ening Gazette.

SDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1913. TWO CENTS

eems to Be An Assured Fact

R LINE MAY ROUGH HERE YET

ps Arrived in Indiana Mon- nd Have Started ctive Work.

D STAKES BEING MADE

h Survey to Allegheny and May Start This Coming ner, It is Said.

COMING TO THE FRONT

ay in looks work h the illion- t one the to a be- with rtant a di- f the with bryo nary Since was s no e in- time, nter- over per- d to hich ject had ably tter evi- look ndi- ers and ess, rk. eet, vey ent, rps lo- old disposed of, the actual work of making the survey permanent was begun.

The present survey, it is stated, will be run to Allegheny, or as it is now known, Pittsburgh. Whether the complete survey will be made at this time is a matter of conjecture, but present indications lead one to believe that the survey will be rushed to completion and that the actual work on the construction of the proposed air line will be made during this coming summer.

The original survey as staked out in Indiana will include a right-of-way through several valuable pieces of property, an overhead bridge at the tracks of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh railway, with the probable location of the Indiana station near the vicinity of Twelfth and Philadelphia streets.

The proposed air line would enter through the property of H. E. Timberlake, in Nicktown through the lot of Wolfgang Vogel's heirs, on North5th street, across the extensive hill property of Gen. Harry White, an elevated bridge over the B. R. & P. tracks, striking a level about Twelfth and Philadelphia streets, thence to the lower boundary of the Oakland cemetery and on through the county, the exact route of which is not known.

With the proposed Air Line, on paper it is true, but nevertheless believable; the double tracking of the B. R. & P. through their Indiana territory; the active operations of the Pennsylvania railroad; and the extensive coal production, Indiana county will, in the near future, be a locality that will demand the favorable consideration of the railroad and coal powers in Pennsylvania, if not the entire section of this part of the country.

Indiana and Indiana county had a long time getting started, but it now seems that one started it cannot be stopped.

Large Crowds at the Grand.

A lar[illegible] enthusiastic crow[illegible]

Seasonable Advice To Christmas Shoppers

State Health Commissioner Gives Some Very Good Advice.

JUST A FEW POINTS

For the next five weeks 2,500,000 women in Pennsylvania will be busily engaged in their Christmas shopping. Under ordinary circumstances 60 per cent of it will be done within the last ten days. The old adage about the early bird securing the delectable morsel seems to fail to lue the gift buyers from their habit of chronic procrastination. Not only is it of financial advantage to the individual and of benefit to the thousands of employes of shops, but early shopping may also effect a saving of lives and health according to Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, the Commissioner of Health.

Dr. Dixon says: "The great bulk of Christmas shopping is done by women and if they realized the enormous saving of nervous energy which would result from shopping early there would be less need for preachments on this important subject. The mind is in a better condition in the morning to make the necessary decisions, one's judgment is naturally affected by one's physical condition. Then, too, the atmosphere in the stores is better earlier in the day and there is far less congestion of the transportation lines. Under crowded conditions the air becomes vitiated, and as a result the vitality of the individual is lowered. In this physical [illegible] resistence is lessened and the shopper is much more likely to succumb if in chance contact with communicable disease. The danger of catching cold is also greater and the conditions tending to the development of colds into pneumonia prevail wherever the ventilation is poor. The excitement and nervous exhaustion which follows too lengthy periods of shopping have a tendency to aggravate any weakness which there may be of the vital organs; hence it is advisable not to extend the shopping expeditions over too lengthy a period.

Children should not be taken into the crowded stores when it can be avoided. Conditions which make the adults susceptible to disease apply to them to an even greater extent.

GATHERING OF THE OSTEOPATHS

Western Pennsylvania Association Had Lively Session at Pittsburgh.

NOTABLE ADDRESSES

The semi-annual meeting of the Western Pennsylvania Osteopathic association, of which Dr. Paul O. Emerson, of Indiana, is a member, was held Saturday afternoon and evening at the Fort Pitt hotel, Pittsburgh, with an attendance of about 50 members.

Dr. J. C. Foster, of Butler, secretary of the State Association, discussed the legal status of osteopathy in relation to several classes of fakirs of the science who have come into the State recently. He called attention to the act relating to practice of osteopathy in Pennsylvania, saying it is being violated by imitators who have never even attended an osteopathic college. Such, he said, must be prosecuted and a committee was appointed to investigate the matter and to enter legal proceedings against violators of the act.

Dr. Harry M. Goehring, of Pittsburgh discussed the matter of the establishment of an osteopathic hospital in Western Pennsylvania. He said steps in that direction have already been taken, that a site has been selected in the East End section of Pittsburgh and that a fund of $50,000 has been started for the rental of a suitable building and the equipping of it for hospital purposes.

Dr. William Rohacek, of Greensburgh, spoke on "Specialists in Osteopathy," saying there should be specialists for the proper adjustment of deformities, such as spinal curvatures and club feet, and that especially is there need of specialists in the treatment of diseases of the eye, ear, nose and throat, both surgically and osteopathically.

Program Opens with Harp Classics

From the harp classic with which Mr. Rogers opens the program, followed by a group of impersonations and original selections by Mr. Grilley, the listners are carried through a series of artistic efforts in the realm of pathos, humor and music until the closing number leaves the audience wondering if it is really true that such a delightful evening has been given by a company of ony two people Every season finds the company with fresh novelties and striking selections which enable them to present a brand new program at each appearance. A feature worthy of especial mention is their continued reappearance on the strongest and most conservative courses in the United States in such cities as Brooklyn, Baltim[illegible], Chicago, Ro[illegible]

"OFFICER 666" TONIGHT.

Splendid Melodramatic Farce At the Auditorium This Evening.

The most irresistible "peeler" that ever swung a night stick, in a better detective play than ever came out of France, is "Officer 666," a play that has scored thet most definite succtss both in New York and Chicago recorded on the theatrical record for years.

Everyone to whom the show world appeals will want to see this splendid play which is announced for local production at the Auditorium this e[illegible]