An Old Citizen Speaks.—Mr. J. M. Norris, an old resident of Rome, Ga., says that he had been troubled with Kidney Complaint for a great many years, and with Eczema for three years; at times could scarcely walk and had tried many remedies without benefit, until he began taking Electric Bitters and anointing his hands and feet with Bucklen's Arnica Salve. This treatment afforded him great relief; and he strongly recommends Electric Bitters to all who suffer with Kidney Complaint, or need a Blood Purifier. Sold by G. A. Wingert.

POLITICAL CORRESPONDENCE.

AN OPEN LETTER.

CUMBERLAND, MD., March 10, 1887.

To the Members of the Republican County Committee.

GENTLEMEN—You have doubtless become aware of the increasing demand for a change in the basis of representation in county conventions, nevertheless, I desire to call your attention to the matter in this public manner in order that in the future there may be no misunderstanding in regard to where the responsibility shall rest in this important matter. It is a conceded fact that the conventions of our party have not, for years, been representative bodies. As at present constituted these bodies rarely reflect the real sentiment of the people. In the county we have fifteen election districts which cast a republican vote ranging from 37 to 503 as by the last Congressional election, yet not only does each district, without regard to voting population, have an equal number of delegates in convention, but, as well, the infamous "unit rule" prevails.

How any one can defend this system I cannot see for one moment. It is opposed to every principle, not only of justice, but, as well of democratic government. District No. 11 casts nearly fourteen times as many republican votes as No. 7; No. 14 eleven times as many; No. 15 over ten times as many, etc. And yet, in convention, No. 7 has an equal voice with either of the other districts named If any illustration were necessary to show how the present system enables a county convention to be so organized under the present system as to misrepresent the sentiment of the county, it would only be necessary to refer to the last convention, convened for the purpose of sending delegates to the Congressional convention at Hagerstown. This convention was organized and controlled by the delegates from districts 1, 2, 4, 5, 6, 7, 13 and 14, making eight districts which last fall cast a total republican vote of 1,462. The opposition carried districts 3, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12 and 15, making seven districts which cast a total republican vote of 2,016. In other words, the seven districts cast 554 more republican votes than the eight, yet the sentiment they represented could receive no recognition in the convention. The eight districts constituting the majority gave last fall a net democratic majority of 459, and the seven districts in the minority gave a net republican majority of 1,010. Can anyone contend that such a body was in any sense a representative one? Numerous cases have occurred within the memory of all of us, where county nominations have been made in the same manner.

Shall we continue a system producing results so manifestly unfair? I think the general verdict is that it must be changed, and at once. Who is to make this change and how? I respectfully suggest that you gentlemen who constitute the county committee are the proper persons to act. The time is now. Do not wait until we have the campaign of 1887 upon us, but determine the matter at a time when there are no complications arising from contest for office. Call a meeting of the committee, adopt a plan of representation and make provisions for submitting it to the republican voters of the county and let them adopt or reject it in advance of the call for the next convention.

The plan most generally approved of is, I believe, to allow each district one delegate for each fifty republican votes cast at the last Congressional election counting fractions of fifty as equivalent thereto when they reach or exceed twenty-five.

A convention formed in this manner would be composed as follows, taking as a basis the vote of 1886:

District 1—	70	republican votes—	1 delegate
" 2—	71	" " —	1 "
" 3—	117	" " —	2 "
" 4—	205	" " —	4 "
" 5—	275	" " —	6 "
" 6—	167	" " —	3 "
" 7—	37	" " —	1 "
" 8—	199	" " —	4 "
" 9—	298	" " —	4 "
" 10—	327	" " —	7 "
" 11—	503	" " —	10 "
" 12—	283	" " —	6 "
" 13—	132	" " —	2 "
" 14—	422	" " —	8 "
" 15—	355	" " —	8 "
Total—	3178	" " —	69 "

If the last county convention had been formed on this basis, Mr. McComas would have had 41 votes, and the apparent majority only 28. In a convention organized as proposed, each delegate would, of course, cast his own vote, and voting by districts would be abolished. This is particularly important. The republican party has repeatedly (through its highest authority, the National convention), declared against the unit rule, yet in this county it is still adhered to. Gentlemen, let us have best fill's representative convention, and as a necessary consequence, a ticket to whose support all republicans can rally, and over whose success all republicans may rejoice. Very respectfully,

WM. BUCE.
