can do the same with one - and we could never by a feeling of petty jealousy deprive the other of any success - I wish every member in our asso. could have the same sense of right. I knew that I had made a mistake as soon as I received Dr. McCoys letter, and when you next hear from him you will find that I made all the amends possible - I did not know the circumstances and my first letter was written with the hope, that I could enthuse him and get him interested in pushing our associations interests in Delaware. I agree with you fully that we must get a few members at a time and take Delaware in our asso. if we have only one member - one member who will enter his colts in our stakes is worth a dozen who simply pay their dues - For
