SATURDAY - - - - MARCH 15, 1879.

THE LAST OF THE CARPET-BAGGERS.—The adjournment of Congress witnessed an exodus of carpet-baggers from the United States Senate. With the termination of the Forty-fifth Congress Patterson, Conover, Spencer, Dorsey, Chaffee and Mitchell stepped down from the lofty positions of United States Senators into the small position of Southern carpet-baggers. Their retirement from public life leaves but one carpet-bagger in the Senate, and it will not be long before Kellogg's place will know him no more. The whole country has reason to rejoice that the representative of a scandalous political regime have at length ceased to disgrace the national Senate chamber by their presence.

Without regard to section, this final act in the career of carpet-bagism must be regarded with satisfaction. It was not only the South that was misrepresented by the presence of these men in the Senate, but the whole nation was misrepresented along with her. Their elevation to political positions which were once considered as the rewards of only the highest talent and loftiest patriotism did not speak well for our institutions, and seemed to indicate that we were already on the downward road that has led to the graves of so many republics.

The retirement of the misrepresentatives from the South, therefore, is not only a triumph for decency and respectability, but is an important vindication of the strength and stability of the best principles of our government. The friends of free institutions must receive encouragement from results which prove that, though even under our form of government the worst elements may sometimes gain a temporay victory, the better nature of the Republic will always assert itself in the end. The nearly total disappearance of the carpet-bagger from the Senate may be taken as a sign that the country is returning to something like its former state, and that politics in the South have resumed a normal and healthy condition.—Baltimore Bulletin.

SENSIBLE TALK TO COLORED PEOPLE.—A delegation of colored members of the North Carolina House of Delegates waited upon Gov. Jarvis, last week, and complained that the Legislature had failed to elect any of their race to fill vacancies in the commission of magistrates. In reply the Governor talked to them very plainly but kindly. He said a moment's consideration should convince the colored people of the wisdom of the action of the Legislature in electing white men only to be justices of the peace; the lack of education among the colored people was an insurperable bar to competency for filling an office of so much dignity. Gov. Jarvis expressed his personal and official interest in the colored people, and said the State could not do without them; the best feeling prevailed between the two races, and every reason existed to prosper and propitiate this mutual good will. The colored legislators took in good part what had been said to them, and withdrew after pleasant expressions of regard for Governor Jarvis.

IN an interview with a New York Herald reporter, Hon. D. M. Henry, of this State, recently said: "I think I can safely say that the Maryland sentiment is anti-Tilden." Ex-Governor Swann said: "I think that Tilden is out of the question." Hon. E. J. Henkle said: "The sentiment of Maryland is largely against Tilden." Hon. Charles B. Roberts declined to commit himself. Hon. William Kemmel, of Baltimore, said: "Sir, I consider it no less than treason to attempt in advance to dive the party into faction fights or set up the pins in any one man's interest. Wait until the time comes, and then unite on any man we can elect over Grant or any one else they choose to nominate. My platform is very simple—any Democrat is better to me than a Republican. That's all I have to say."

THE following facts will give some idea of the work necessary to the printing of a single copy of the New York Herald. Last Sunday a quintriple sheet of the Herald was issued, to meet the demands of advertisers, who occupied sixty-eight columns of space. As fourteen stereotype plates are made of each page of the Herald, its issue of last Sunday required two hundred and eighty plates, each weighing fifty pounds; for the full set fourteen thousand pounds, or seven tons of metal from which to print this single edition. Besides all this, about three millions of pieces of type were picked up, one at a time, by compositors to prepare the pages for the stereotypers, and more than a hundred and fifty men were required to set the type, make the plates and print the paper.

CONNECTICUT, not wishing to be behind other States, has passed a most stringent tramp law. It is provided that every person begging, or strolling through the country living on alms, shall be regarded as a tramp and be sent to the State Prison for two years; that entering dwellings or kindling fires by the roadside or on private premises, the carrying of dangerous weapons, malicious injury to property, &c., shall be offences punishable by more severe penalties, even to five years imprisonment. Sheriffs and other officers shall receive $5, for each arrest and conviction, and towns may appoint special officers to hunt tramps. This bill was adopted by the judiciary Committee in preference to one re-establishing the whipping post as a penalty for tramps.

D. T. CORBIN, of South Carolina, was paid $10,000 by the U. S. Senate for contesting the seat of Senator M. C. Butler. The New York World says that $10,000 is a large sum for a carpet-bagging South Carolina politician of Caucasian descent to aspire to in these days. The Republicans did themselves no credit at all by voting to pay Corbin's bill. When a contestant has a tolerable case it is proper that his reasonable expenses should be paid. When his "case" consists of nothing but his own impudence, as Corbin's did, all his expenses are unreasonable, and Corbin's claim for $10,000 was simply monstrous.

THAT talented lobbyist, odd-jobber and hanger-on about Congress, William E. Chandler, has written an able letter to the New York Tribune in which he portrays in lurid style the inevitable destruction which awaits the Democratic party. This Assistant Presidency Stealer bases his direful prognostication on the theory that, having abundant rope now the Democrats will proceed to hang themselves. This is a good theory in the general way but it doesn't always hold good. Mr. Chandler has had abundant rope of late years and he has carefully refrained from hanging himself—much to the regret of all honest people.—Balto. Gazette.

THE New York Evening Express is in favor of the expulsion of that "unscrupulous, conscienceless political adventurer, William Pitt Kellogg, who represents nobody in the United States Senate."

THE CABLE "SILVER WEDDING."—The anniversary of the laying of the first Atlantic cable was celebrated at the residence of Cyrus W. Field in New York on Monday night last. Mr. Field made an address, in which he said: "Twenty-five years ago this evening in this house, in this room and on this table, and at this very hour, was signed the agreement to form the New York, Newfoundland and London telegraph company, the first company ever formed to lay an ocean cable. It was signed by five persons, four of whom, Peter Cooper, Moses Taylor, Marshall O. Roberts and myself, are here to-night. The fifth, Mr. Chandler White, died two years after, and his place was taken by Mr. Wilson G. Hunt, who is also present. Those who applaud our success know little through what struggles it was obtained. We had little help from outside, for few had any faith in our enterprise. But not a man deserted the ship; all stood by it to the end. To-day there are over 70,000 miles of cable crossing the seas and oceans. And, as if it were not enough to have messages sent with the speed of lightning, they must be sent in opposite directions at the same moment." The announcement was made by Mr. Field that he had just received from the King of the Sandwich Islands concessions looking to the laying of a cable from San Francisco to Honolulu and thence to Japan. When that is done the famous girdle that Puck proposed to place around the earth will be an accomplished fact.

A FUNNY SCENE was witnessed a few days ago in the federal court at Danville, Va., the judge of which (Rives,) it will be recollected, recently instructed his grand jury to indict a number of country judges for not putting colored men on the juries. A colored man named Gravely was indicted for selling liquor without license. When he saw the jury before which he was to be tried, about equally divided between white and black, he exclaimed, "For God Almighty sake don't let them niggers try me!" Efforts were made to pacify him, but he never became reconciled. He insisted that "niggers would hang a man just to see him kick."

ROBT. H. BOSMAN, of Somerset county, was recently overhauled by a police boat while dredging in Wicomico river for a mess of oysters in an open boat. He attempted to escape and a brisk fire was opened upon him. He lay down in the boat, holding the tiller with his hand. First one hand, and then the other, was pierced by the shot, and it was only when the halyard of his sail was shot away that he was captured. He has been held to answer, and is suffering very much from the wounds received.

SAMUEL VICKERS was killed by lightning, on Saturday evening last, while returning from the mill to his home, on Maple Ridge, Tioga county, Pa. His horses were also killed. All were found dead on Sunday morning by the young man's father, lying in the snow on the road, a few rods from his home. The only mark on the young man was a small dent on his foahead.

MRS. AGNES D. JENKS is now a recognized feature of the Administration, having her rootlets in the Treasury Department. The Star says she can be seen promenading Pennsylvania avenue any afternoon.

A TREE was cut in Alleghany county last week which measured 18 feet in circumference, and at the height of 75 feet measured 6¼ feet in circumference.
