ADDITIONAL LOCAL ITEMS.

Married—In Selbysport, Md., Wednesday, Oct. 26, 1887, by Rev. Joseph DeWitt, Mr. CHARLES H. WILLIAMS, of Frostburg, and Miss TALLA H. FRAZEE, of the former place.

In the Presbyterian Church, New Windsor, Md., Nov. 4, 1887, by Rev. J. W. Finkbiner, Mr. THOMAS Y. RABOLD, of Cumberland, and Miss MINNIE E. LAMBERT, of New Windsor. The bride is a niece of I. C. Lambert, of this place.

Died—At the residence of his son, John Farrady, of this place, Monday morning, October 31, 1887, Mr. THOMAS FARRADY, aged about 86 years. He had been in this county 40 years, and long known as one of our best citizens. His wife and three children, all grown, survive—Mrs. W. H. Evans, Miss Mollie and John, all of Frostburg. Mr. Farraday was a member of the Second Maryland Regiment P. H. B., during the war, and since of Thoborn Post, No. 21, Grand Army of the Republic. He was also an Odd Fellow. The funeral took place Wednesday.

Religious.—Among those who took prominent parts in the Baptist Union meeting in Cumberland last week were Rev's James Miller and T. M. Evans, Messsrs. W. R. Hart, John B. Reese, T. D. Davis, John Harris, D. J. Davis, William Lewis and Miss Mary J. Dando, of this place, and Messrs. James Bannatyne and J. M. Mair, of Eckhart. The Welsh Baptist choir, 22 voices, of this place, figured very acceptably in the exercises. Resolutions of respect to the memory of Deacon J. J. Arnold, of Eckhart church, who was killed by being run over by his wagon, were read and adopted.

Rev. John H. T. Gray, pastor, will preach at Dickerson chapel, A. M. E. Church, Frostburg, to-morrow (Sunday) morning and evening at 10:30 and 7:30, respectively. Commnnion after morning preaching.

Personal.—Miss Birdie Harrison, of Piedmont, is visiting the family of F. C. Beall.

The callers on the JOURNAL this week number Hon's B. L. Turner and W. M. McKaig, opposing nominees for the State Senate; Hon. Andrew Roy, of Ohio; David Sloan, of Lonaconing; John N. Benson, of Frostburg, one of the democratic nominees for the House of Delegates, and other candidates were represented by friends.

Rev. J. M. Rollins was severely "pounded" Thursday evening by his congregation. He and his family wont get over it for months.

Robert Brannon and Misses Mollie Findlay and Ida Getz, of Mt. Savage, visited Frostburg yesterday evening.

Rev. F. T. Hennicke, of Chambersburg, Pa., is among Frostburg friends.

The JOURNAL acknowledges an exceedingly pleasant call from J. F. Seiss, of Cumberland.

Questions—The JOURNAL wonders—

Who will get there November 8?

Whether the new hotel will be ready to accommodate guests next summer?

When the gap between the two ends of the union depot at Midland will be filled?

Whether the sprinters will formally endorse the drivers' demand for $2?

Or will they decide that Jackson "must not be governor of Maryland?"

Whether Andrew Roy was in earnest when he said somebody was once on a high-toned drunk—somebody who had only licked a corkscrew?

In whose honor the last red-eyed Kickapoo balloon was sent up?

How many republican votes will be driven to the democratic State ticket by the Knights of Labor crusade against Jackson?

Why Daniel Annan moved away and finished his laugh out of sight of that ten-thousand dollar note story?

Who of the nominees will wake next Wednesday morning with a bad taste in their mouths?

How many will read and despise these questionings from a borrowed copy of this issue of this great paper?

Inshallah?

Order Affairs.—Ohr Chapter, No. 26, Royal Arch Masons, formerly located at Mt. Savage, was removed Wednesday to Frostburg, and will hereafter hold its meetings in Masonic Temple, south corner Main and Broadway. At the election held in Mt. Treasurer—John Davis.

There remain six offices to be filled by appointment.

The Council of the Royal Arcanum in this place have an interesting occasion ahead in the visit of the grand officers next Friday evening, 11th inst. Dr. M. W. Donavin, grand regent; George F. West, elocutionist; James A. Wilson, lecturer, and possibly Col. A. C. Trippe, past supreme regent, will be here. The exercises of most interest will take the form of a lecture on the "Principles and Methods of the Royal Arcanum," by Mr. Wilson, and readings by Mr. West, in Moat's Opera House. Messrs. West and Wilson are prepared to afford a most delightful intellectual entertainment, and as it will be free to the public, the hall should be full, especially of men who feel concern about the welfare of their families when the main stay is removed.
