In addition to the Force which may have been placed under your orders previous to your departure from the Gironde, you will on your arrival at Bermuda take under your command one other Regiment of Infantry and one company of Artillery which have been directed to proceed thither from the Mediterranean for that purpose.

The Amount of the Force which will be thus placed under your command & which is specified in the Margin I cannot forbear to point out to you that you are not to engage many extended operations at a distance from the Coast.

In concerting the particular objects of attack with the Officer in command of the naval part of the Expedition you will freely express to him your opinion of its expediency in a military point of view; and will state without reserve the
