

Kent News.

SATURDAY MORNING, Dec. 1, 1883.

THE WILLING WITNESS.

Concerns Sally Dillig's Kidnapping Taken Up in the Kent News State.

From the Bangor Commercial.

Witnesses in court often complain that counsel will not let them answer questions in their own way. The following reply, in the exact words used by a witness on the stand in court a short time since, will show that he had no such cause for complaint: "Counsel—Now, Sir, state whether you performed the marriage ceremony between these parties, and if so, where?" "Well, I was down in my field digging potatoes, and my daughter came down where I was at work and said there was a gentleman and lady at the house who wanted to see me. So I went up to the house and they were there—Melinda, as he called her, introduced Mr. Hutchins to me, and I received him with the common courtesy, and a few words passed between us as they were talking. Then the witness passed and looked at the counsel as though he considered the question answered. "Well, did you marry them?" "Yes."

HE HUMORED HIM.

A New York stock broker who was on his way to Buffalo last night that one of his fellow-passengers was a client of his, and after a time the man came over and asked: "Didn't I see you in Chicago in 1879?" The broker wasn't in Chicago that year, but thinking to humor the stranger he replied in the affirmative. "Don't you remember of handing a poor devil a silver dollar one night in front of the Tremont?" "No." "Well, I'm the chap. I was hard up, out of work, and about ready to commit suicide. That money made a new man of me. By one lucky shift and another I am worth $25,000." "Ah! glad to hear it." "And now I want you to take five dollars in place of that fifty cents. I can't feel easy until the debt is paid." The broker protested and objected, but finally just to humor the man he took the twenty-dollar bill and gave him back five dollars. The stranger soon withdrew, and everything might have ended there, but the broker, on reaching Buffalo, had ascertained that the "twenty" was a counterfeit and that he was five dollars out of pocket.

General Jack's part and the Sabbath Day.

During the last part of General Jackson's life he was in the habit of coming down to New Orleans to see his old friends and comrades in arms and participate in the celebration of the glorious eighth of January. It happened on one of these visits that the eighth occurred on Sunday. General Jackson called on the Sunday before and requested him to accompany the military to the battle ground on the anniversary of the great day. "I'm going to church," he replied, "and Sunday morning dawned bright and beautiful. At 10 o'clock General Jackson called at the St. Charles and informed General Jackson that the military celebration was ready to accompany him to the scene of his glory. "General Jackson," responded the military, "turning upon the scene of his kindred. "I told you I was going to church today," General Jackson withdrew, muttering to himself, "I might have known better." The celebration was postponed till the next day, and General Jackson intended on that day to be one of the most eloquent discourses in the church on Lafayette Square, from Dr. Scott, over pronounced in the pulpit—N. O. Democrat.

ADVICE TO HARBORS.

Don't talk. Refrain from colloquializing. If you have anything to say, don't say it. Do not talk. Keep your mouth shut. Do not indulge in conversation. Say nothing. Exercise measure of repression to the extent of suppression with relation to colloquial productions. Stick a towel in your mouth. Grogginess. Stop your conversation before you begin. See business on your lips. The tongue is a nasty member. Stick a pin through it. Do not revolve. Have nothing to say and say it. Let somebody else do the talking. Don't talk. P. S.—Harbors will please hang this up in their shops and have it sufficed—Traveler.

LOOK READ.

We can never be too careful. What the seed our hands shall sow. Love from love is sure to grow. Hate from hate is sure to grow. Seed of good or ill we scatter. Headily along our way. But a glad or gloomy fruitage. Wait us at the harvest day.

Stomachs (who has missed again): "I say, Mumble, the kind of a to be afraid of me. Keeper: "Well, sir, they'd ought to be of you never let any on 'em." "How old are you," said an ancient dame to a grinning little boy. "Well, if I goes by that mule-damn, I'm an old man, but if I goes by that fat I'm not a hundred."

The year write their record on human hearts as they do on trees, in hidden inner circles of growth which no eye can see.

Compassion, more than reality, makes men happy, and one makes them wretched.

EXPLANATION OF THE ABOVE MEDICINE.

Phosphorus—Means light, and mediocrity in parts strength and vigor to the system, as the rays of the sun do to animal and vegetable life. It is a purifier and enricher of the blood, the most important of the constituents of the human body.

Stravaria—In very small proportions (as in the medicine) it is most excellent, acting on the digestive organs, and finally acting upon and regulating the entire nervous system. Ask your physician about the above formula, and he will say it is good.

Price in large bottles $1. Trial bottles 35c. Pills in boxes $1 per box, or six boxes for $5. Sent by mail to any point, free of charge, upon receipt of price. Prepared and sold by DAVIS & MILLER, No. 12 N. Howard St., Baltimore.

A pamphlet of full explanation of the above medicine, and treating of its composition and administration, and stating the diseases to which it is applicable, will be cheerfully given to any one who may call on me, or I will be sent free of charge furnished by postal card, and will also be sent by mail to any point, free of charge, upon receipt of price.

QUINTESSENCE OF

Phosphorus, Quinine & Strychnia

Put up in Pills and in Liquid Form.

And is a sure cure for DEBILITY resulting from any cause. It restores or strengthens the blood, derangement of the Digestive Organs, Diseases of the Nervous System, Typhus, Typhoid and Intermittent Fevers, Ague and Fever, and is the very best counteractant of malarial influences and cure for malarial diseases, and as a sedative and anodyne, quieting the nervous system, and inducing Refreshing Sleep, it has no equal. It is endorsed by medical practitioners here and is frequently prescribed by them in their practice, and is considered one of the very best remedial agents known for the diseases, for which we recommend it. We challenge the closest scrutiny into its composition and virtues. Read the following:
