The movements of the average engineer hereabouts is watched with intense interest" The Mr. Kretzer referred to in this article is Mr. Stephen P. Kretzer, of Sharpsburg, who acquired his knowledge of surveying under County Surveyor Downin.

July Weather.—The opposition weather prophet, De Voe, says the warmest days of July yet to be experienced will be the 15th, 23rd and 29th, and the coolest, the 19th and 27th. Thunder showers will occur on the 15th, 24th and 31st. De Voe ridicules Vennor's prediction of frost, and says there will be greater danger of sunstroke. The rain-fall during the month will be about eight inches.

The Light Infantry Excursion.—The excursion to the Caverns of Luray under the auspices of the Hagerstown Light Infantry was largely attended and greatly enjoyed. The train, composed of eight passenger coaches, contained over four hundred excursionists. About twenty persons got on at Sharpsburg station. The only unpleasant feature connected with the excursion was the heavy rain which occurred in the evening and was at its height when the train returned.

Real Estate Sale.—Van S. Brashears, auctioneer, sold last Saturday at Sheriff's sale the Methodist Episcopal church near Antietam Iron Works, known as Marker's Chapel, to James Marker for $520.

Another Victim.—Mr. John Murphy, formerly a school teacher in Boonsboro, and a man of good education, died on Monday morning at Mrs. Ellen Pickett's, in Hagerstown. The immediate cause of his death was undoubtedly excessive dissipation.

Registration.—Mr. Jacob Marker, the register of voters for this district has been holding his session this week as required by law. Up to the time of going to press the registration has been as follows: Tuesday—39 white, and 1 colored; Wednesday—33 white, and 1 colored; Thursday—43 white, and 2 colored. Total, 119.

An Unusual Visitor.—On Monday afternoon, during a heavy shower, a bird flew fearlessly into our office, perched awhile on the editor's desk, and then, undeterred by the presence of the "devil," impartially investigated the press, forms, cases and furniture generally. Its unerring instinct taught it that in no place would innocence find more congeniality than in a printer's office.

A Belligerent Rooster.—One day last week while a small child of Mr. Isaac Long, residing near Downsville, was playing with the head of a dead chicken found in the yard, it was attacked by a rooster which flew upon the child and inbedded its spurs in the child's head so tightly that they pulled from the sockets. The spurs could not be extricated from the skull until they were cut in fragments.

Appointment.—Mr. Isaac T. Beard, formerly principal of the Williamsport public schools, has received an appointment in the United States Postal Service. His position is that of mail agent on the Western Maryland railroad between Baltimore and Hagerstown, with headquarters at the former city. Mr. Urner is at length awakening to the fact that there are other counties beside Frederick and Montgomery in the Sixth Congressional district.

Canine Concerts.—A minster residing in Sharpsburg has been regaled for a number of nights by a troupe of dogs immediality under his window, who assemble regularly and pour out their emotions in music. While the gentleman appreciates highly all the polite attentions he has received since coming into the community, yet he would rather take the kindly feelings of the animals for granted and dispense with these complimentary canine concerts.

A Freak of Nature.—Mr. George Kemp, residing at Funkstown, has a lot of potato-vines which for prolificness certainly cannot be excelled either in this county, or elsewhere, inasmuch as they are producing potatoes all along the vines from the roots up. In addition to the natural potato crop, which is excellent, perfect tubers are formed at intervals of about a half foot upon the stalks. To prove that these tubers contain the potato germ a number were sowed, which give every indication of sprouting and producing a perfect vine.

The Canal Presidency.—It was currently reported here yesterday, from what is deemed a reliable source, that the Presidency of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Company had been tendered to Mr. Henry Loveridge, president of the Maryland Coal Company, and peremptorily declined by that gentleman The Canal Company is known to be in greatly embarrassed circumstances, and under the present management unable to borrow a dollar for any purpose. It is said that the effort to get Mr. Loveridge to take charge of its affairs was made in the hope of reviving its credit.—Cumberland Mail

A Serious Fall.—On Saturday morning while Dr. A. A. Biggs was driving about two miles from Sharpsburg on the Williamsport road, his horse fell, throwing him from his sulky, which passed over his face and head. He laid in the road unconscious for some time, when he recovered sufficiently to drive home, his horse having stopped when the accident occurred. The Doctor's head, face and side were severely bruised, and he was deprived of the use of his left arm for several days. Although suffering considerably from the effects of the fall he has now nearly recovered.

The Hancock Bridge.—A gentleman from Hancock brings the information that the sum of $21,000 has been subscribed by citizens of that place toward the project of erecting a bridge across the Potomac, and that the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company has come to the relief of the citizens and promised to make up the deficiency—some ten or twelve thousand dollars. The railroad company will construct the bridge and have made the necessary surveys to that end. The benefit accruing to the company in the shipment of frieght over their road from that point will, it is expected, pay the company handsomely for their aid to the project.—Globe.

Union Depot.—The Hagerstown Daily News, of Saturday, says: Maj. Henry Fink, General manager of the East Tennessee Virginia and Georgia Air Line, of which the Shenandoah Valley is a part, was in town yesterday and in company with Superintendent Sands of the S. V. and Edward Mealey representing the proposed Union Depot Company of this place viewed several locations which were suggested as suitable sites for the Union Depot

Our people feel deeply interested in the success of the efforts which have been set on foot to secure a Union Depot and we trust that all the Companies will before long be induced to believe it to their interest to have the project successfully carried out.

Tall Corn.—Squire Boyer, residing at Mercerville, has a lot of corn that on Monday last measured over eight feet in height. The rapid growth of this corn was noted by his son, William H. Boyer, who states that after a rain it grew over four inches in height in twenty-four hours, by actual measurement, and in five consecutive days its growth was eighteen inches.

Death of an Old Citizen.—Mr. Jacob Irvin died at his residence on South Mechanic street, Sharpsburg, on Wednesday evening at 5 o'clock, aged seventy-four years. Mr. Irvin had been in failing health for a long time. He was employed for a number of years at Antietam Iron Works, where his great strength acquired for him the reputation of being one of the most muscular men in the neighborhood. Mr. Irvin, who was a member of Lagrange Lodge, No. 36, I. O. O. F., of Boonsboro, will be buried by the Order this evening at 4 o'clock.

Antietam Iron Works.—The report published in last week's ENTERPRISE of the sale of Antietam Iron Works was substantially correct. Since then we have ascertained the following particulars: An inventory of the most important personal property was taken, which amounted in value to about ten thousand dollars.—The entire price to be paid for the real and personal property is one hundred and ten thousand dollars. The agreement of sale and purchase has been signed and a forfeit paid. The sale will be consummated as soon as an abstract of title can be prepared. Possession will be given August 1, until which time, however, the purchaser is at liberty to make any repairs or improvements he may see fit.

Sun Stroke.—On Monday the 10th inst. Mr. Henry C. Burgan, one of the bosses on the Canal, was prostrated from the effects of the heat, while at work in a woods near Dam No. 4. Mr. Burgan had his two little sons with him at the time, and although badly frightened, one of them immediately started for ice to apply to his head, while the other made determined efforts to get his father home. Having rallied somewhat in a short time, Mr. Burgan reached home with the assistance of his son in a weak and exausted condition. Mr. Burgan although still very weak, is slowly improving, and we trust will soon recover entirely from the effects of the stroke.—News.

Election and Installation of Officers.—At a meeting of Cherokee Tribe, No. 21, Improved Order of Red Men, held last Friday evening, the following officers were elected and installed: Sachem—R. W. Grove; Senior Sagamore—Josiah Hill; Junior Sagamore—William Benner; Prophet—Benjamin Bender; Keeper of Wampum—Joseph Gloss; Chief of Records—James Hutson; Guard of Wigwam—John Mose; Guard of Forest—Andrew J. Marrow; First Warrior—Van S. Brashears; Second Warrior—John Benner; Finance Committee—William Benner, Van. S. Brashears and Josiah Hill; Widow and Orphan's Committee—Van S. Brashears, John Mose and Andrew J. Marrow.

Personals.—Mr. R. N. Monroe, of the Boonsboro Times, accompanied by his wife and child, Mr. P. S. Newcomer, wife and daughters, Misses Minnie and Lizzie, Miss Annie Monroe, of Boonsboro, and Misses Mamie and Maggie Dennis, of Indiana, visited Sharpsburg and Antietam National Cemetery.

Messrs. William Brashears and Henry Ward, who were on a visit to their families, have returned to roanoke, where they have been employed for a long time.

Mrs. J. E. Thomas, of Baltimore, is visiting her grandfather, Mr. Harry Rohrback.

Morgan S. Fisher left Sharpsburg on Wednesday for Ohio.

Mr. G. Finley Smith and lady were visiting at Mercersburg, Pa.

Friends of the Prisoners.—At the regular quarterly meeting of the Maryland Prisoners' Aid Association, held in Baltimore last Thursday night, the President, Mr. G. S. Griffith, submitted his report, in which he comments upon the Washington County jail and almshouse as follows: "In Washington county there were twelve prisoners in the jail. During the last six months there had been two hundred and fifty prisoners confined in the jail, an average of fifteen at one time—rather a large average for this county—to be accounted for on account of the toleration of the liquor traffic, Not many improvements had been made since my last visit, and the sanitary condition was not as good as desired. The grand jury of the county has condemned the jail as a nuisance, and a new one should be built. In Bellevue Almshouse there were one hundred and seven inmates, twenty-nine of whom were insane, or partially so. The sanitary condition is good.

A Williamsport Pugilist Arrested.—The Daily Globe of the 11th inst. says, "John Troxel, a residence of Williamsport, was arrested yesterday, charged with striking his wife in the mouth with his fist which, according to an act of the last Legislature, is an offence punishable at the whipping post. The offender in this case was taken before a magistrate in that place and after paying his fine and the attending costs, to the amount of $6.-10, he was held to bail for his appearance at Court, making a double deal on the part of the magistrate not usually practiced in the administering of justice. While there is a law defining clearly the penalty of a given number of lashes at the whipping-post for the practice of wife-beating in this State, the authorities are powerless to act in accordance with its provisions because they have not yet received the published laws for their guidance. Does the law in such cases make allowance for ignorance of the law?"

Sad Case of Suicide.—On Monday morning our usually quiet community was greatly surprised and shocked to learn that Mrs. Mary Bender had attempted to commit suicide under the following circumstances: Her husband, Mr. Charles Bender, was in the garden fixing up a swing for his little daughter, when he was called to the house by his wife, who informed him she had taken a dose of Paris green.—This was a little after nine o'clock in the morning. The family physician, Dr. A. A. Biggs, was immediately summoned, who did everything in his power to save her life, but without avail. She died about five o'clock the same evening after suffering the most excruciating agony. Before her death Mrs. Bender regretted her act, and implicitly obeyed the instructions of her physician in his efforts to expel the poison. She stated she had taken a teaspoonful—about two hundred and fifty or three hundred grains—enough to destroy the lives of several hundred persons. Up to the middle of the day she hoped for her recovery, but upon being informed that her situation was hopeless, she replied that she was ready to die, and was at peace with all the world. The only explanation that can be given of this most unfortunate affair is, that in a moment of despondency, caused by the condition in which she was at the time, she committed an act that she deeply deplored immediately after its execution.

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Bender was the daughter of Mr. John Highbarger and second wife of Mr. Charles Bender, and was the mother of one child, an infant, still living. At the time of her death she was 20 years, 9 months and 5 days old. Her funeral sermon was preached on Tuesday evening at 5 o'clock, in the Lutheran church, by Rev. C. A. Jones.

The sympathies of the entire community are with the bereaved husband and her family. Every attention that kindness could suggest was extended to them by sympathizing friends and neighbors.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

A Scene in the House—Robeson and Whitthorne Exchange Invective.

[From our regular correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 8, 1882.

Yesterday was what is termed a field day in Congress. Messrs. Robeson, of New Jersey, and Whitthorne, of Tennessee, gave expression to long pent feeling on the Naval question and personalities were hurled with a violence that reminded one of the days before the war.

On the question of reconstructing the Navy, Mr. Robeson held that it was far more necessary to maintain a complete Navy, than to contribute so liberally to an extraordinary growth of the army. The appropriations that were now being made for the support of the Navy, he claimed, were simply for the comfort and convenience of the officers and others who composed the personnel of that branch of the service. He then proceeded to reply to the newspaper attacks made upon him while he was Secretary of the Navy. He said that such attacks were malicious and libelous. He had been charged with an extravagant expenditure of the appropriations. This he denied most emphatically. Mr. Robeson was very earnest in his delivery, and was listened to with close attention, and more than once expressions were heard on various sides to the effect: "Thank Heaven, the old man has a chance at last."

While Mr. Robeson was closing the debate on the bill, at 12:30 o'clock, he took occasion to make some scathing remarks in referring to his administration of the Navy Department, and the reflections which have been cast upon it. He referred in the most scorching language to the action of the Forty-fourth Congress, which, under the Sage of Gramercy Park, came into power with the cry of reform, which sounded much like the rebel yell! and, without mentioning any name, referred to Mr. Whitthorne, of Tennessee, in the bitterest terms. Referring to the investigations undertaken by that Congress, and the men qualified to carry them on in the manner they were, he said: "If there was a man who was charged, whether true or false, with purloining the funds of his State——."

At this juncture Mr. Whitthorne stepped directly in front of Mr. Roberon and excitedly exclaimed: "That's a lie, and whoever reports it is a liar!" This created a roaring sensation, and every member sprang to his feet and rushed forward anticipating a personal set-to. Mr. Peelle, of Indiana, asked that the language be taken down. Mr. Robeson, waving a dissent with both hands, protested by saying: "Oh, never mind it. I have applied my language to no one. If any man feels it true let him step forward and acknowledge it." An exciting scene was that on the floor at this time, the confusion from which attracted the Sergeant-at-Arms to the floor, and his presence and the rattle of the Speaker's gavel soon quieted matters.

After the Naval bill had passed, Mr. Whitthorne arose and said that he made a personal application of Mr. Robeson's remarks, because the latter, true to his instincts, as when Secretary of the Navy, had been looking up the school fund matter of Tennessee. He said that he had never had any connection with the school fund. He said that he had been followed day and night by detectives from the Navy Department, who had made inquiries into his moral defects. These men claimed that they had a case, but it was an infamous lie. He had proposed to do his duty without fear or favor, and he was followed because he had done his duty as a member of the House. This explosion has been long expected from the unpleasantness that has existed, since the days of Grant's last term, between the ex-Secretary of the Navy and the ex-Chairman of the Democratic naval committee.
