ankle boots I had made of rub= ber in Philadelphia that hide the places where the hair is off on the mares ankles, I forgot all about our expensive articles & I have made up my mind to trade the mare & colt for something to drive, The price of the Hackney you offer me would cost very little of this summer if I had it to pay but Mr L Wheeler had about that don't you think you could afford to keep her idle a mile for the mare and colt, don't you think they you would have the rest of it, for instance when the ankle= are folk work. My mare and colt ought to be worth more, I consider your offering to trade with me a smaller & accommodation than you are doing this to help me out because I have spent
