WESTON'S WALK.

HE ACCOMPLISHES ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTEEN MILES WITHIN TWENTY-FOUR HOURS.

[From the New York Times of Tuesday.]

Edward Payson Weston yesterday accomplished the wonderful feat of walking 115 miles in twenty-three hours fifty minutes and forty-five seconds, in the American Institute Hall. The hall is well adapted for a trial of this kind. The circuit measures one-seventh of a mile.

Many distinguished professional and scientific gentlemen were present at 12:05 yesterday morning when Mr. Curtis gave the word "go." Mr. James Gordon Bennet started with Weston, and walked round the track several times. At the commencement Weston took 138 steps a minute, and during the race he mantained a pace varying from 138 to 160 steps a minute. Making short pauses after the completion of different stages, he pressed steadily on until at 4:24 P. M., when he had made eighty miles. At intervals he had taken refreshment while continuing his walk. This consisted of beef tea and coffee. He looked fresh and was in high spirits. The band enlivened the scene with music, and Weston was frequently cheered by the spectators. Up to this time several hundred persons had visited the hall and each fresh arrival seemed to give Weston new energy. After he had finished his eightieth mile, he was enveloped in a large cloak, and threw himself upon a couch which was placed opposite the judges' stand. His feet were raised to an angle of forty-five degrees by placing a chair under them, and his assistants began rubbing him down. One man sponged his wrists, another his head and face, while the third, with the palms of his hands, briskly rubbed his legs from his feet towards his body. In these trials of pedestrian endurance, Weston complains that the blood becomes stagnated, and a numb feeling creeps over his feet, ankles and legs. After two minutes rest he was up, and again resumed his walk. As it grew later the number of spectators increased and the interest in the success of the trial increased.

At forty-two minutes and forty-five seconds past eight Weston completed his hundredth mile. After a short rest he was again upon his feet and pushing forward toward the goal. The throng of people increased. It was estimated that during the evening about two thousand persons entered the hall, among whom were many ladies. About eight minutes of eleven he completed his one hundred and tenth mile, amid prolonged cheering. He was then wrapped in his cloak and assisted to his couch. His face was pale, and he evidently suffered from his great exertions. After being rubbed down he started on the last five miles. It was felt by his friends that he must make a great effort or he would fail. He made his first mile in twelve minutes and one second.—The second mile was finished in twelve minutes and twenty-three seconds, and the third in twelve minutes, and thirty-six seconds, and the fourth in thirteen minutes and twenty-four seconds. Weston had been slowly falling off in the time of his last two miles; but he took his watch from the nail, and with it in his hand began his last mile. It was rumored that there had been heavy betting against him, and to prevent accident three policemen accompanied him on the last mile. Intense excitement prevailed when Weston entered upon the homestretch of the last lap. He reached the winning post at 11 hours, 55 minutes, 58 seconds. He made another round and was taken to bed.

SOUTH CAROLINA.—Three separate reports have been made to Congress by members of the House Judiciary committee on the memorial of the South Carolina taxpayers. The majority report dismisses the memorial on the plea that Congress has no authority to act on it. The minority report asserts that it is the right and duty of Congress to act, whilst Messrs. Potter and Ward, dissenting from both reports, suggest that a committee of investigation be appointed as the best means of informing the country of the actual condition of South Carolina. The interposition of the Executive and of Congress in the local affairs of the Southern States has been the fruitful source of all the evils under which those States are now groaning. There is a simple and practical way of bringing about a salutary reform in South Carolina, if the President would consent to adopt it. He has only to dismiss from Federal office every man who is connected with the Radical faction in that State, and to distribute his patronage among the oppressed minority. Such a course might be followed without infringing in any manner the right of the States. It would mark the President's sense of the wrongs inflicted on the people of the States by unprincipled white men and their ignorant negro followers. It would indicate his abhorrence of their practices, and his determination to suppress them by such means as are legitimately within limits of his prerogative. In this way he might accomplish much good—for if Executive countenance and Executive influence were withdrawn from the Moses faction it would speedily fall to pieces, and honest men would take the place of the unprincipled rascals who for ten long years have ruled and rioted and fatttened on the substance of the people.—Balt. Gazette.

SUMMER OCEAN TRAVEL.—An unusual combination of circumstances will conspire this year to detain Americans on this side the ocean. The number of tourists is expected to fall at least thirty-three and possibly fifty per cent. short of that of a year ago. Indeed, says the New York Tribune, some who are well versed in the signs of the times see indications of a falling off in European travel even greater than fifty per cent. over that of last year. There can be no doubt that the panic of September last is the prime cause of this remarkable depression. Another cause which will materially reduce the throng of foreign tourists the present season is the absence of any special attraction in Europe, like the Vienna Exposition, during the coming months. Still another cause which will effect the ocean travel of the coming summer will be found in the fearful record of ocean disasters during the last six months. It is well known to the owners of the steamship lines that a single steamship horror like that of the Ville du Havre is not quickly forgotten, and that the terror it inspires will manifest itself for months with ocean travelers.

FROM OHIO.

The women's temperance war now raging in different parts of the country, particularly in the west, with such unparalleled success, recommends for persons who claim whiskey a necessity for medicinal purposes, to use Green's August flower, which contains no intoxicating spirits, and is a gentle laxitive, and a certain cure for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Indigestion, Costiveness, Sour Stomach, Sick Headache, coming up of the food after eating, purifies the Blood and System. Just what is needed in the Spring of the year by everybody. Try it. Sold by Druggists and Storekeepers throughout the county. STAM & BRO., Chestertown, wholesale agents.

DISLOYALTY AND DISHONESTY.—The manner in which all kinds of indecency and dishonesty endeavored, long after the late war, to shield itself, especially in the border States, under the guise of "loyalty," is too well known to be forgotten. It is well to note, therefore, that the New York Tribune thinks that it will not be enough to silence an opponent hereafter to insinuate that he was disloyal in 1860. The charge of treason has been too much used of late years by our orators and has lost much of its effect in that way. Political corruption occupies the conspicuous place to-day, the editor says, which secession occupied thirteen years ago, and you cannot any longer make loyalty as live an issue as honesty. Political loyalty has done tremendous service for good and ill. Passionate and credulous patriotism has, from 1863 to the present time, been trained and drilled to do the work of as bad a breed of politicians as history describes. It is a natural result of seeing thieves thriving by the loyalty of voters, that public sentiment is becoming nervous about accepting politicians merely upon their professions of devotion to the American flag. This devotion, says the editor, is an excellent thing at all times, and especially when it is needed. But just now a dose of honesty is more required by the condition of the country. And it is highly probable that it will be more damaging to a candidate in the coming elections to be suspected a thief than to be proved a Copperhead.

THIRTY years ago a young man entered the city of New York in an almost penniless condition, and without a single acquaintance in the great wilderness of houses. Today his name is known wherever humanity breathes It is spoken in every city, and is as familiar to the workers in the factory as to his brothers in the mill, and wherever language is known and ideas expressed the name of this penniless, unknown and uncouched lad of thirty years ago, is uttered. It is John Smith.
