Getting Money.

The most important day in the career of any young man is the day on which he fancies there is some better way to make money than to earn it; for from that feeling springs the many extravagant and visionary schemes which are indulged in for the purpose of gaining a livelihood without labor. When a young man becomes thoroughly infected with this feeling, he is ready to adopt any means for the accomplishment of his object; and if his plans are frustrated and he is foiled in his efforts upon the very crest of the wave he has already mounted, and in full view, is the temptation to crime, to shield him from the disgrace he thinks must inevitably follow in the wake of defeat. To those he yields, and the first thing he realizes is to find himself the violator of the law, a criminal in the eyes of the communisy, and an inmate of the prison, waiting trial, all brought about for the want of a little manly firmness in the outset of life to prompt him to choose an avocation in life where the penny earned would bring with it its sure reward. Then let our young men spurn the idea of obtaining money without rendering an equivalent; let them be ready and willing to occupy positions in life which will give them the best possible opportunity to develop their natural talent, and do good to others while helping themselves. In this way we may have a nation of noble men and women, which shall be a source of profit and pleasure to us, and an object of wonder and admiration to the world.

A Correspondent of the New York Tribune, writing from Constantinople, states that the Turks are greatly impressed with some dismal prophecies in regard to the extinction of the religion of the Koran:

The Moslems have borrowed just enough from the Old and New Testaments to get matters into worse confusion than Dr. Cumming and Millerites on the subject of the latter day. Many years ago some of their prophets issued a sheet containing dire predictions of the latter-day signs and omens. It is called Kelabel Jefr—the Book of Jefr—and contains nonsense enough to set up a new Mormon prophet. It declares that "the Turkish dynasty will end with a Sultan named Murad; that after 30 battles by land and sea the Turks will go down. * * * The Christian religion will grow lukewarm in 1845. It will have no shepherd until 1886, when all men shall believe in Christ, and in 1890 anti-Christ will appear, and then the sun and moon will be blotted out." The book is full of obscure and absurd astrological allusions, all in rhyme, and large portions of it are familiar to the people, who repeat it in the coffee houses and in their gatherings. The Moslems, who are grossly superstitious, are full of forbodings about the Sultan Murad, and declare that he will be the last, or among the last, and many of them believe that these are "the last days" of the Koran and of Islam itself. In many places they are downcast and despairing, and the impression is almost universal among them that they are on the eve of great changes. It is one of the fixed traditions of their faith that before the last days the "Koran itself will be swept away."

Some Interesting Dates.—Dates are generally dry reading, but there is sometimes a significance in the grouping of dates, and the reader will find such significance in an attentive consideration of the following events, all occurring, he will observe, within the limits of a little over a century. Postoffices were established in 1764; printed musical notes were first used in 1476; America was discovered in 1492; the first printing press was set up at Copenhagen in 1493; Copernicus announced his discovery of the true system of the universe in 1517; Alber Durer gave the world a prophecy of future wood engraving in 1527; Jergens set the spinning-wheel in motion in 1530; the germ of all the busy wheels and looms of ten thousand future factories; modern needles first came into use in 1546; the first knives were used in England, and the first weeled carriages in France in 1559; the first newspaper was published in England in 1588; telescopes were invented in 1590; Spencer, Shakespeare, Bacon, Kepler, Tycho, Brahe, were contemporaries in 1590—these are some of the more important headlands of European history within a single century.

Sowing Clover Seed.—The old-fashioned plan of sowing clover seed on snow during this month, when a timely one happens to fall, is a good one. It can then be sown with great regularity, and as the snow melts it is carried down into the crevices and cracks of the earth, which close up as the frost escapes and the rains fall. If not sown in this way, it is well to defer until all of the frost is out of the ground, and then, sowing on the wheat and rye fields, harrow in with a light harrow. This not only covers the cloverseed, but benefits the grain plants; and if a roller is passed over both, it will be so much the better. The large or sappling clover ripens later than the more common sort, and some think it more valuable in every respect. A gallon of seed to the acre is sufficient for most soils.

A Vermont man has advertised a card in the paper in his town which reads: "Some people have the vulgar habit of calling me Bill; that is not my name, nor any part of it. My name is William Palmer. I forgive all past offenses, but if any person ever calls me Bill after the publication of this letter, I shall take it as a downright insult, and just as much of an insult as though he had called me by any other hateful name that is not my own."

In eleven counties in Maryland, there are now agricultural societies. These counties are among the most prosperous in the State. Have the societies been the means of promoting their prosperity? If this is so, let us get up one here. Five dollars invested in this way will pay us a hundred fold better than fifty dollars squandered in coal ashes and sand perfumed with sulphuretted hydrogen.—Charles County Advertiser.

The rapid displacement of iron by steel, not only in great structural undertakings, but in minor uses, is one of the most marked industrial features of the day.

A Remarkable Result.

It makes no difference how many Physicians, or how much medicine you have tried, it is now an established fact that German Syrup is the only remedy which has given complete satisfaction in severe cases of Lung Diseases. It is true there are yet thousands of persons who are predisposed to Throat and Lung Affections, Consumption, Hemorrhages, Asthma, Severe Colds settled on the Breast, Pneumonia, Whooping Cough, &c., who have no personal knowledge of Boschee's German Syrup, to such we would say that 50,000 done were sold last year without one complaint. Consumptives try just one bottle. Regular size 75c. Sold by C. F. Sias, Chestertown, and F. M. Goodrow, Millington.

An Editor's Ruse.

A Western editor who had considerable curiosity to know how many more readers he had than subscribers, took the following neat plan to satisfy his mind: Just before court week he put a notice in his columns to the effect that he would present a "beautifully illustrated calendar and farmer's almanac" to every reader of his paper who would call at his office on a certain day. The day came, and from morning until night you would have thought that editor was setting out a perpetual free lunch. The first man who came in said his name was Winkleton, and when the editor told him there was no such name on his subscription books, Winkleton said he knew it; that "corn was so low he couldn't afford to take a paper, but that he borrowed his neighbor's." And so it continued the day through, and when night came and the editor counted up the returns, he found he had three hundred subscribers and about seven hundred readers, with several districts to hear from. Then that editor was mad, and he sat himself down and wrote a column editorial on newspaper borrowers, that made their very hair stand on end, and more than one half of them came in the next week and subscribed, and every one of them is now ready to "raise the roof off the house" if the Weekly Hornpipe happens to stray over to a neighbor's house.

The magnitude of our present ice trade is not the least of the wonders of a wonderful age. It is now said that the ice crop on the Hudson river alone for this season will reach three million of tons—almost as many tons of ice as the country raises bales of cotton. The greater part of this immense yield is already secured. Hence the houses are filled, and the overplus is "stacking" outside. The calculation is that the stacked ice will last through the summer, so that when the fall comes the houses will still be full. This is a state of things that never occurred before, and those persons interested in the trade are naturally jubilant. The ice crop of the Hudson river has nearly doubled in six years, and there are employed in harvesting it more than twelve thousand men and about nine hundred horses.

In our style of climate with its sudden changes of temperature, rain, wind and sunshine, often intermingled in a day, is it any wonder that our children, friends and relations are taken from us by neglected colds? half the deaths resulting directly from this cause. A bottle of Leary's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar, kept about the house for immediate use, will often prevent serious sickness, a large doctor bill and sometimes death by the use of it. For the cure of Hemorrhage, Pneumonia, severe Cough, Colds and Croup, or any diseases of the Throat and Lungs; its success is wonderful; ask your druggist for it; only 35 cts. a bottle. mar 1-2t.

Beet Sugar.—S. B. Cooper, Esq., presented to us a sample of beet sugar, this week, which was manufactured in the State of Maine. We tested it in our tea, and think it superior to any granulated sugar sold in this town. Its granules are clear, and none of it powdered up as is the case with other sugar. From tests recently made, it was shown that a good yield was had by all who tried the experiment, and this branch of industry, if properly conducted, would save to the State annually many thousands of dollars. The sample can be seen at this office.—Delawarean, Dover.

The report of the Columbus, Ohio, board of education contains this wise passage from the address of its president: "We believe teachers should be paid salaries which will enable them to devote their leisure hours to study and to preparation for school duties. It has been the aim of our board to do this." The growth of this spirit among the school boards of this country would do more for the public schools than the introduction of the countless new branches that are on the way to hinder all practical instruction.

A Humiliating Confession.—The New York Evening Post, in commenting on the case of the two highwaymen who robbed a lady of her ear rings in broad daylight on Fifth avenue, in that city, makes the humiliating confession that "the streets of the city, even in open day, are as unsafe as an unfrequented road in Mississippi was when John A. Murrell was a power; as unsafe as the English moors were in Dick Turpin's time."

In Maine, as affects of the prohibitory law, the poor-house, jails and penitentiaries are almost vacant. Taxes are light and, notwithstanding the general financial depression, the value of property in that State has been steadily on the increase. The school attendance is larger in proportion to the population than in any other State.

A Handsome Income

For an Energetic Lady or Gentleman. The Ohio Scale Works of Cincinnati have just completed and are now introducing to the public a handsomely finished Family Scale, an article that has always been needed in every household, and in a communication addressed to the publishers of this paper the proprietors ask us to refer them to some reliable party, to introduce it for them to the people of this county. It is very seldom that a new article steps so suddenly into universal favor,—Housekeepers are loud in its praise, it is always ready, there are no weights to get lost or to be hunted up, is reliable, and will not get out of order. The description of them is a handsome base surmounted by a column in which works a spiral spring so scientifically adjusted as to weigh anything up to twelve pounds with perfect accuracy. On the top of the column is the platform on which the articles to be weighed are placed, and they have an adjustable indicator so that you can take the tare of any vessel you may use in weighing, giving you the exact net weight. Housekeepers at once see their value in weighing fruits, sugars, &c., in preserving, cooking, &c., or in testing the weights of purchases.

The Scales are made of all brass, are highly polished and are finished in a skillful manner.

They are very attractive and take the eye of every one who sees them.

It seems to us that nearly every family in Kent will want one, and is certainly a rare opportunity for some smart and energetic party to pick up a nice little income. Agents in other counties easily make from $5 to $6 per day selling them, and parties in need of employment should drop the OHIO SCALE WORKS, No. 125 and 127 Central Avenue, Cincinnati, O., a Postal Card, and all information, etc., will be cheerfully given them by mentioning this paper. fe8-4t.

Notice!

THE subscriber has this day taken his Son as a Partner in the LUMBER BUSINESS, and he desires all unsettled accounts and over due notes settled up to the above date; if there are any persons so indebted to the subscriber, who have not the money, a settlement may be made by a confession of judgment for the amount due. By complying with the above request speedily, they will much oblige and save me the unpleasantness of compelling by legal process.

HALE'S
HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR
Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Difficult Breathing, and all Affections of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes, and Lungs, leading to Consumption.

This infallible remedy is composed of the Honey of the plant Horehound, in chemical union with Tar-Balm, extracted from the Life Principle of the forest tree Abeis Balsamea, or Balm of Gilead.

The Honey of Horehound soothes and scatters all irritations and inflammations, and the Tar-balm cleanses and heals the throat and air passages leading to the lungs. Five additional ingredients keep the organs cool, moist, and in healthful action. Let no prejudice keep you from trying this great medicine of a famous doctor who has saved thousands of lives by it in his large private practice.

N.B.—The Tar-Balm has no bad taste or smell.

JOHN N. DODD,
UNDERTAKER.

NOTICE.

REDUCTION IN PRICES.

I AM still at the old stand established by my father, the late John. T. Dodd, over 40 years ago as the leading Undertaker of this community, which reputation I intend to keep so far as quality, design, price, polite attention, &c., on my part is concerned. I want it distinctly understood that I make a SPECIALTY of Undertaking, keeping a large stock of Coffins, Caskets, and Burial Cases of all kinds always on hand, and I am prepared to furnish them upon the shortest notice possible, at prices much below ANY ONE ELSE engaged in the business in this vicinity. I can do this because I am at less expense than others, and I guarantee full satisfaction in every case, both as regards quality and price.

☞ When away on other business, orders may be left with my mother, who resides next door to the shop, and they will receive equal attention as if left with me in person, as she thoroughly understands the business in every particular. I will allow nothing else to interfere with the prompt and efficient execution of all orders with which I am favored.

JOHN N. DODD,
sep21-tf. Undertaker.
