SATURDAY MORNING.........SEPT. 13, 1884.

SOULLESS PRAYERS.

I do not like to hear him pray,
On bended knees about an hour,
For grace to spend aright the day,
Who knows his neighbor has no flour.

I'd rather see him go to mill
And buy his luckless brother bread,
And see his children eat their fill,
And laugh beneath their humble shed.

I do not like to hear him pray,
"Let blessing on the widow be,"
Who never seeks her home to say—
"If want o'ertakes you, come to me."

I like not prayers so long and loud,
That's offered for the orphan's weal,
By him who sees him crushed by wrong,
And only with the lips doth feel.

I do not like to hear her pray,
With jeweled ear and silken dress,
Whose washerwoman toils all day,
And then is asked to work for less.

Such pious falsehoods I despise!
The folded hands, the face demure,
Of those whose sanctimonious eyes,
Who steal the earnings of the poor.

Those sainted faces that they wear
To church and for the public eye,
Hide things that are not on the square,
And wickedness done on the sly.

I do not like such soulless prayers!
If wrong, I hope to be forgiven!
Such prayers no angel upward bears—
They're lost a million miles from Heaven.

[For the "NEWS."]

INSOLENCE OF THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC.

Messrs. Editors:—Under the above caption a recent number of the N. Y. Christian Advocate gives the following which is worthy of the attention of every law-abiding citizen. Certainly the lawlessness of the liquor fraternity under all forms of legal restraint deserves the careful thought of patriotic and order-loving people:

"There is one phase of the liquor question to which attention cannot be too frequently called. While demanding protection from the law, it is perpetually evading and breaking the law. It ships goods abroad to prevent the payment of taxation, and sells secretly to evade license fees and police inspection. It bands itself together to dispute the execution and constitutionality of offensive legislation, and shirks its share of the burden which falls on legitimate traffic. More than great corporations, even, does it scrutinize candidates and employ legislative attorneys. No evidence can convince its agents of the social evil of which it is the parent, or raise them to the comprehension of what society would be were the traffic stamped out. It is manifest that society endures more from the liquor domination than from any other tyranny. It is manifest the mass of temperance men must be either hopeless of speedy improvement or in secret sympathy with the continuance of the traffic under the sanction of law. How else can the facts which appear be interpreted? How can the advances and retreats, the spasmodic action and the helpless reactions, be accounted for. When will the day come when this insolent enemy of all good will, like human bondage, be a thing of the past? And when will the Church—the whole Church—called to lead, and not follow, public opinion, help to put behind bars or in criminal secresy those whose avarice blinds them to the woes of a wronged humanity? If any think these indignant sentences too strong, let them read again the accounts of liquor-sellers agreeing in several States to defy the law until the question of constitutionality can be settled. Good citizenship keeps the law until repealed. But good citizenship and the liquor traffic never go together."

WHO "THE OLD SNOOZER WAS."

Traveling men, as a rule, are not apt to make "bad breaks," but sometimes they do. The other day on a train coming into this city one of these gentlemen wanted to sell out for a torn two cent stamp, but found no purchasers. On the train was a particularly lovely young lady, seated by herself, while in the seat in front was a perfect specimen of a well-to-do planter. The moist weather had probably affected the old fellow's corns, as he had taken off both boots and planted his feet on the seat in front. The relief he had experienced had caused him to drop into a sweet and serene slumber, and—well, it was just about this time the drummer sat down in the seat by the young lady and commenced to make things pleasant after the peculiar style of drummers in general.

"Old party in front seems pretty comfortable, don't he?" said he.

"Yes, sir, he seems to be enjoying himself."

"Makes himself at home, don't he? These old guys take a parlor coach for a regular dressing room. Just look at the style of these country socks, will you?"

"They look comfortable, though," said the young lady.

"Yes, they do; but just look at the style of 'em. I'll just bet they were knit by a hand out in the country somewhere."

"What makes you think so?"

"Oh, they are so dizzy, you know. Why, I wouldn't disgrace my feet by putting them into such old ham covers. I'd just like to know who the old snoozer is and who made those socks."

"Well, sir," said the maiden, "as you seem so anxious, I'll just tell you. The gentleman you have so politely called an old snoozer is my father and I knit those socks for him myself, and as I know you would love to get acquainted with him I'll just wake him up and introduce you. Have you a card?"

But the drummer had flown, and, though the next station consisted of only three houses, a traveling man and three large sample trunks got off.—Evansville Argus.

PART OF HIS PROFESSION.—"Pap, I thought you said the other night when you read that piece in the paper that if you'd catch any one huggin' your wife you'd leave her."

"Yes, I did."

"Well, then, I reckon you'll have to leave mother, fur yisterday when that dentist fixed her teeth he all the time had his arm around her neck."

"Oh, well, that's a different thing. That's a part of his profession."

"And kin he hug girls, too?"

"Yes."

"Well, then, by golly, I'm goin' to learn the tooth doctor trade!"

"EVER had a cylone here?" asked a Kansas man who was visiting a country aunt in the East. "A cyclone? oh, yes," said his aunt. "Deacon Brown's son brought one from Boston a spell ago, but law, he couldn't ride it. Tumbled off every time he tried."

THE Mother Hubbard dress has one advantage. When a woman is tired of wearing it on a dress parade, she can give it to her husband for a night-shirt.—Fall River Advance.

No misery is without some solace. The pleasure of abusing the umpire robs the loss of a base ball match of half of its anguish.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs: none so trifled with by the majority of sufferers. The ordinary cough or cold, resulting perhaps from a trifling or unconscious exposure, is often but the beginning of a fatal sickness. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has well proven its efficacy in a forty years' fight with throat and lung diseases, and should be taken in all cases without delay.

A Terrible Cough Cured.

"In 1857 I took a severe cold, which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded me the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of the PECTORAL a permanent cure was effected. I am now 62 years old, hale and hearty, and am satisfied your CHERRY PECTORAL saved me.
HORACE FAIRBROTHER."
Rockingham, Vt., July 15, 1882.

Croup.—A Mother's Tribute.

"While in the country last winter my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. One of the family suggested the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, a bottle of which was always kept in the house. This was tried in small and frequent doses, and to our delight in less than half an hour the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the CHERRY PECTORAL had saved my darling's life. Can you wonder at our gratitude? Sincerely yours,
MRS. EMMA GEDNEY."
159 West 128th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL in my family for several years, and do not hesitate to pronounce it the most effectual remedy for coughs and colds we have ever tried. A. J. CRANE."
Lake Crystal, Minn., March 13, 1882.

"I suffered for eight years from Bronchitis, and after trying many remedies with no success, I was cured by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. JOSEPH WALDEN."
Byhalia, Miss., April 5, 1882.

"I cannot say enough in praise of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, believing as I do that but for its use I should long since have died from lung troubles. E. BRAGDON."
Palestine, Texas, April 22, 1882.

No case of an affection of the throat or lungs exists which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and it will always cure when the disease is not already beyond the control of medicine.

"SUNNYSIDE" PURE BONE AND DISSOLVED PHOSPHATE
Price $30.00 per Ton of 2,000 Pounds. New Bags, 167 Pounds Each.

To those desiring a Dissolved Bone Phosphate, without Ammonia, the action of which is superior to most articles sold as Acid Phosphate or South Carolina Bone, we offer our

"SOLUBLE PHOSPHATE & POTASH FERTILIZER."
Price $20.00 per Ton of 2,000 Pounds. New Bags, 167 Pounds Each.

The above brands are sold and delivered, 12 bags to the ton, and in fine and dry condition for drilling. EXTRA MOISTURE IN A FERTILIZER ADDS TO THE COST.

You should count the cost of the Fertilizer by the cost per acre. As the soil requires more of a lower grade Fertilizer to the acre than one of a higher grade, the consequence is that the extra quantity required, the extra labor in applying it, and the poor results obtained, make the lower grade of goods more costly.

With perfect confidence we refer buyers to all who have applied our Fertilizers.

NOTICE!

If you want a fine

Receipt Book

purchase the one published by the ladies of Fairlee Grange. These receipts are gotten up by connoisseurs in the art of cooking, and, are, we believe, well adapted to fill a great want in the culinary department of the household.

Price of book 25 cents.

Compound Wine

—OF—

Peruvian Bark.

An efficient and agreeable preparation for the cure of chills. Especially recommended as a tonic during the bilious season. We have prepared this with great care, and believe it will do all that is claimed for it.
