and she wanted to sit on deck all night. It is the first time she has been up the James since she was a girl, and she has not stayed away in Richmond since I can remember. So she holds quite a levee out at Barton Heights - receiving all of her old friends.

They will go to Ithaca this week. and I hope Will get along by October.

The Annapolis Driving and Agricultural Association opened its race-track at Camp Parole (two miles from town) last week with a pretty good attendance. There were several Baltimoreans down with their horses - and Happy Lad won a race (half-mile heats) that best time being 1.18. Maude thinks if you saw that track you might think the time very good. There was some talk of inviting you over but the wise men thought if you tried the track in its present condition you would never come again, so the invitation was postponed.

Did you ever know such fearful heat. I think it must have something to
