Friday night — 6 —

Indeed my Dear Lister yr unceasing kindness calls for more gratitude than pen & paper can convey — all I can say is, that I hope I shall never appear ungrateful, and that the day will yet come when we can reciprocate these kind attentions —. The Package of Paper really amused me — for I assure you I did not need such a right down bribe, to induce me to write to you — if you have not told yrself I shall be very thankful for it — the mutton is such as I have not seen since I left yr table, and the Noble Ham is a great treat = but really I am growing quite modest & feel ashamed to send Jar & tub as do you request — however it is too tempting to be declined — the tub is not the same you sent — the woman who I sent to last spring for some lard either exchanged the vessels on purpose or lost mine —

I did not write last week for really I was so dead tired with ironing &c — while Nancy's being ill in her bed compelled me to do — that I was at it unable to any thing — I was three hours this morning but have got a little used & do not feel it — by the way I made James write to Harrison & say we could not continue to pay wages for Nancy — she is really of no earthly use & it is quite enough to give her a home & clothe her & her child — he has not replied to it — but certainly I will not do it — their wages are not yet paid — but I can do it next spring — he never

he learned his Election —

I must leave you — My dear Sister — I wish I was near enough to help you with yr work — I am quite a lady as respects sewing for tho' Ellen & I do all — yet now that the children are fixed I have nothing to do but darn stockings — I believe I will set up some Cotton knitting — I have not made even a Calico wrapper since the blue one I made at yr house

Mrs Dr Wilson of Westfield
Queen Anne —

Mrs Ann Lawson
Dec. 1826 —
Letter
Singer

last fall — hair not worn well?

Give my love to Mr L & the girls —

Ben says do write her a letter, she would not give thanks for a half one — she is a saucy Slut — very truly yrs

Ann —