SATURDAY MORNING..........OCT. 4, 1884.

BILL SNYDER'S BOY.

Yer see that red-haired boy a-standin over yender,
With the ragged pants, dirty shirt and only one suspender?
Well, now, yer'd think, to look at him, that he was meek and mild,
But he's tougher than a cowboy and twenty times as wild.
Last night I took him with me down stairs into the cellar,
Ter help me draw some cider and git some apples mellar.
I held the pitcher under the barrel, while he pulled out the plug,
And the precious cider gurgled forth, ker-chug! ker-chug! ker-chug!
When I drawed about as much as any common man could lug,
The boy looked kinder scared and said, "Say Pop, I've lost the plug.
If yer want ter keep the cider in, jest stick yer thumb right in it,
While I go and find another plug—I'll only be a minut."
Well there I stood for more'n an hour, a-holdin' in that cider,
And I cussed the boy till the air was blue as sure's my name's Bill Snyder.
At last I had ter give it up, for I had got my fill,
And I pulled my thumb from out the hole and let the cider spill.
You kin bet your boots I licked that boy till he was black and blue.
For I knowed that he was playin' tricks, and I guess he knowed it, too.
Do you see that thumb? Looks 's if 'twas dead —of white as this 'ere ceiling;
I could stick a knife right through it; 'tain't got a bit of feelin'.
There's many a trick been played before on honest old Bill Snyder;
But I never had a thumb, till now, get paralyzed on cider.

BALLOONING IN WAR TIME.

Gen. Fitz-John Porter in a Runaway Balloon Over the Rebel Camp.

President Lincoln was much interested in the account of a perilous balloon ascension by Gen. Fitz-John Porter on the 11th of April, 1862, near Yorktown, Va. About 5 o'clock in the morning he stepped into the car of Professor Lowe's balloon to go up and make a reconnoissance, then be pulled back to terra firma. He supposed the usual number of ropes were attached to it, whereas there was only one, and a place in this, as was afterward ascertained, had been burned by vitriol, used in generating gas. Taking his seat in the car, unaccompanied by any one, the rope was let out to nearly its full length—the length was about 900 yards—when suddenly snap went the cord and up went the balloon. This was an unexpected part of the program. The men below looked up with astonishment, and the General looked down with equal bewilderment.

"Open the valve!" shouted one of the men below.

"I'll manage it," responded the general.

Up went the balloon higher, higher. It rose with great rapidity. Its huge form lessened as it mounted into the regions of upper air. It became a speck in the sky. The wind was taking it in the direction of the enemy's territory. By this time every staff officer and hundreds of others were looking at the moving speck. It is impossible to describe the anxiety felt and expressed for the fate of him, the central object of thought in that far away, moving speck every moment becoming less visible. It seemed to move toward the Union army, and countenances there brightened with hope. It passed over the heads of the Union men. Soon it began to descend, but with a rapidity that aroused renewed apprehension. Quickly a squad of cavalry plunged spurs into their horses and dashed away in the direction of the descending balloon. The rest of the story is as received from the general's own lips. While the rope was being played out he adjusted his glass in readiness for his proposed view of the enemy's territory. A sudden bound of the balloon told him in a moment that the rope had given way. He dropped the glass, heard the call, "Open the valve," made the response given above and set about looking for the valve. He was sensible of being flighty (the General loves to pun as well as the next one), but was not at all nervous. He saw the wind had taken him over the line of the rebel entrenchments. Having no wish to drop in amongst them, he let the valve take care of itself, and proceeded to take advantage of his position to note the aspect of rebel objects below. Crowds of soldiers rushed from the woods, and he heard their shouts distinctly. Luckily he was above the reach of their bullets, so he was not afraid on this score. The map of the country was distinctly discernible. He saw Yorktown and its works, York river and its windings, and Norfolk and its smoking chimneys. A counter current of air struck the balloon, and its course was reversed. Its retreat from over rebeldom was rapid. He opened the valve, the gas escaped, and down he came. He could not say how fast he came down, but it was with a rapidity he would not care to have repeated. The car struck the top of a shelter tent, under which, luckily, no one happened to be at the time, knocked the tent into a pi, and left him enveloped in a mass of collapsed oil silk. He crawled out, and found himself in the middle of a camp, not 100 yards from General McClellan's headquarters.

It is reported that a day or two ago Mr. St. John went into a Kansas drug store and called for a glass of soda water. His left eye accidentally twitched as the clerk gazed at him inquiringly. The mistaken clerk, not knowing the gentleman, gave him a liberal allowance of the usual flavor demanded on such occasions, and the glass was drained to the dregs. "My goodness gracious me! said the candidate smacking his lips. "I don't see how men can drink liquor when they can get soda water like that."—New York Sun.

A GIRL ran off with her best young man and was married to him in a little country hotel. Papa and mamma arrived in an awful rage, but just as the ceremony was concluded. The young lady was not one whit disconcerted, but hailed her furious parents with the remark: "Why, this is just as funny as it could be. Don't you remember this room? It is the same one you were married in, and your folks came to make a fuss, just as you are doing." Smart girl, for it was a true bill.

KING'S EVIL

Was the name formerly given to Scrofula because of a superstition that it could be cured by a king's touch. The world is wiser now, and knows that can only be cured by a thorough purification of the blood. If this is neglected, the disease perpetuates its taint through generation after generation. Among its earlier symptomatic developments are Eczema, Cutaneous Eruptions, Tumors, Boils, Carbuncles, Erysipelas, Purulent Ulcers, Nervous and Physical Collapse, etc. If allowed to continue, Rheumatism, Scrofulous Catarrh, Kidney and Liver Diseases, Tubercular Consumption, and various other dangerous or fatal maladies, are produced by it.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Is the only powerful and always reliable blood-purifying medicine. It is so effectual an alterative that it eradicates from the system Hereditary Scrofula, and the kindred poisons of contagious diseases and mercury. At the same time it enriches and vitalizes the blood, restoring healthful action to the vital organs and rejuvenating the entire system. This great

Regenerative Medicine

Is composed of the genuine Honduras Sarsaparilla, with Yellow Dock, Stillingia, the Iodides of Potassium and Iron, and other ingredients of great potency, carefully and scientifically compounded. Its formula is generally known to the medical profession, and the best physicians constantly prescribe AYER'S SARSAPARILLA as an

Absolute Cure

For all diseases caused by the vitiation of the blood. It is concentrated to the highest practicable degree, far beyond any other preparation for which like effects are claimed, and is therefore the cheapest, as well as the best blood purifying medicine, in the world.

The above brands are sold and delivered, 12 bags to the ton, and in fine and dry condition for drilling. EXTRA MOISTURE IN A FERTILIZER ADDS TO THE COST.

You should count the cost of the Fertilizer by the cost per acre. As the soil requires more of a lower grade Fertilizer to the acre than one of a higher grade, the consequence is that the extra quantity required, the extra labor in applying it, and the poor results obtained, make the lower grade of goods more costly.

With perfect confidence we refer buyers to all who have applied our Fertilizers.

THE "GALENA MILLS,"

better known as "Miller's Mills," have been under repairs and are now in first-class order. We are now ready to grind Wheat and Corn for our customers.

Our motto of milling is to guarantee satisfaction to all customers in way of turn-out and good flour and meal. We will gladly take back and pay cash for any bad flour we may make from good wheat. Try us and see what we will do for you. We have put in a Corn and Cob Crusher to grind corn on the cob for feeding purposes.

WHEAT AND CORN WANTED, for which the cash will be paid at highest market prices.

FLOUR, MEAL, and all kinds of Mill Feed for sale at the lowest market prices. For our reputation and responsibility we refer you to any of our former customers in and around Chestertown, or to the editors of this paper.

Very resp'y,

WM. J. SPICER.
