had in this county; we now find that they are in a most dreadful state of alarm: in a perfect snarl: things are at sixes and sevens with them, they seem to be pretty well convinced that it is the last of pea time with them, and that it is running a strong ebb-tide against them. The people in every part of the state, are demanding in a voice of thunder, for a change in a control of affairs, and the excitement has reached this County,—we shall even here give them as close a race as they want. They have to carry considerable weight. That is, the load of thir public misconduct. They have rode the people rough shod, and now the people will ride them down,—they will have to put the whip and spurs to the nags, and then there is danger of kicking, bolting and breaking down,—their public servants or rather masters, have devoured all the fodder in the rack,—the gilded oats, have given out,—they have sent or are about to send to Europe, for a fresh supply of provisions, but before they arrive the steeds may starve. One thing is pretty certain, we mean to beat them in the state, and run them neck and neck in the County, and in the last heat, they will break down, and we come out—as for Mr. Van Buren, there is no doubt of his success. Harrison & Tyler the nullifier will not be swallowed nor forced down the throats of the intelligent whigs.

Major Gates lately stricken from the roll of the Army, who arrived at Washington a few days since, has proceeded on to obtain an interview with the President at the Hermitage. His object is, we understand, to solicit his restoration to his rank, for the purpose of standing a trial, for his alledged misconduct, by a Court Martial.—Metropolitan.

OUT AT LAST—We learn from the opposition papers that the old and young whigs, by means of their joint efforts, have at last fixed upon a candidate for Senatorial Elector, in the person of James L. Ridgely, and that he has accepted the nomination. we presume he calculates upon being beaten by a majority of about two thousand.—Balt. Rep.

The Centreville (Md.) Times says that the soldier, whose fortune it was to capture Santa Anna, was a citizen of Maryland and a Printer. He was 'brought up' by the editor of the Times, and is not over two and twenty years of age.

The New York Star says, that measures are in progress to establish a line of telegraphs from Boston to N. York, to extend ultimately to Washington.

ADAM & EVE. We called in a few evenings since to examine the statues of ADAM and EVE, now exhibiting at the corner of Market & Holliday streets. These figures are the production of a young gentleman, a native of Baltimore, and are exquisitely fine pieces of workmanship, evincing in the artist, the finest imagery, a vivid and poetical fancy & powerful genius, and in the statues a correct delineation and beauty of expression rarely to be met with in works of a similar nature; and are no less creditable to the artist, than a subject of pride to the monumental city, that one of her sons is capable of producing such delightful pieces of sculpture. We trust he will be able to realize a rich reward from the exhibition of those figures, as a compensation for the labour and study he has employed in their preparation; and we can confidently recommend them to our citizens as a subject highly calculated to ensure their gratification and amusement, and therefore, well worthy their patronage.—Balt. Rep.

We are indebted to a friend for the following receipte for making Blackberry Syrup.—This syrup is said to be almost a specific for the summer complaint. In 1832 it was successful in more than one case of Cholera.—The fruit is now in market, and the present is proper time to make it.

BLACKBERRY CORDIAL.

To 2 quarts of juice of Blackberries, add
1 pound loaf sugar,
1-2 oz. nutmegs, 1-2 oz. cinnamon, pulverised,
1-4 oz. cloves, 1-4 oz. alspice, do
Boil all together for a short time, & when cold, add a pint of fourth proof brandy;
