Eastern Views of the Coal Trade.

New York.—Soft coals have shown a somewhat active market with supplies rather short for the demand, with ready sales of the better grades. It is reported that the soft coal pool of shippers have fixed prices at Philadelphia, Norfolk, Newport News, Baltimore and Georgetown, at $2.60 per ton. At South Amboy, Perth Amboy, Elizabethport, Port Johnston, Weehawken, Hoboken and Port Liberty, for shipments to points on North River, south of Fifty-seventh street and to points on East river west of Hell Gate, $3.55 per ton. Delivered alongside in the same limits $3.50 per ton of 2,240 lbs.—Mining Record.

The Seaboard Steam Coal Association held a lengthy session in Philadelphia on Febuary 24th and agreed upon the following as the prices for bituminous coal for the season of 1888-89, beginning on March 1st:

Free on board at Philadelphia, Norfolk, Newport News, Baltimore and Georgetown, $2.60 per ton of 2240 pounds.

Free on board at South Amboy, Perth Amboy, Elizabethport, Port Johnson, Weehawken, Hoboken and Port Liberty, for shipment to points on the North River south of Fifty-seventh street, and to points on the East River west of Hell Gate, $3.25 per ton.

Delivered alongside in New York harbor south of Fifty-seventy street, North River, and on the East River west of Hell Gate, $3.55 per ton.

The tide-water competitive soft coal tonnage to be divided during the coming season between the parties to the association has been fixed at 5,000,000 tons, the same quantity as was agreed upon last year. The prices given above are also the same as the association prices of last season. The award of allotments of the tonnage to be pooled will be made this week if agreed upon. Last season several members of the association, including the Clearfield and Beach Creek districts, undershipped their respective percentages of the pooled tonnage, while the shipments of the Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake & Ohio, Elk Garden & Pocahontas districts exceeded their quotas, and this year they make claim for larger percentages than they were awarded last year.

Boston.—As soon as opening prices for bituminous coal get round to the trade, as they now will in a very few days, contract business will begin to start.—Engineering and Mining Journal.
