SATURDAY MORNING.....MARCH 15, 1884.

CHESTERVILLE AND VICINITY.

Messrs. Editors :—A fatal case of scalding occurred in this neighborhood last week. Mamie, a little child of Mr. F. P. Roe, residing on the Westcott farm, two miles east of Chesterville, on the Millington road, fell into a vessel of boiling water, one day last week, and was so badly scalded that she died on Tuesday last. Her mother had just set the boiler containing the water down on the hearth and turned around to place the lids on the stove, when the child fell into the water. She was about four years old.

We are to have a new industry here in the way of a large and complete greenhouse. Mr. S. W. Aldridge and Mr. C. B. D. Senart have gone into the business on the farm of the former at this place, and we may soon expect to see flourishing in great variety early plants, flowers, etc. There are three things favorable to this enterprise. First — the location. Second — the thorough knowledge and practical experience of Mr. Senart—having served a seven years' apprenticeship in Paris. Third—Mr. A. is passionately fond of flowers— beautiful walking flowers as well.

Rev. L. G. Nevitt left for Conference on Monday last. Rev. Geo. W. Townsend has returned from Conference, and will receive a hearty welcome from his churches. WALTER.

LETTER FROM STILL POND.

Messrs. Editors :— Your Betterton correspondent some weeks ago asked if our Still Pond correspondent was dead. I would state that he is not dead, but simply sleepeth. He has been taking so many long rides and perhaps sitting by some of our farmers' coal stoves so late these cold winter evenings, he needs repose; but he is now recuperating somewhat and you may expect to hear from him shortly.

Our young folks have been enjoying themselves these long winter evenings by having social gatherings. They have met, and been most cordially welcomed, at the following places: Messrs. Watts', Crossley's, Roseberry's, Barnard's, and the pastor's, Rev. L. E. Barrett's, and spent very pleasant evenings. Some of our young men did not stop for the coldest weather—one of them went one night when it was so cold that he had to take a lantern along to keep his lady's hands and feet warm.

Our Good Templars' Lodge, which was organized in January, by the Rev. E. B. Newnam, is getting along splendidly with a membership of eighty and new initiations every Monday night.

A new town hall seems to be the topic of conversation among our people at present. There has been at this writing $3,500 worth of stock taken towards the erection and they expect to commence building not later than than May 1st.

Our singing school, taught by Prof. Quimby, expects to give a concert in May, which promises to be something nice, as the professor is sparing no pains to make it a grand success.

One of our most estimable ladies, Mrs. J. F. Wilson, has been for the past two weeks very ill with the typhoid fever, but is now, we are very glad to hear, convalescent.

We are also glad to announce that our highly esteemed pastor, Rev. L. E. Barrett, has been returned to us for another year. ELMER.

ITEMS FROM ROCK HALL.

Editors "Kent News" :—Well, havn't we had a spell of weather? Last Friday week old Boreas jumped the Alleghany Mountains and came tearing down to Rock Hall at break neck speed, clutching our mud deposit, which at once turned to dust in his icy fingers, and was whirled along in stifling clouds to the discomfiture of unfortunate pedestrians, who, to reach their domestic stoves, were obliged to make a N. W. tack. A most impressive sight was the crowd of gunners hurrying home, convinced the ducks were not fat enough to kill in such weather. The general impression has been that the Prince of the power of the Air is exceedingly hot tempered; but this time he showed himself decidedly the reverse, whisking the mercury from 44° down to 10° in a few hours: so that ears and noses, and unmittened fingers, were fain to seek shelter from his invisible bite. Then came a snow storm, which gave us one day of nice sleighing. We went to mill with a saw log that day, and nearly every minute were either met or passed by sleigh-bells merrily jingling, and behind each a pair of girlish eyes whose merry twinkle would have made the heart of any susceptible bachelor go pit-a-pat; and each as she passed us smiled, whether at us or what her squire was saying we neither know nor care; but on that single trip, had they been fairly measured, we gathered a bushel of the sweetest smiles that ever was smole. "Oh, the beautiful snow!" Then comes the everlasting rain, drizzle and fog, and on Sunday our fifth thunder storm since Christmas. Well, it may be best to have a boss winter, just to snub boss politicians with.

Whether Leap Year has anything to do with it or not, there has been a rich matrimonial harvest husbanded here this winter. Our friend Tommy broke the ice before the creek was frozen over, or the persimmons were ripe; he now grinds Miss Mamie's scissors, who, in return, allows herself to be called Mrs. Tommy, with a grace and sweetness, which makes the old man occasionally show indications of a wish to slough widowhood. There was quite a sensation in church not long since, by Miss Hester, (not her who wanted King Ahasuerus,) publicly approaching our worthy pastor and expressing a wish to be married. Now Mr. Conaway is one of the most mild and gentle of men, overflowing with sympathy for the erring, inclining to leniency for the foibles and lighter faults of his fellow mortals, as who shall say he is without sin; yet we have long known that such natures are unsafe to trifle with, for when aroused they are like the breaking out of a tempest. Now such a wish by a young and pretty girl, even though expressed in pantomime, aroused him to the full dignity of his office, and oh, my! didn't he give her Jesse? When she heard what he had to say, she left, as we trust, fully convinced she had received a caution not to try it again for many a long year to come. As for Jesse, we leave him with the good old Irish aspiration, "May he live happily till his skirts knocks his brains out." The saddest case we have heard of this season is one of our worthy widows, meeting with the mishap of Charity Pecksniff, when her sweet Augustus dodged the matrimonial noose just as it was being dropped over his neck. What could be more contemptably mean, or scandalously cruel, than after he had won her tender heart, and led her blushingly to the very verge of the altar, to sneak off under pretence that he wanted a peanut, and never return? What she said or thought that night when she returned to her lonely room, with all its prospective brightness faded, we know not, but presume it was not complimentary to the "final perseverance of the" ——, well, men. We notice that sweet Augustus has returned, but keeps shy of the locality of his late escapade; and will not venture near the noose for some time to come. Of course he has no heart, but what there is of him "ought to be kicked to death by jackasses," and we would willingly be one to lend a helping foot.

Aunt Lucy Soudginpucker is very vexed with you for making us call her "Soudginpuck" though that is not her name, she knows it meant her, as Uncle Silas would never talk so to any other woman. SCRUTATOR.

EX-GOV. HENDRICKS' VIEWS.—Ex-Gov. Hendricks, of Indiana, who is now in Europe, has written a letter to a friend in New York which contains a brief outline of his views on the political outlook. He takes the view that with the Indiana democracy divided between two factions it would be inadvisable to take a presidential candidate from that State. From what he can learn Mr. Hendricks thinks that the democrats in Congress should deport themselves with such caution on tariff matters as not to alarm the high protectionists into the belief that the whole structure is threatened, and, at the same time, with sufficient energy to indicate that the party is not afraid to prune existing evils just because the Pennsylvanians cry "wolf." Mr. Hendricks hopes the party, in making its candidates and platform, will bear in mind that for twenty years party shackles in the country have not been so loosely borne as now; that the floating and independent vote is three times larger and three times more independent than before. This being the case, the party that wins will be the one which frames that platform on the great economic measures before the country on which the great mass of independent voters can stand. The party that secures this element will obtain the White House, in spite of all the red lights and transparencies and bonfires and stump oratory of the campaign.

DIVORCE BY THE WHOLESALE.—During the month of February the Philadelphia courts granted 33 decrees in divorce, more than during that time for many months previous. So far during March 94 applications for divorce have been filed. This would seem to indicate that domestic unhappiness is rapidly increasing in the "City of Brotherly Love."

DOWN EASTERN FAVORED A LOW TARIFF.—One of the most surprising things in recent politics is the adoption by the State central committee of Maine, in its call for the democratic State convention, of resolutions denouncing the present tariff system, and approving the recent action of the ways and means committee. Maine had been counted sure for protection.

THE Maryland Pilgrims have decided to make a pilgrimage to St. Mary's county on the 10th of May, and Hon. R. T. Merrick has consented to deliver the address on the occasion.

KENT CO. AGRICULTURAL ASSOCIATION.

CLUB ROOM, March 10, 1884.

The attendance today was good, although several familiar faces were not seen, presumably absent by reason of muddy roads, church conferences and sickness.

The secretary being among the missing, and having no record of the previous meeting, by which to shape our course, we were like a ship at sea, with sails unfurled before a stiff breeze, without compass, chart, or helmsman. Yet, with but little delay, a course was decided upon, a chart improvised and the wheel manned.

The subject partially discussed at the meeting of last week—"Is the establishment of a poll-tax in this State desirable?" was continued and considered in a manner profitable and interesting. At the close of the debate, the sense of the members present was taken, with but one voice in the negative.

"Does it pay to grind corn in the ear for stock?" was asked by one of the youngest members of the society. A general expression of opinion was given, largely disapproving the grinding of the cob.

"Does the wool-growing interest of this county require additional protection from depredations of dogs?" is the subject for next meeting. Upon this an enjoyable talk may be expected. While the dog has his firm friend, the average farmer is growing in fondness for his flock, which is certain to be profitable when unmolested by these generally worthless animals.

The president has announced the executive committee for this year. It consists of: Samuel Vannort, James Brice, Joseph E. Gilpin, W. P. Norris, Wm. T. Nicholson, John Gale, W. W. Stephens and J. M. J. Byron. The appointments are considered wise and judicious.

A TEST CASE AS TO SUNDAY CONCERTS.—Acting under advice of State's Attorney Charles G. Kerr, Police Marshal Gray of Baltimore has furnished to the grand jury witnesses for a test case against the Concordia Association to determine the right of an organization to give entertainments on Sunday nights to its own members, in its own hall, to which there is no charge for admission. The act of 1874, chapter 71, provides that it shall not be lawful for any body, politic or corporate, to keep open or use any dancing saloon, opera house, ten-pin alley, barber saloon or ball alley, on Sunday. The punishment is, for the first offense, not less than $50 or more than $100 fine; second offense, not less than $100 or more than $500 fine. If the offender is an individual he is liable to imprisonment for not more than thirty days. In the case of a body corporate or politic the fine is to be doubled with each conviction. The Concordia claims that by its charter it has the right to give social and dramatic entertainments to its own members on Sunday night.

ANOTHER GREAT STEAMSHIP.—The New York agents of the Cunard line received a cable dispatch Thursday stating that the steamship Aurania had just completed a successful trial trip. She ran from Glasgow to Liverpool, a distance of over 200 miles, in less than 12 hours.—She attained during this trip a speed of 17¼ knots, or 20½ miles, an hour. The Aurania will sail from Liverpool for New York on April 12. She came out to New York on her first voyage last summer, but a serious accident happened to her engines, and she was sent back to the Clyde for extensive repairs to her machinery. The Aurania is built entirely of steel, and her hold is divided into twelve water-tight compartments. Her dimensions are: Length, 470 feet; breadth of beam, 57 feet, and depth of hold, 59 feet.—Her saloon contains accommodations for 500 first-class passengers.

ENTIRELY OUT OF PLACE.—Henry Irving, an English actor completed a very successful engagement in Washington Saturday night, and after the performance, accompanied by Miss Terry, an actress, dined with the President at the White House. This entertaining of actors and actresses by the President of the United States, at the White House is of very questionable propriety. If Mr. Arthur or any other President wants to entertain such people he should do it in a hotel or restaurant, and not in the Executive Mansion of the Republic. The ideas and associations of the place are of too elevated and commanding a character for such trivial commingligns and carousals.

A DELAWARE MAN hearing that the marriage license fee had been reduced to fifty cents in this State, came over here the other day with his fiancee to be spliced. When he applied at the clerk's office for the permit he was set all aback, by being informed that the charge was $4.50. He ransacked his pockets but the entire amount footed up about a dollar short of the sum needed, and he began to fear that they would have to return as they came, when his troubles were banished by an acquaintance furnishing the needed amount. The consequence of this was that the minister had to go without his fee.—Elkton Democrat

THE marriage of Lieutenant John W. Danenhower, of Jeannette fame, and Miss Helen Laffin Sloan, daughter of ex-Speaker Sloan, took place at Christ's Church, Oswego, N. J., Wednesday morning. Mr. Harry Towers, of Washington, acted as best man, and Miss Belle Danenhower, sister of the groom, as bridesmaid.

ISAIAH H. BAYNE, president of the Colored Advisory Council of Maryland, has issued a call for a colored State convention, to meet in Baltimore on the 8th of April next. The object of the convention is to elect delegates to the Colored National Convention, to meet in Richmond, Va., on the second Tuesday in July.

BALTIMORE MARKET.—The Baltimore papers of Thursday quote as follows:

WHEAT—Longberry $1 14@1 17; Fultz $1 13@1 15 for fair to good. CORN—White, prime 58@62; yellow, 59@60. OATS, Maryland, 42.
