London Sept. 23. 1857

My dear Sir

Your letter from Doncaster reached me two days since & as your friend Mr Peabody says you will probably be in London I will be unnecessary to forward this to you. I called at Mr Beckwith but received no information as regards the "key" he said however that the lock might be "picked" without injury to it.

Mr Williams has left London & you will no doubt be surprised to learn that he receive of Mr R. about $3100 in full thus given him the check thus thus adopt your suggestion. I have not been able to ascertain the relationship of Mrs R. to Mrs Barney

Mr Dixon sent me the Dictionary bound in "Calf". at £2.10. I shall send it to Mr Coates. & the amt you can leave with him or Mr Dixon Worcester.

I shall leave London for a few days, the pleasure of seeing you again before you

With great respect I am
Your ob t Sl
Wm Foley

Jeremiah J. Emory
London