you may rely upon the best advice I am capable of, and every help that can be given, compatible with the duties I owe my family. In the mean time I unequivocally think, you ought to meet your trials with firmness and resolution, and not aggravate misfortune by adding to it unhappiness.

I am, Dear, very affly

Yr mo: ob: Svt.

Wm. J: Earle

Needwood
1 apr: 1829.