WORDS IN SEASON.

When the Democracy entered upon the Presidential contest, and accepted the leadership of Mr. Greeley and an alliance with the Liberal Republicans, they had, above all things, two purposes in view. The first was to vindicate the right of local self-government; the second, to relieve the South from military domination and Northern thieves. It was the unanimity of the Southern cry for relief, and the eagerness with which the people of that section clung to Mr. Greeley, as their possible deliverer from military domination and Northern thieves, that led to his adoption by the National Democratic Convention. The sympathy then felt for the forlorn condition of our Southern brethren was a just recognition of the wrongs under which they suffered, whilst the acceptance of the Cincinnati nominees and of the platform of principles on which they stood, was the best evidence that the Democracy could give of their earnest desire to have these wrongs redressed. The motive was as honorable as the self-abnegation was perfect, and however the canvass may terminate, it will have the effect to bind the Democracy of the South to the Democracy of the North by ties stronger than ever united them before. It will do more than this—it will win for the Liberal Republicans an equal place with their Democratic associates in the esteem of the Southern people, and so help to bring about that better era of fraternal feeling which, even if it be checked for a season, cannot long be delayed.

If, therefore, the Democracy and Liberal Republicans gained nothing more in this contest than the warm hearts and willing hands of the white citizens of the South, it will be a gain that cannot be affected by any present defeat, and that may be of signal service in the future.

Even now, we may count, with reasonable certainty, that all the Southern States but two will cast their vote, through democratic electors, for Mr. Greeley, and if the people of the North and West, who sincerely desire a change of government, and the restoration of the South to equal membership in the Union, will but act upon their honest convictions, the cause that Mr. Greeley represents may yet pass through the ordeal of the November election triumphantly.

Apart, too, from all this; fighting, as we conscientiously believe we are, for justice and the right, no possibility of defeat ought to turn us from our purpose. The accusations brought against Grant and his Administration have lost none of their force because Pennsylvania and Ohio prefer corrupt men to honest ones. The principles for which we are contending are as true to-day as they were a month ago. Grant has changed in nothing from what he was. His instincts are the same, his associates the same, his advisers the same corrupt and unscrupulous set. Casey still sits at the Receipt of Custom; Murphy is still Grant's bosom friend; Morton and Chandler—the Danton and Murat of our day and generation—are his chosen counsellors, and near them sits Butler, "squat, like a toad."

To get rid of these Jacobins, enemies to all liberty but their own; to purify the civil service; to restore the right of local self-government; to put a check upon Congressional usurpations of authority, and to bring back the Administration within the strict limits of its functions—these are all things worth fighting for, and no partial check, no serious reverse, even, ought to prevent the contest from going on until the true principles upon which our Government was founded are firmly re-established.—Balt. Gazette.

THE MASS MEETING.

The grand mass meeting of the friends of Greeley & Brown, and E. K. Wilson, came off in Chestertown according to announcement on Saturday last. A large stand was erected in front of the Court House and tastefully decorated with evergreens, flags, &c., and in another part of the square two long tables were built and loaded with all the eatables that heart could wish.

At about 11½ o'clock the meeting was organized by the election of Geo. W. T. Perkins, Esq., as President, who accepted the honor in a very neat speech, and then introduced Philip D. Laird, Esq., the elector for this district, who entertained his audience with an address of marked ability—Spence, the radical, independant candidate for Congress, receiving a share of his attention. According to Mr. L., Col. Spence was at one time, like Cresswell, a blatant secessionist, but finding that such sentiments would not pay, he at one leap landed in the radical ranks, and has since been doing his best to recommend himself to the "powers that be" by persecuting citizens of his own and adjoining counties for presuming to continue steadfast to principles which he had himself previously endorsed.

Col. E. K. Wilson, our candidate for Congress, was the next speaker, and entered into the discussion with his usual earnestness, arraigning the Grant administration for its extravagance and corruption, and especially for its inhuman policy in the treatment of our sister States of the South. Col. Wilson is an uncompromising democrat of the old school; a warm advocate of the liberal movement, and a man of unquestioned integrity; his speech demonstrated his ability, and was well received. He deserves, and we are sure will receive, the cordial support of every true democrat and all who desire the triumph of liberal principles—constitutional law and good fellowship—over sectional hatred, Congressional usurpation and Executive blundering.

After the conclusion of Col. Wilson's address the large assemblage present paid their respects to the dinner provided, and did full justice thereto, but the quantities of roast beef and poultry and numberless roast pigs, hams, etc., which had been furnished for the occasion by the generous and hospitable Democracy of the county, were amply sufficient.

About 1 o'clock the steamer Geo. Law arrived with quite a large company from Baltimore, including a number of distinguished speakers, and after the wants of the "inner man" had been supplied, the assemblage again gathered about the stand and the President introduced Gen. Thos. J. McKaig, of Cumberland, who, in his humorous way, discussed for a short time the issues of the day. He was followed by Col. Fred. Raine, elector for the State at large, who in an earnest manner pictured the failings of the party in power, and urged the necessity of a liberal policy toward emigrants from the old world landing on our shores. Hon. James A. Buchanan, of Baltimore, was the next speaker, and his address, eloquently delivered, was both pointed and practical, and made a very favorable impression.—Hon. Montgomery Blair, a gentleman of national reputation, was then introduced, and occupied about one hour in a thorough exposition of the Grant dynasty, after which the meeting was adjourned until 7 o'clock. At this hour the Court room was filled with an intelligent audience, many ladies being present, when able addresses were delivered by Gen. F. C. Latrobe, of Baltimore, and Hon. Wm. Walsh, of Allegany county.

Owing to the lateness of the hour, the other speakers present—Ex-Mayor Robt. T. Banks, Col. Jos. P. Merryman, Col. G. W. Smith, and Geo. T. Beall, Esq., were prevented from speaking. Ex-Gov. Swann was to have been present, but having received a telegram informing him of the sudden illness of a member of his family in Virginia, was debarred that privilege—a letter from him to that effect was read to the meeting.

The meeting was a success in every respect, and calculated to encourage the gallant Democracy of the county in putting forth more earnest effort in the interest of our noble standard-bearers.

To Sportsmen.—The gunning season is now approaching and sportsmen will soon be scouring the fields in search of birds and other game. Farmers have been greatly annoyed heretofore, and some have suffered the loss of stock and poultry by the recklessness of gunners. As a consequence many have wisely determined to avail themselves of the law against trespassing, and prohibit altogether the visits of the sportsman upon their premises, so that gunners and others, before starting out upon their expeditions, should inform themselves in regard to the forbidden fields, or they may get into trouble. A number of notices, forbidding this species of trespassing, will be found in this issue of our paper.

Public Meetings.—Turn Out, one and All!—Public meetings of the friends of Greeley, Brown and Wilson have been arranged for different places in the county, at all of which speakers will be present and discuss the issues of the campaign. We call the attention of our readers to the notice in another column, and urge a full attendance at these meetings. Ex-Governor Swann, of Baltimore, will address the meeting in Chestertown on Thursday evening next.

Court.—The October term of the Circuit Court for Kent county will be commenced on Monday next.

Philadelphia, with a population of 674,022. has 165,000 voters registered. New York, with a population of 942,292, has but 152,000 registered voters. The presumption of fraud in the Philadelphia registry is very strong.

Official returns from seventy-seven counties of Indiana, and semi-official returns from the remaining eighteen counties, give Hendricks, for Governor, a majority of 894.

Orphans' Court, Tuesday, Oct. 15.—David Clements and R. J. Lusby returned their report of the annual rental value of the real estate of G. E. Anderson, col. James M. Mallalieu, adm'r of James M. Lees, returned inventory of the personal estate of said dec'd and received an order for the sale of the same. Jos. J. Webb, F. H. Harper and W. T. Hepbron, adm's of J. W. Webb, returned list of debts due the deceased. Horatio Beck and R. W. Jones were appointed to reappraise the annual rental value of the real estate of Merrit T. and Walter H. Miller. A. M. Gooding, guardian to Addison M. Gooding, returned guardian account for 1871. Hellen Miller, guardian to Walter H., Merrit T. and Lillian Miller, returned separate guardian accounts for '71. Wm. D. Burchinal, guardian to Wm. H., Hiram and Arthur M. Brown, returned separate guardian accounts for 1871. Letters of administration on the personal estate in Kent county of James Kennard, late of Middlesex co., Va., were granted to R. Hynson, and the usual notice to creditors ordered. The petition of Wm. T. Hepbron, adm'r, to have the real estate of D. W. Turner appraised, was received, and Messrs. John Wilson and F. H. Harper were appointed to appraise the same. Wm. M. Slay, adm'r of G. P. Roeder, returned and inventory of the personal estate of said dec'd, and obtained an order for the sale of the same. The Court will meet on Tuesday and Thursday of next week.

Thanksgiving—By the President—The President has issued his proclamation appointing Thursday, the 28th of November next, a day of thanksgiving by the people of the United States. He appropriately recognizes the blessings vouchsafed to the common interests of the country during the past year, and its exemption from any general or grievous calamity. Reference is made also to the peculiar character of the United States government as a source of indiscriminate good to all citizens. The hope may in this connection be expressed that a more exact appreciation of the true intent and character of the government, on the part of those selected to manage it, may be one of the results of the religious observances of the day.

The Maryland Agricultural Fair—Address of Horace Greeley.—The fourth annual exhibition of the Maryland Agricultural Association, held near Baltimore last week, was a great success. The weather, splendid even for October, the fine display and spirited competition, the presence of Mr. Greeley on the third day and his address, all conspired to make this one of the most animated and enjoyable fairs, and also one of the most profitable, socially as well as practically, ever held in this State. The grounds were in excellent order, the grass green, and in consequence of the recent rains there was an entire freedom from dust, so annoying on former occasions. The address of Mr. Greeley on Thursday, which we publish in full on our first page, was of course an attractive and interesting feature of the occasion. He adhered to his purpose of keeping out of politics in his visit, and sticking to agriculture, and he did it well. He discussed the renovation of worn-out soils intelligently and practically, and to the satisfaction of the large assemblage of Maryland agriculturists present, than whom there are none more competent to decide what Mr. Greeley knows about farming. And their verdict upon this address cannot but be one of approval. Mr. Greeley disclaimed intending in his text any special reflection upon the agriculture of Maryland, but his remarks were none the less applicable to our seaboard farming and to exhausted soils which may be found in our own State, as well as in other old States, and where what he calls barbarous methods of culture have nearly exhausted the soil. Every one must also recognize the truth of his remarks about crowded city avocations, and how much better it would be for themselves and the country if many of those proposing to become professional or business men would betake themselves to cultivating the earth. The small wits who have made themselves merry over Mr. Greeley's efforts to improve the agriculture of the country, and who seem to have been "born only to consume the fruits of the earth," have not the capacity to appreciate the fundamental value of agriculture to the world, and even to themselves, nor the good sense of those who do.

Torchlight Procession.—The grand torchlight demonstration last week in Baltimore, in honor of Greeley and Brown, was one of the most imposing spectacles ever witnessed. The streets were thronged with people, and the greatest enthusiasm greeted the line of the procession as it passed through the crowded thoroughfares. No triumphal march of a victorious army could have been more effective, and it clearly proved that the indomitable Democracy of the Monumental City are determined to fight on, gallantly and fearlessly, until the close of the battle on the fifth day of next November.

The Peach Growers' Meeting at Dover on Tuesday, was a gathering after the usual sort—an outcry against low prices, and the same desire to remedy them without knowing how to do it. About the same kind of resolutions were passed as are generally put through. The railroad, the commission men, the "middle" men, &c., came in for their usual share of abuse. Mr. G. W. Cummins looked with great apprehension upon the great increase of the crop, which was the greatest drawback to its profit. A full crop this year, at the high freight rates, would have been profitless to growers. With the half crop that was grown his profits wore not more than 30 or 35 cents per basket, and his wheat field was as profitable as his peach orchard. He thought if one half of the young orchards were pulled up it would be better for the growers, and that even at 12 cents per basket peaches would be the most profitable freight that the railroad would have.

Mayor Vansant, of Baltimore has offered a reward of $500 for the discovery, arrest and conviction of the murderer of Captain Samuel Barrett, and a similar reward in the case of the murderer of the colored boy George W. Barrett. Governor Whyte has also issued a proclamation offering the same reward ($500) in each case.

The Ohio and New York Democrats and Liberals.

The democratic executive committee of Ohio have issued an address stating that Ohio was lost in last Tuesday's election by the failure to poll the usual democratic vote, and that the mischief can be repaired in November by polling four-fifths of the democratic votes not thus brought out. The liberal vote exceeded the most sanguine estimate, and by its union with the democratic on this occasion has secured the constitutional convention, the Legislature and a United States Senator. The address closes by saying:

"Should both Ohio and Pennsylvania go for Grant, the chances are still in favor of Greeley's election. If Connecticut, New York, New Jersey and Indiana are added to those border and Southern States, which are certain for Greeley, this will give him a clear majority. We have already, by a glorious and aggressive fight, forced the Grant party to its knees, and can conquer it in November."

The liberal republican committee of Ohio have also issued an address, in which they say:

"It has been conceded upon all hands that the loss to Grant in October of either of the three great central States then voting would be victory for Greeley in November. Indiana is ours, and Ohio can be made ours, and it only remains now to gather promptly the fruits of victory. Ohio has done nobly. Grant's majority of 40,000 in 1868 has been cut down to a beggarly 10,000 or 12,000 upon the first onset. We have carried eight members of Congress out of 21—a clear gain of three from the stronghold of the enemy, and in spite of the most outrageous districting bill ever passed by a Legislature to gerrymander a State. Greeley and Brown are 20,000 voters stronger in Ohio to-day than any man upon our State ticket, and hence, if we do our duty, the State can be carried like a whirlwind in November."

The committee further say that even without Ohio in November, the election of Greeley is substantially assured. Allowing for Greeley, Alabama, Arkansas, California, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Indiana, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Missouri, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia and West Virginia, 189 electoral votes are obtained; allowing Grant Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Michigan, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Pennsylvania, South Carolina and Vermont, 89 votes, there remain doubtful Illinois, Minnesota, Mississippi, Nevada, North Carolina, Ohio, Oregon, Rhode Island and Wisconsin, 86. Of these doubtful States the committee claim equal chances for at least one-half, which is abundantly sufficient to make up for any defection in those States counted certain for Greeley.

The New York State liberal republican executive committe have issued an address calling upon the liberals to work with renewed energy for the November elections, as there are twenty States casting nearly two hundred electoral votes that they can still carry if they only will. The address says that they are in danger of defeat mainly because some faint hearts are discouraged, and urges the liberals to resolve that by stout hearts and strong arms the liberal cause and candidates shall be borne onward to decisive triumph.

The Colored Cadet Midshipman.—A Washington dispatch says that the assault upon the colored cadet at the Naval Academy is to be followed by the summary expulsion of all concerned therein, and that the President is inflexible in his purpose to this end. If it had been a white boy who was subjected to hazing and other annoyances, it would have mattered but little. If it had been a lad whose parents were suspected of Southern sympathies, it would not have mattered at all. If such a boy obtained fair play from the officers themselves, it would be a marvel.

Grave Charge of Attempt to Bribe.—Lancaster, Pa., Oct. 14.—Complaint was made to-day before Alderman Arnweg, by Reinhardt Reiner, election judge of the Eighth ward, Lancaster, against Dr. H. E. Muhlenberg, United States collector of internal revenue, and brother-in-law of Hon. Simon Cameron, for offering said election judge two hundred dollars if he would stuff the ballot-box to reduce Buckalew's majority to one hundred in the said ward. A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Muhlenberg.

Rascality.—The "Sentinel" office in Raleigh, N. C., was blown up by gunpowder on the night of the 10th instant. The editor has been an out-spoken opponent of republican outrage and robbery in North Carolina and hence the scandalous outrage. No intriguing white scoundrels, of course, are to blame—only a few ignorant negroes who if caught will be hanged for arson, while the real instigators of the crime will gently lament that their "zeal" should have carried the poor creatures so far.

The Saratoga County Bank at Waterford, New York, was robbed on Sunday night of $300,000 in money, bonds and stocks. The heaviest loss falls on special depositors. The burglars secreted themselves in the Cashier's house, and when all things were in readiness sprang from their concealment, overpowered the members of the family, gagged and tied them, and then compelled the frightened bank officer to open the vaults.

Good Riding.—Messrs. Ash Wilson and George Tayman, the young gentlemen who competed so successfully for the first prize at the Kennedyville tournament made another trial of their skill one day last week. They rode 39 times at rings 1¼ inches in diameter, each taking all the rings at every tilt, and when they stopped neither was ahead.—Middletown Trans.

Small-Pox in Washington.—Small-pox is on the increase in Washington city. The health office reports fifteen new cases within four days, and seven deaths. From January 1 to October 2 there were 456 cases. Since June 1, 257 cases have been reported, and sixty deaths. Thirty-eight of those who died had never been vaccinated, and twelve who had been successfully vaccinated died.

Sheep Raising.—When Mr. Thomas W. Anderson began farming, about ten years ago, he purchased about 25 or 30 sheep for $125. When he discontinued, last week, he sold about the same number of sheep that he had on hand for the same price, and in the ten years had realized from the sale of lambs, wool, &c., $1200.—Cambridge Chronicle.

A philanthropic Yankee has invented a lifeboat which, if thrown into the water wrong side up, will immediately right itself, and, if filled with water, will bail itself out.

John W. B. Wilkinson, who brutally murdered his wife with a butcher's cleaver on the 4th of last May in Baltimore, died Tuesday afternoon in the city jail of Bright's disease of the kidneys.

Mr. Seward's fortune amounted to about two hundred thousand dollars, and will be divided between his three sons and one adopted daughter.

Departed this life, on Monday, the 14th of October, at 10½ o'clock, P. M., at his late residence, after a lingering illness, which he bore with Christian patience, THOMAS W. RINGGOLD, in the 66th year of his age. Mr. Ringgold was a kind and affectionate husband, a devoted father and faithful friend. He bore an exemplary character in all the relations of life, and possessed the full and thorough confidence of the community in which he lived. He was a liberal supporter of St. Paul's church, and for many years an active and most useful member of its vestry. A FRIEND.

Obituary.

Mr. William J. Hurlock died suddenly at his late residence, in St. Georges, Delaware, on Thursday, the 3rd instant, in the 89th year of his age. The last honors to his memory were paid on Monday, the 7th instant, by his numerous friends and relatives of this and the adjoining States.

In this history of his life we find the fruits of earnest, systematic effort. Commencing life a poor boy in the latter part of the last century, he had by close attention to business, economy and strict integrity accumulated a handsome fortune. His life furnishes an example worthy of imitation by all who desire to succeed in the business of their lives.

Some years ago Mr. Hurlock obtained a contract for certain work on the Delaware and Chesapeake Canal. Most of the money he made there he loaned out at fair rates to deserving parties, upon bond and mortgage, and many of our well-to-do citizens owe their start in the world to the use of his money.

The subject of this notice was distinguished for his industry, fidelity and punctuality in all the affairs of life. He never, during his long life, used spirituous liquors nor tobacco in any form; he never was heard to swear an oath, and never known to tell a lie; he was an ardent admirer of woman, and never failed to defend and protect her when the opportunity offered; he was a kind and devoted husband, a loving and affectionate father, and a warm friend. His recollection of men and events was so accurate that he was regarded as one of the best informed chroniclers of his day; he had an extensive circle of friends by whom his friendship was valued; his flow of spirits, even to the last year of his life, was exuberant, and there was a cheerfulness of tone in his conversation which made him independent of his well stored business mind, a most agreeable and instructive companion. Above all, he was through life (although not a professor of religion) a firm believer in the redemption of man through the blood of the Lamb, and never allowed a day to pass without holding sweet converse with his Maker. He was faithful in season and out of season at the throne of grace, and a habitual reader of the Bible.

He has gone from among us: "the last struggle is past; the turmoil of life is over; the tale is told, finished and ended; the seal of death is set upon it?"

"Thou hast instructed many, and thou hast strengthened the weak hands." N.
