GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF MARYLAND.

JOHN ROWINS.

MARVELLOUS.

A military Dragon, without a head, but with a Nullification tail.

Who would ever have thought, that the consistent Whigs, claiming all the decency & all the talents, and all the respect for the integrity of the Union and the supremacy of the laws, would have resorted to the support of such a feeble, unknown and deficient a personage as Gen. Harrison, for the august station of President of the U. States? Who could have supposed that with him, they would run for the Vice Presidency, a thorough bred and genuine nullifier, (Mr. Tyler.) And yet, forsooth, we see them endeavoring to force this political medley of anti-masonry nullification, folly, stupidity and indiscretion upon the intelligent voters of the State. Has reason, patriotism, and high regard for principle, forsaken Columbia's free born sons? Will the descendants of illustrious sires, from mere faction and sheer opposition, identify themselves, with such a hetrogeneous mass of political absurdities? The voice of a Patrick Henry, cries from the dusty tomb, in a tone of patriotic rebuke, forbear, oh forbear! countrymen from pursuing such a headlong course of destruction, to the very vitals of your government. Reflect, seriously reflect, ye sons of liberty!

PUBLIC EXTRAVAGANCE.

Notwithstanding the insolvent condition of the State Treasury, it seems, the immaculate Whigs thought proper to have an extra Session of the Legislature. For what? expressly for the purpose of deliberating upon the propriety of borrowing eight or ten millions of dollars, for certain Rail Road and Canal Companies. The conclusion of which resulted in the passage of a law, to authorize the appointment of three Commissioners, to go to Europe, to effect a heavy loan and pledge the faith of the State for its liquidation. (What will this county get? absolutely nothing, and yet is responsible). Then came the call for an extra election to fill Mr. Travers' vacancy in this county. Here was an expense of some four or five hundred dollars, for no earthly benefit. The session closed before the election took place, which cost this county a good round sum of money. What will be the finale of all these things? Will the people justify such folly, and bad management? The Legislature set in the first instance, a long time, and then concluded to take a breathing spell, but alas! the people have to pay these pipers, who are thus basking in the sunshine of prosperity—will they uphold such unrighteous agents?

THE APPROACHING ELECTION.

From every part of the county, we continue to receive the most cheering accounts, of the prospect of success to our cause. The fact that our adversaries will not openly venture in the field, with their public Convention candidates for the Legislature, shews most conclusively, that they feel very much alarmed. It is only necessary for us to make a long pull, a strong pull and a pull altogether, and the victory is ours. The people are tired of the misrule and bad management of the present party in power and desire a change. In every part of the state, they are flocking to our standard. In counties heretofore against us, we understand there is now, strong evidence, of a disposition to try other rulers, and the first Monday in September next, will conclusively shew, that flood tide is running high and strong in our favor. The people will themselves demonstrate by the power of the ballot box, that they are tired of being oppressed & weighed down, by such unjust policy.

HIGH TAXES.

We invite attenteon to the following certificates of the Clerk of the County, shewing the amount of the Levy made in the years 1830 1835 and 1836.

*M*aryland, Dorchester County, to wit: I hereby certify that the levy for the year eighteen hundred and thirty, amounted to the sum of twelve thousand, three hundred and forty four dollars and twenty four cents, and that the sum of seventy two cents, was apportioned on each hundred dollars.

In testimony, whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the publick seal of my office, this 9th August, 1836. L.S.

E. RICHARDSON, Clerk.

Maryland, Dorchester County, to wit: I hereby certify, that the Levy for the year eighteen hundred and thirty five, amounted to the sum of seventeen thousand, six hundred and seventy-eight dollars and eighty six cents, and that the sum of one dollar and two cents, was apportioned on each hundred dollars.

In testimony, whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the publick seal of my office this 9th August, 1835. L. S.

E. RICHARDSON, Clerk.

Maryland, Dorchester County, to wit: I hereby certify, that the Levy for the year eighteen hundred and thirty six, amounted to the sum of thirteen thousaud, six hundred and twenty five dollars and thirteen cents, and that the sum of seventy eight cents, was apportioned on each hundred dollars.

In testimony, whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the publick seal of my office, this 9th August, 1836. L. S.

E. RICHARDSON, Clerk.

In the year 1830, the Jacksonmen had the ascendency and there was a majority of that party in the Levy Court. The amount levied that year was $12,344 and 24 cents, being 72 cts in the 100 dollars. Last year when the whigs had the control, the sum imposed upon the county was $17,678 and 86 cents, being $1,02 cts. in the $100, or thirty cents more in the 100 dollars than was collected under the Jackson regency, and amounting in the whole, to the extraordinary sum of $5,334 62 cents, above the sum required, under the lead of the much abused Jackson party. How will our adversaries account for this extravagance? It will not do to say that $2,000 was levied towards the payment of the Poor House debt and double ferriage, amounting to perhaps $7 or 800, and the additional expense of a long Court, exceeding the usual levy about $800 and $250 for Vienna Bridge.—These sums would only amount to about $3,800, still leaving an unaccounted for balance of upwards of $1,500. How has this happened?—we can only state, in the absence of explanation, that the finances of the county have been badly managed, and that unnecessary and injudicious burdens have been heaped upon the people. We are also perfectly satisfied, that the law has been violated, in the imposition of some of the taxes upon the community, and we might remark, individually as 'Nathan said to David, thou art the man,' but we design not thus to go into detail, but merely call the the attention of the public, to the general results of whig improvidence, and whig regard for the interests of the county.

This year the taxes are not quite so high as they were the last year, although they are now greater than they were, when we had the control. The people having complained so loudly of the enormous amount of the county charge, imposed by the whig rulers last year. We suppose, better Counsels have prevailed and more economical effects have grown out of the clamor,—at all events we hope so. Let us then contrast the situation of things under the general government, where the Jacksonmen have had the ascendency, and the condition of affairs in this state, where the "whigs," have had the reins for the last five or six years. Gen. Jackson's Administration has obtained large sums due us from foreign nations, reduced the taxes upon the people, paid off the national debt, and there is now in the Treasury, an enormous amount more than is immediately necessary, which is to be deposited with the states, by a late act of Congress, and approved by the President. There then every thing is flourishing—But in this state, where the Whigs have the management we are involved in heavy public debts, with an empty treasury, and a law has been passed to send to Europe to borrow money, to carry on the Internal Improvements in the state, for which our whole property is to be mortgaged. Our state and county taxes are extravagantly high, and every financial fibre strained. Let the people then reflect, and decide for themselve, whether the present state rulers should be longer supported.

Upwads of fifty years ago they were betrothed, but by some fortuitous circumstances, their union was prevented. Since that time they have each been married twice, and never have seen each other till the day previous to the wedding. Whether the happy couple pictured to themselves the same youthful persons they were when they last met, we cannot say. If they did, old Time must have somewhat disappointed them. We unite in wishing them many years of uninterrupted happiness in the relation which Providence has thus singularly brought about.]—Wis. Intelligencer.
