Has the bearing of the fact that independently of the Constitution of the U S which makes the citizens of each State citizens of every other, Mr Tilghman & myself were born in Maryland, ever occured to you? – and does it not seem incongruous that native born citizens should be excluded from the operation of the laws of the State? –

When you write I wish you would send me the accounts you returned for correction in Septr –

I presume you are somewhat reconciled to the President by his proclamation – we are in an awful crisis – Pennsylvania at least will never consent to abandon her policy at the command of a set of factious disorganizers –

Yours with great regard & respect

B. Chew
