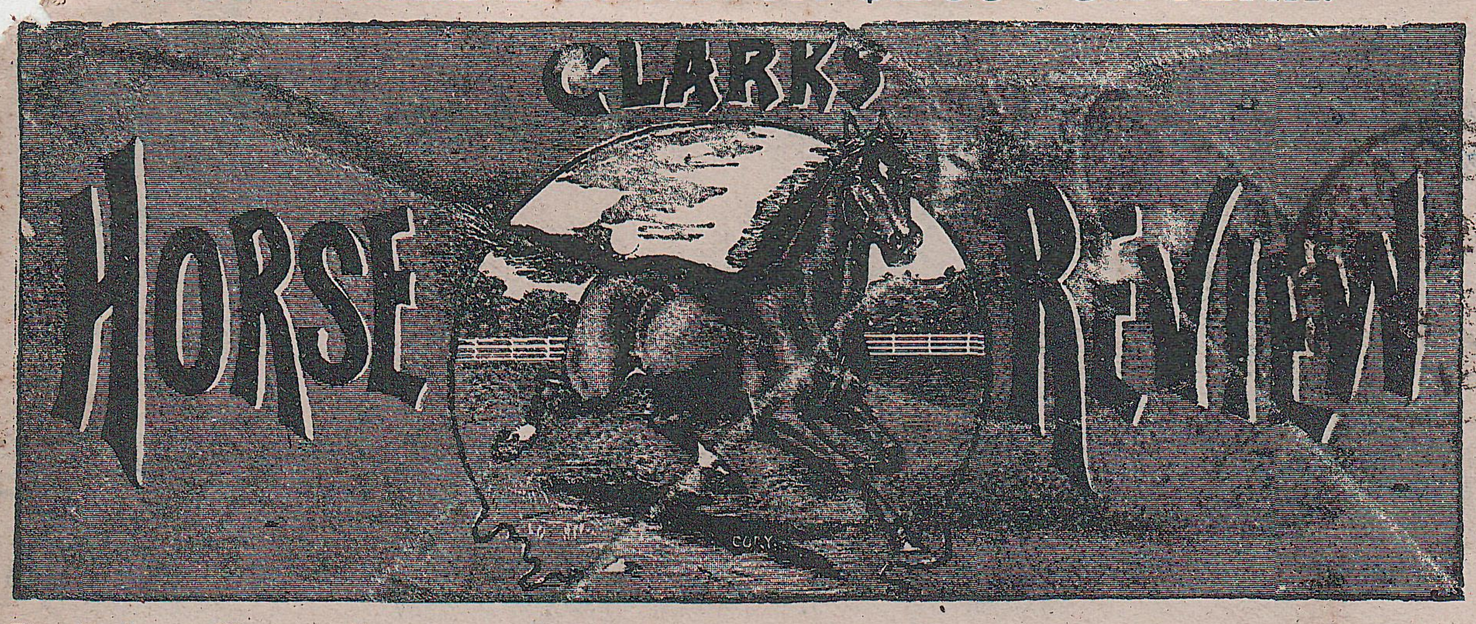
PUBLISHED WEEKLY AT $2.00 PER YEAR.



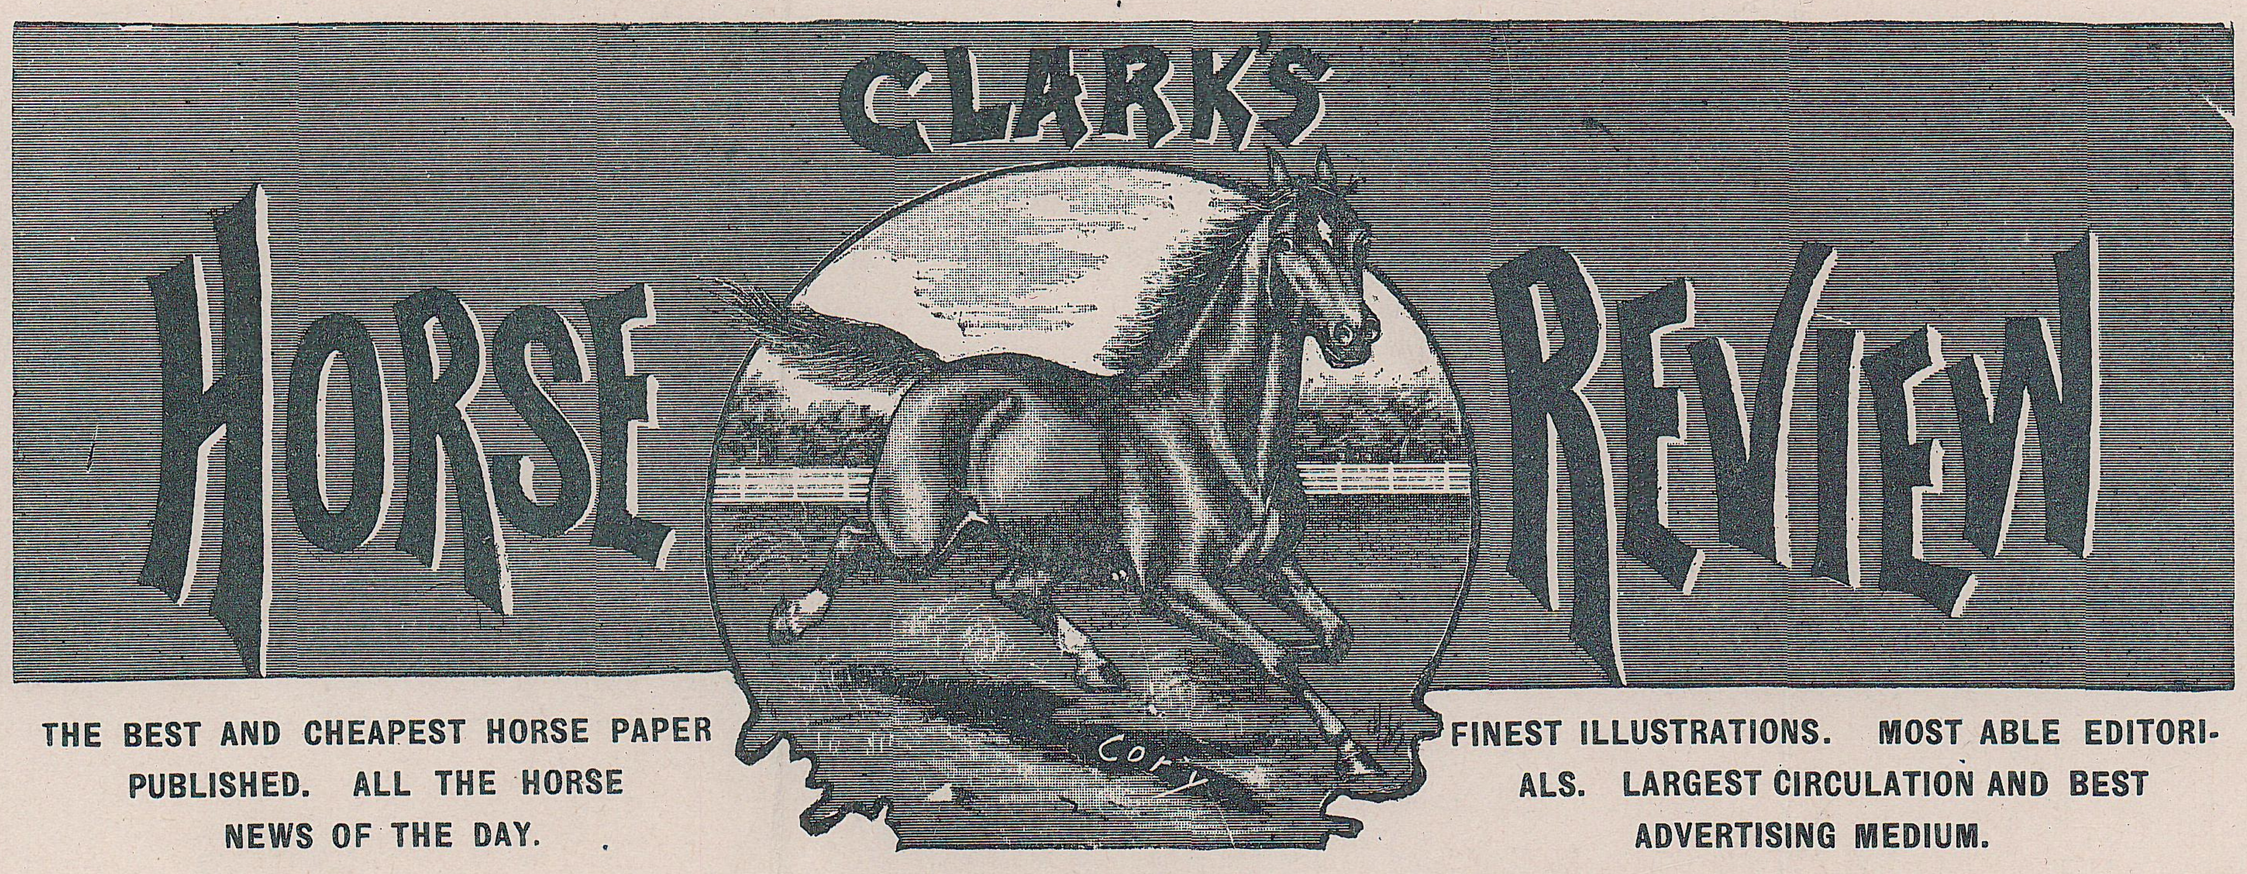
The Best and Cheapest Horse Paper Published. All the Horse News of the Day. Finest Illustrations. Most Able Editorials. Largest Circulation and Best Advertising Medium.

P. L. CLARK, PREST. JOHN C. BAUER, TREAS.

59 & 61 Washington St., CHICAGO, ILL., U. S. A.

C. B. Emory,
Centerville, Md.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY AT $2.00 PER YEAR.



THE BEST AND CHEAPEST HORSE PAPER PUBLISHED. ALL THE HORSE NEWS OF THE DAY.

FINEST ILLUSTRATIONS. MOST ABLE EDITORIALS. LARGEST CIRCULATION AND BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM.

59 & 61 WASHINGTON STREET.

P. L. CLARK, PREST. TELEPHONE 5091. JOHN C. BAUER, TREAS.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 26th, 1891.

Mr. C. B. Emory,
Centerville, Md.

MY DEAR SIR:

You can only secure popularity and circulation in the newspaper business by publishing the best paper and for the least money. In these two essential features THE REVIEW has excelled. In the breeding, as in all other lines of business, the shrewd advertiser who aims to make money on his investment looks well to the circulation and popularity of the medium he patronizes. Experience has taught him the high subscription price charged by some prevents his reaching more than one-fourth his possible customers, while others with but a local circulation and reputation will seldom give satisfactory returns on the cost of the advertising. It is the paper that everybody wants, that everybody can afford to take, that contains all the news of the day complete, that recognizes and reaches all sections of the country alike and plays no favorites, that it pays to advertise in. What you have to offer to the public has merit and should tempt patrons from abroad, and you should have a national as well as local reputation. It is just as easy to have both as one and it increases your chances of making money in proportion.

We want a share of your future patronage and if given a trial will hold it by the money we will make for you. If we had any doubt about the result we would seek the trade of those who want to seetheir name in large type in a big space at very little cost, regardless of results, and publish a paper in keeping therewith. We can only hope to do business with you in suceeding years by working hard in your interests and making you money this year. We trust, therefore, you will favor us with a share of your valued patronage.

Consult both sides of the enclosed card, place an advertisement in THE REVIEW the coming year, and don't count the cost; count the returns. That is where the profit is to be found.

Hoping for a reply, we remain

Yours very truly,

Clarks Horse Review Co

Dictated

P. S.- New rates do not go into effect until January 1st, and do not interfere with unexpired contracts.