SATURDAY MORNING.....Dec. 29, 1883.

CHESTERVILLE AND VICINITY.

Messrs. Editors :—The lecture of Rev. R. W. Todd, to be given in the M. E. Church of this place next Thursday evening, Jan. 3, 1884, is very highly spoken of, and will prove a rich treat to all who may attend.

In the matter of weddings Chesterville keeps pace with more pretentious towns. On the night of the 19th inst., Parson Nevitt united two couples, all of whom may be claimed as residents.

So far as our village and vicinity is concerned the year '83 has been memorable for the great number of babies it has produced; and, like the blessings of heaven, they have descended alike upon the rich and the poor. A baby show was suggested to come off at Christmas, but the weather was too unpropitious to take the little darlings out, so the matter has been indefinitely postponed.

Chesterville's maximum of population is 100 souls. With the exception of four persons, the whole population has changed within 11 years, by removals and deaths. There are but four persons in the village today, who were residents eleven years ago. From this fact you might suppose the sleepy old place was about to lay aside some of her antiquity, and assume the airs of some western mushroom sister.

Rev. Geo. W. Townsend, (pastor of Galena circuit) and wife, have been visiting friends in northern New Jersey. They are expected home this week.

Wesley Aldridge, nephew of Mr. S. W. Aldridge, who spends more or less of his time with his uncle, will leave for Iowa next month to take a situation in the banking house of another uncle.

Thos. H. Loch, several years since a clerk for H. C. Layman, visited friends here last week, and will leave for Colorado next Monday. Tom has a good situation already secured. It will take him five days and nights continuous railroad travel to reach his destination.

Mr. J. J. Hurlock, of this neighborhood, who recently sold his farm, will remove to the farm he lately purchased near Snow Hill, Md., this week. The greater part of his effects have to be shipped by rail.

Mr. John R. Gill, on the Cochran farm, adjoining Mr. H., has purchased a farm in New Jersey, (strange as it may seem) and will remove thither in the spring.

While seated at the table of Mr. C. W. Spry, one day last week, Mr. Philip Rasin was attacked with something like vertigo, and fell from his chair to the floor. At last accounts he was under the care of a physician and had improved but little.

Snow to the depth of several inches fell here on Sunday afternoon and night. The sleighing is only fair.

A letter was recently posted at the Chesterville postoffice addressed thus:

Washington city
madison st
12 43 between m n e 7
John Washington
smith.

As all wisdom is supposed to be centered at the capital, we presume the postal officials had no difficulty in solving the above enigma.

Dr. J. Bustrod Schwatka has located in Baltimore. He spent a few days in this neighborhood this week, and reports fair prospects.

WALTER.

LETTER FROM WORTON.

Messrs. Editors :—Time as on eagles wings has flown, and the old year almost gone and with its flight many have parted from loved ones who have gone to the better land, we hope, where there will be no ending of the year. How many have improved their precious time is known only to the great I Am.

Winter with its cold, chilling blasts is here. The time of rejoicing has come with the juveniles. But to us it brings sad thoughts of loved ones that are gone who once enjoyed Christmas with us.

We had quite a scare on Friday evening. G. W. Parsons took a man home; on his return he stopped at Lynch's; hooked his horse; went in the store, where he stayed but a few moments; on going out to go home the team was gone; found it next day between Locust Grove and Galena. It seems to us these rogues ought to be pursued and dealt with severely.

Some of our young Worton farmers killed 13 hogs which yielded them fourteen cans of lard; eight of which weighed 53 lbs., and the balance 40. Who can beat that?

There have been and will be many changes in the way of moving. Our newly appointed postmaster at Lynch's is about putting up a house in his yard to keep the mail in, which will be very convenient for himself and the community.

J. C. Norris, son of W. P. Norris, is home from Swarthmore College to spend Christmas.

Wm. T. Parsons is also home from New Windsor College, where he has a professorship; he is spending the holidays with his friends; will return on the 8th of January to resume duties.

From what we can hear there will be several weddings on and after Christmas.

Some few weeks ago we were at Buck Neck wharf, where we counted ten jugs and demijohns which were put on the steamer for Baltimore. They seemed to throw local option in the shade. We hope our young men will look out for themselves and shun the fell destroyer.

Wishing success to the old KENT NEWS, a merry Christmas and happy New-Year to its editors, we remain your well-wisher. B.

CHRISTMAS AT "LAURETUM."

The winter sun rose tardily on the misty Christmas morn,
And the startled echoes answered to the juvenal Christmas horn;
The great world around in spotless beauty lay
Save where its ermine robe is torn by the flying sleigh.
Such was the Christmas morn, in sooth, I took my happy way
Wrapt in robes of the mountain bear with jovial bells and sleigh
Where the halls of Lauretum in Queen Anne beauties stand,
The pleasantest and brightest in this happy land;
No chary welcome waits you in that rare and happy home;
No frigid mannerisms sung o'er in seesaw tone.
To the lord of Lauretum I could ever drink this toast:
The prince of good fellows and the best of hosts;
And the charming hostess who ruled with gentle sway
The household of Lauretum on that auspicious day,
Once bloomed the fairest flower on St. Mary's strand,
But love transferred the blossom to grace our lovely land.
To describe that dinner would be to paint the skies,
For we saw successive beauties in grander glories rise;
Viands of every element and fruits of every zone
Are heaped on antique tables that truly seem to groan;
From half-past three to five the gladsome battle raged
Until the soaring appetite was humbled, like eagles caged,
And as the lamplight shadows fell across our homeward way
We almost wished that life might be one joyous Christmas day. J. D. U.

THE JEANNETTE'S DEAD.—The remains of Commander De Long and his comrades, of the ill-fated Jeannette expedition, arrived at Irkutsk, Dec. 21, on their way to this country. The remains were borne in procession through the streets escorted by a detachment of troops. A multitude of people joined in the cortege. Many wreaths were placed upon the coffins, and printed copies of poems describing the exploits and unhappy end of De Long and his party were distributed among the crowd.

KENT CO. AGRICULTURAL ASSOCIATION.

"TRIALS OF SPEED."

MESSRS. EDITORS :—I read in your last issue a communication from the secretary pro. tem. of the Kent Co. Agr. Society in reference to the adoption of the revised constitution and by-laws on the first Monday in January, and his urgent appeal to the members to be present at that time. I join him and say come out, every one, and take an active part in the proceedings, and favor and urge the adoption of every section and article that suit their views and that they think will add to the interest and benefit the association, or oppose and reject those that they think detrimental to its interests. The committee to whom this matter was referred have given their careful attention to it, and have done the very best they could to make them as simple and plain as possible.

I must say that I am very much pleased with the spirit in which he writes and if every member felt that same spirit I think there would be no flagging of interest in the society. I well know there are some belonging to the society who have its interest at heart and are willing to do and have done all in their power to advance its interests. I would that all were of the same feeling.

I also noticed in your editorial that Particeps had put on the war paint and was about ready to fight that feature of the society's fairs—horse racing—which he has so earnestly opposed all the way through. I don't think his fight will amount to much as the majority of its members favor trials of speed. If there is to be a fight I would say that both sides had better be on hand and make the best fight they can. Now-a-days it is "the hardest fend off," or "the longest pole knocks the simmon."

In conclusion I again join sec. pro. tem. in his appeal and say, come out! Come one, come all! Y.

[COMMUNICATED.]

Messrs. Editors :—Allow me to give you an account of a nice set out at Mr. Thos. Ellis' on Christmas morning, to the Kent Cornet Band. Mr. E. is an honorary member, and used to be an active one. His whole heart is in the interest of the band. After a few speeches in compliment to our host by Messrs. J. N. Dodd, the leader, Whaland, Wroth and Joiner, the company dispersed in good order. B. B. W.

TO BUILDERS.—Those in want of Lumber &c are invited to call on Geo. F. Sloan & Bro., Baltimore. See card.

A GOOD CRITERION.—A live town is always judged by people at a distance by the newspapers which issue from it, and well sustained newspapers carry the town's credit with them wherever they circulate. The Baltimore American has observed this indication of thrift in our rural papers, and thus comments upon it:

"The well-filled advertisement columns of our county contemporaries indicate a great deal of prosperity throughout Maryland. Nine times out of ten one can form a correct idea of the amount of business carried on in a town by carefully watching the local papers. In fact, they are the great criterions of trade. A place where the merchants advertise well and pay good prices for it is always found to be prosperous and progressive, and it is just such a town that attracts attention from the business world, and induces capital to invest in its property and manufacturing interests. This year the county papers are filled more largely than ever with good, solid advertising matter. Many of them have issued supplements in order to accommodate the demands upon their space. It is a gratifying sign of progress, and we heartily congratulate our county neighbors upon their deserved success."

QUITE a number of the factories in Pennsylvania, Connecticut and other States have suspended operations, and many thousand operatives are thus thrown out of employment. The cause is over-production, and it may be some weeks before they resume work again. In the meantime thousands of men, women and children will be idle and perhaps needy.

THE small-pox has broken out in the New Castle, Del., jail. There are upwards of sixty prisoners in the building, three of whom are down with the disease, and the authorities are in a quandary as to what to do in the premises.

BALTIMORE MARKET.—The Baltimore papers of Friday quote as follows:

WHEAT—Longberry $1 12@1 15; Fultz $1 10@1 13 for fair to good. CORN—White, prime 58@59; yellow, 54@59 OATS, Maryland, 42.
