lies on the table till the State directors come. I was not known contract with this; though I consented the statement should not be published to the board, I was determined that Wadsworth's designs should be known to the board; and I thought proper communicated to them individually the true condition of that contract; and there is I think no danger to be apprehended on that score. In fact they see through him now and will watch him close. The statement I prepared I would send you as it gives the clearest idea of the contract but it is so long that the postage would be too much for you with. I will show it to you when you come down. It would startle one less acquainted with Tackle than you are.
