The Kent News.

SATURDAY.....................NOV. 8, 1879.

HON. ZACHARIAH CHANDLER, of Michigan, died suddenly last Saturday morning in Chicago. In his death the Republican party has lost its boldest leader. He was a man of strong impulses, good judgment, quick in resources and prompt in action, a ruler of men, warm in his affections and bitter in his hatreds. He lived untainted with personal corruption while stealing was going on all around him, and he scorned the petty hypocricies of those who stole while preserving an air of virtue. He rose from poverty to wealth by business sagacity, and he used his wealth for power. That which gave him his force was his deep seated hatred of the South. Some Republican leaders affect a hatred of the South while preserving warm personal friendships with Southerners, but Chandler's hatred was genuine, malignant and intense. He enjoyed his hatred as he did his whiskey and the stimulants that softened the wrath of some inflamed his. It was the genuineness of his brutality that enabled decent Republicans to tolerate it and even to feel a certain regard for him. They loved to see him bully the "Rebel Brigadiers" and "denounce Jeff Davis." Mr. Chandler was not an intellectual man. He will be remembered as the engineer and director of the scheme which deprived the people of this country of their lawfully elected President—as the principal in an act which, next to Arnold's treason, stands out as the most atrocious blot upon the history of the United States.

MAJOR-GENERAL JOSEPH HOOKER died on Friday of last week, at Garden city, L. I., aged sixty-four years. He was born at Hadley, Massachusetts, graduated at West Point in 1837, served in the Mexican war with distinction, being successfully breveted captain, major and lieutenant-colonel for gallantry and meritorious conduct on the field, and afterwards became a farmer in California. When the civil war between the States broke out Gen. Hooker accepted the position of brigadier-general of volunteers, and took command of a brigade detailed to watch the lower Potomac on the Maryland side. In March, 1862, he was commissioned to the command of a division, took part in the leading fights on the peninsula, and certainly with his division bore the brunt of the battle at Antietam. After Burnside's defeat at Fredericksburg Gen. Hooker succeeded him in command of the army of the Potomac, and suffered such a severe defeat at Chancellorville that it is quite probable his army would have been totally destroyed or captured entire but for the wounding of Stonewall Jackson. Gen. Hooker was afterwards sent West, and took a distinguished part in the battle of Lookout Mountain. His later services do not need particular mention.

A QUARREL BETWEEN TWO WIDOWS.—A curious quarrel between two widows, who claimed to have the right to decorate the grave of a man named Lispis, in a St. Louis cemetery, has involved the superintendent of graves in a grave criminal charge. It transpires that widow 1 drove widow 2 away from the grave; that the superintendent, enamoured of widow 2, gave her a burial plot, and secretly removed the remains of Lispis to it. Thus widow 1 went on to decorate an empty grave, while widow 2 had the real grave to herself. Widow 2 could not keep so pleasing a victory to herself, and the story got out. The superintendent frightened, by this publicity, slyly returned the remains to their first resting place, and declared that they had never been disturbed. Widow 2 got angry at him for this act and, told all to the police. An investigation followed and he is to be tried on a charge of grave robbery.

SUICIDE FROM FEAR OF PARALYSIS.—Chauncey Barnes, a sailmaker, of Brooklyn, N. Y., died Monday from the effects of a wound in the head, where he shot himself Sunday evening. A week ago he had a stroke of paralysis, and on Sunday again complained of feeling unwell, and said to his wife that he he was afraid he was going to have another attack, and that if he was certain of it he would shoot himself. Towards evening he appeared to be more composed, and his wife went down stairs to get supper ready. A few moments later she heard the report of a pistol, and going up stairs, found that her husband had shot himself through the head. To the surprise of the physicians who were called he remained alive seven hours, although the bullet has passed through his brain.

HIGH TAXES.—It is said that taking the whole State of Kansas the average of taxation is $3 12 on the $100. In Reno county the taxes, State, county, school and municipal, aggregate $5 81; in Bartow, $5 11; in Lincoln it is $5 60, and in quite a number of counties the rate runs above four dollars on the hundred. This is a poor showing for the colored people who have emigrated there with the hope of becoming property holders. Perhaps they move there, however, as being a good place for such as have no possessions.

CONGRESSMAN GARFIELD seems to have a sure thing on the Ohio senatorship. A partial canvass of the members-elect of the Legislature has been made with reference to the choice for United States Senator to succeed Mr. Thurman. Of sixty republican Senators and Representatives interviewed thirty-four are for Garfield. This two-thirds of the entire number and twelve less than a majority of the republican caucus. The others are divided between Sherman, Taft, Dennison, Matthews, Eggleston and others.

GRANT grows waggish now and then. As his steamer was approaching Portland, Oregon, the other day, the docks along the whole city front was filled with multitudes of people, seeing which he remarked: "I think this demonstration must be in honor of Mrs. Grant. When I landed her twenty-seven years ago not half a dozen people met the steamer."

MRS. GRANT says that the General once lost all his money in a potato speculation. He paid $750 for 150 bushels of potatoes, planted them, expecting to make a large profit, but when they were ripe potatoes were too cheap to pay for the digging.

SENATOR LAMAR's mother, a venerable woman of seventy-seven years, died at her home in Vineville, Ga., a few days ago. Her intellectual attainments were of the highest order.

SOME Philadelphia democrats have begun to talk of Gov. McClellan as a presidential candidate next year.

THERE were two inches of snow at Frostburg, Md., Monday morning.

HOW M[illegible]AS CARRIED.

MORE OF REPU[illegible] METHODS AT THE LAST ELECTIONS—[illegible] USE OF MONEY ACKNOWLEDGE[illegible]LAINE'S STRIKERS.

The Boston [illegible] continues its exposure of Repu[illegible] methods in Maine at the last elec[illegible] and m[illegible]ch comment is caused by th[illegible]ations made. Blaine and other le[illegible] are said to be very much exerci[illegible] know how much the investigatio[illegible] ir State has really developed. [illegible] the most important points yet [illegible] ublic is the story of an interview wi[illegible] K. Hall, Representative elect fr[illegible] New Castle districts, who having [illegible] convinced that the interviewer w[illegible] ood Republican, freely confessed th[illegible] and other men in his district [illegible] ought votes at prices ranging fro[illegible] cents to fifteen dollars apiece. Th[illegible] ing letter from James G. Blaine, [illegible] Mr. Hall confessed to having rece[illegible] also published:

"See [illegible] even in your district, and find out ho[illegible] going to vote. If he is a Repub[illegible] weak-kneed see what will strength[illegible]. If he is a Democrat or Greenba[illegible] what will induce him to vote wi[illegible] Make up a statement of the amo[illegible] money which you will need for [illegible] penses, and forward at once. [illegible]ed) James G. Blaine.

Letters [illegible] to this and signed by Mr. Blain[illegible] to have been sent to confidenti[illegible] kers all over the State.

Anothe[illegible] esting interview was had with a ma[illegible] he name of Herbert. He said it too[illegible] work and a great deal of money [illegible] the last election in Maine, bu[illegible] it had been done in a thoroughl[illegible] iness-like manner. Continuing [illegible]: "Out of our town there wer[illegible] many that had to be bought; [illegible] cost us a good deal less than mos[illegible] here else. Why, I didn't pay over[illegible] piece for some of the worst of them, [illegible] good many I got for a day's wo[illegible] He further said he paid the mone[illegible] self as the representative of James G[illegible] ne. On Monday morning will be p[illegible] another chapter devoted to the c[illegible] Lewiston and the town of Auburn, [illegible] droscoggin county. Of the discover[illegible] these places the report says: In the b[illegible] ing of the year 1875 the forty (o[illegible] abouts) liquor dealers here voted fo[illegible] ocrats. It is now claimed that at t[illegible] municipal election Lewiston's cit[illegible] ernment was elected from the Rep[illegible] party by the intimidation of the n[illegible] nds, the casting of illegal votes a[illegible] e use of money.

The [illegible] licans put all the machinery of the [illegible] bitory law into operation, secured [illegible] indictment of nearly all of the liqu[illegible] alers, and then, not pressing them t[illegible] held the indictment over their h[illegible] thus forcing them to vote contrar[illegible] their previous record. At the tim[illegible] ust prior to the time that W. P. Fry[illegible] elected to Congress one Michae[illegible] Ward had been imprisoned for viol[illegible] of the United States revenue law. [illegible] tition of an agreement was then d[illegible] up, which stated that the signers[illegible] agree to vote the Republican tic[illegible] that election and the ensuing electio[illegible] as a reward for such sale of votes M[illegible] H. Ward should be released from c[illegible] ment, and his fine should be remitt[illegible] By this means and by the means [illegible] reats made to those over whose [illegible] the indictments hung, one h[illegible] Democrats (the number which [illegible] was stipulated was necessary to sec[illegible] ard's release) were secured, and W[illegible] is claimed and as can be shown [illegible] released without the form of either [illegible] or trial.

At [illegible] dozen men, who keep what may [illegible] lled open bars in Lewiston, have [illegible] and do say openly, and they have [illegible] of arrest, even if a seizure should [illegible] ow, because of the fact that they [illegible] agreed to vote the Republican ticket [illegible] because the officials dare not press [illegible], on account of what they might [illegible] so far as intimidation goes.

[illegible] New York Election.

Ro[illegible]'s plurality in New York city is 13[illegible] in a poll of 148,958 ballots, of which [illegible] 262 were cast for John Kelly. Pott[illegible] total vote, for Lieutenant Gov[illegible] ernor the city is 98,727, and his majority [illegible] 792. Mr. Kelly, though he has succ[illegible] ly assailed the head of the democrat[illegible] ket, has failed in his local campaig[illegible] elected nothing but a minority alder[illegible] at large and six other aldermen. The Tammany county ticket is success[illegible] throughout, the candidates for sheri[illegible] and county clerk having from 6,00[illegible] 8,000 votes to spare, and Mr. Gun[illegible] on, for whose sake in part Mr. Kell[illegible] s been laboring to defeat his part[illegible] ll retire from the public gaze for a[illegible] manency. Mr. Cornell (rep.) succ[illegible] for Governor by the drawing off votes [illegible] m Robinson by Mr. Kelly. Althou[illegible] lected, there is a majority against him [illegible] he total votes cast of from thirty to f[illegible] thousand. Mr. Potter, dem., is elec[illegible] Lieut.-Governor by a good majorit[illegible] and also the balance of the democrat[illegible] ate ticket.

S[illegible]OR WALLACE'S ATTACK ON MR. TIL[illegible]—The Hon. Wm. A. Wallace, the [illegible] ocratic U. S. Senator from Pennsyl[illegible], addressed a large mass meeting at t[illegible] Academy of Music, Philadelphia, Sat[illegible] evening. The feature of his add[illegible] was a covert attack upon Mr. Til[illegible] which was instantly recognized by the [illegible] ience, and created a great deal of dis[illegible] faction. Said the speaker: "The cry [illegible] fraud is the cry of the thief who is pu[illegible] [Applause.] No man smirched wit[illegible] aud can have the leadership in a co[illegible] for popular rights. The democrac[illegible] ill strip for the contest and discard ev[illegible] weight. [Applause and cheers.] Fr[illegible] in Oregon, or fraud in Philadelphi[illegible] frauds in Louisiana, or frauds in Ne[illegible] ork, are equally to be eliminated fro[illegible] the race. [Applause.] The real iss[illegible] must be made luminous and well de[illegible]. They must stand out bold, cle[illegible] and sharp. We cannot and we will no[illegible] handicapped to suit the ambition [illegible] man. Manipulation of primaries an[illegible] resses, of bureaus and conventions ar[illegible] ot the methods of an organization ab[illegible] to join in a death grapple for the ri[illegible] of the people. Direct methods, cl[illegible] hands and a spotless record are the m[illegible] of the man who is to lead us in the co[illegible] race, whether it be Bayard, (a t[illegible] der of applause and cheers,) fearless a[illegible] ure, ever the champion of home rule a[illegible] st corrupt government, a third term a[illegible] onsolidated power, (renewed cheerin[illegible]) or Hancock, (long and continued a[illegible] use,) the soldier-advocate of civil r[illegible] Pennsylvanian by birth and clean o[illegible] nd, (cheers,) or McClellan, (continu[illegible] cheering,) or Thurman, or Hend[illegible] the issues of principle will be s[illegible] defined, and personal issues relegated to p[illegible] ivate life."

[illegible] his point some one shouted "How a[illegible] Tild[illegible] n?" which caused enthusiastic a[illegible] se, a[illegible] most as boisterous as that [illegible] for Ba[illegible] ard or Hancock.

MANHOOD;

How LOST, How RESTORED.

Just published a new edition of DR CULVERWELL'S Celebrated Essay on the radical cure (without medicine,) of Spermatorrhœa or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotency, Mental & Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc.; also, Consumption, Epilepsy & Fits, induced by Self-indulgence or Sexual extravagance.

Price, in a sealed envelope, only six cts.

The celebrated author, in this admirable essay demonstrates from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain & effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, post-paid, on receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps.
