Kent News.

SATURDAY MORNING.....Nov. 22, 1884.

Kent County Agricultural Association.

CLUB ROOM, November 17, 1884.

Messrs. Editors:— Your kind acceptance of the article I sent you last week helped us to have a good attendance today. The meeting was called to order by the President, and participated in by all present. Some spoke longer and oftener than others, but I believe all took part and the writer is not prepared to say which added the most to the interest of the occasion, those who talked the most or those who said the least. The old notes and accounts due the club were carefully gone over and such disposition made of each one as seemed the wisest. An order was passed for the sale of the lumber, about 9,000 ft, for cash, at 1 think, $15 per m., members to have the preference. The executive committee have authorized Mr. Fiddis at Worton Station to attend to the sales. The regular question, "Is it advisable to plant peach trees this fall considering the drought?" elicited an opinion from almost every member, and nearly all favored planting notwithstanding the ground was so dry. A strong point was made on the necessity of care in planting at any time, and it was stated with truth that thousands of dollars have been lost to the farmers of Kent by carelessness in planting. Let all who contemplate setting out trees make a note of this, as it is true to the letter. A very interesting statement was made as to trees growing all winter, and even being nourished and kept alive by strength received from the ground when both trees and ground were frozen solid. The facts and arguments used were conclusive to the writer of the correctness of those views and were not denied by anyone present. This question did not promise much at first but like the block of marble from the quarry, before our farmer artists finished with it, it developed both beauty and utility, and, I think, all present felt well paid for coming.

Question for November 24: "Is it possible, and is it advisable for farmers to do a strictly cash business?" Mr. William Norris to open. Mr. Samuel Vannort was continued as essayist.

PARTICERS.

CHESTERVILLE AND VICINITY.

Messrs. Editors:—The only "burning words" we ever remember to have written was a paragraph intended for the NEWS, just consigned to the flames. They shone with much greater brilliancy in the stove than they would have done in the NEWS.

Had it not been for the "lection" excitement our village would doubtless have slept itself to death, but the "vicinity" has been "big with events."

A union protracted meeting of the two churches in Chesterville closed last Sunday night after four weeks' duration. At these meetings the pastors preached well and labored faithfully; the attendance was good for the most part, but the converts were not numerous. Many were called, but few chosen. Extra services will begin in the M. E. Church South, Millington, next Sabbath night; also, at Locust Grove M. E. Church. The Chesterville M. E. Church South will hold its quarterly meeting tomorrow (Sunday).

On Tuesday morning last, about 4:30 o'clock, the barn and stabling on the farm known as the "John Cummins farm," now owned by Mrs. Susan C. Daniels, of Smyrna, on the railroad near Lambson's Station, were destroyed by fire. Five horses and two mules perished in the flames, and the whole of the corn crop, 75 bushels of wheat, 6 tons of hay, one reaper and binder, one new drill, one horse rake, &c., &c., were all consumed. The farm is tenanted by Mr. George W. Smith, and his loss is estimated at $2,000. The fire was discovered by the family about five o'clock, when an effort was made to get the horses out, but as soon as the doors were opened the blaze came through with such fury as to make entrance impossible. Only one horse was gotten out, leaving seven other horses and mules to perish. The barn was about 40x60 feet and was in good condition. Mr. Smith had no insurance; it is probable the barn was insured. The fire is supposed to have resulted from incendiarism, or from some one in quest of plunder striking a match. Mr. Smith inclines to the latter opinion, as he has had some evidence of wheat having been stolen during the fall. Mr. Smith is not at all able to bear this heavy loss and an effort is being made to help him out.

While hauling corn last Monday Mr. William Pennington, residing on the Miers farm near Corktown, was thrown from the wagon, the wheels passing over his back rendering serious injury. On the Slaughter farm opposite, on the same day, a team of horses ran away with Mr. Wm. L. Slagle, Jr., by which his face was considerably skinned and one wrist badly sprained, if no bones were broken. On the same day two horses attached to a road wagon, belonging to Mr. Lewis Anderson, ran from Brooks' woods half way down Cherry lane where they were halted.

The Crumpton bridge has at last undergone repairs. Whether these repairs were made soon enough to prevent the two counties from having a law suit or two remains to be seen.

Mr. George Taylor, of Charles county, is now teaching our public school. Mr. T. is the fourth appointee since the fall term. One of the three others died, the health of two failed and they had to resign. From present appearances Mr. Taylor will remain, much to the disappointment of the big boys, who have heretofore had a pretty good time.

WALTER.

Mr. Gorman's Welcome Home.

Senator Gorman, chairman of the national democratic committee, arrived at Camden Station, Baltimore, by the 10.55 train Tuesday morning from his home, and was given an enthusiastic welcome by several thousands of democrats, who turned out to do him honor. The ovation was eminently proper and deserving, for no one individual has more largely contributed to our party's success. Mayor Latrobe and Dr. J. Pembroke Thom, chief marshal, made addresses of welcome, recognizing the important and arduous part which the Senator had taken in the campaign just so successfully closed. Mr. Gorman was then escorted to Barnum's hotel and was greeted with tremendous cheers and shouts all along the line. Arriving at the hotel there was a general call for a speech, and the Senator stepped to the balcony and delivered a neat and timely address, thanking the people for the recognition of his services in the fierce and stubborn contest which had such a grand termination. Among other things he said:

"In all this contest, my friends, when the battle raged hottest, I may be pardoned for saying to you I did not flinch or falter. Sometimes it was inquired of me: 'How can you stand up with such steady determination?' To this I had but one reply: 'I am a Marylander, and any Maryland man who is in politics, and is at all successful, must be ready to receive a charge of cavalry at breakfast, cold steel at dinner, and cannon booming over him through the night.' [Laughter.] Maryland! Oh, how I love Maryland! The single ambition of my life, the only ambition today, is to represent Maryland, and no other constituency. Maryland has done glorious work in this campaign. Wherever the battle was hottest there were our citizens, a glorious band, like unto the old line of the revolution that never faltered and never swerved. In West Virginia, Indiana, New Jersey, New York, Connecticut, the sons of Maryland have been found in the van, nobly doing their part. In addition, let me tell you now, that when we made an appeal to the people for the necessary funds, there came from Maryland more than from any other State in the Union except New York. I come back to you prouder of our State and our people than ever."

Who Killed Cock Robin?

Mr. Blaine, having become convinced that he is defeated—though he is so thick-witted that it has taken him a fortnight to get the notion well into his head—tells his fellow citizens who he thinks killed cock robin.

The Irish Catholics, he says, did nobly for him, and he believes them with compliments. They gave him, he says, "thousands and thousands and thousands of votes," because his mother was a Catholic of Irish descent and because Irishmen hate England—fine reasons, truly, for influencing votes for a President of the United States.

But the independents and the prohibitionists and the Rev. Dr. Burchard, combined, he says, were too many for him—particularly the Rev. Dr. Burchard.

If the ghost of the late Mr. Edwin W. Stoughton is permitted by its guardian angels to read this interview it will be complimented by learning that Mr. Blaine thinks his defeat is so largely due to "a clerical error."

Mr. Blaine also thinks that he might perhaps have been elected if the vote in Central and Western New York had been better provided with sidewalks. Election day was rainy, and he estimates that "at least from three to five thousand" of his friends stayed away from the polls for fear of wetting their feet.—N. Y. Herald.

GRAND COUNTY CELEBRATION!!

—IN HONOR OF—

The Great National Democratic Victory!

THERE WILL BE A GRAND

Torchlight Procession and Illumination

IN CHESTERTOWN,

On TUESDAY EVENING, NOV. 25th,

IN HONOR OF THE ELECTION OF CLEVELAND & HENDRICKS!

The citizens of the town are invited to unite in a GENERAL ILLUMINATION of their dwellings and places of business.

The people throughout the county, who rejoice in the now secured and long looked for change in the National administration, are cordially invited and earnestly requested to take part in this celebration. All will be welcomed, whether coming in organized clubs or coming singly, on horseback, in carriages, in wagons, or on foot, and will be assigned to proper places in the parade.

Clubs that may already have torches or other appropriate equipment for such an occasion are requested to bring them. Those not supplied will be furnished upon arrival at the place of rendezvous—the Railroad Depot at the head of town.

It is requested that local meetings be held in the several districts on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 22, to arrange for attendance here on the Tuesday evening named.

The following officers have been selected:

Chief Marshal:

CAPTAIN HARRISON W. VICKERS.

Assistant Marshals:

First District— CAPT. L. M. BEAN.
Second District —H. C. WALLIS.
Third District—RICHARD C. SMYTH.
Fourth District —THOMAS D. FRANCE.
Fifth District— J. CHAS. WHEATLEY.

The Aids in the several districts will be hereafter appointed.

ROUTE OF THE PROCESSION:

The procession will form at the Railroad Depot at 6.15 P. M., and move promptly at 7, under the direction of the Chief Marshal, the Assistant Marshals and Aids, taking the following route: Down High street to Queen, to Maple avenue, to Front (Water), to High, to Princess, to Cannon, to Kent, to Calvert, to Spring avenue and around Market Space to the Speakers' Stand.

Programme:

The procession will form in the following order—subject to such change as may be found desirable:

1—Young America in the advance, on foot, with band of music of their own number.

2—Footmen with torches and transparencies.

3—Float, representing the trip to Salt River—the ship in command of Captain James U. Coleman, Milton Baker, W. O. Dugan, Henry DeFord and Isaiah Coleman, five jolly Democratic "tars" who will see that none of the distressed voyagers jump overboard.

4—Band of music.

5—A body of horsemen with torches.

6—Float No. 2, representing the good old ship "Constitution"—in command of Capt. H. C. Chase—the crew, 20 young ladies, to represent the States voting for the Democratic nominees.

7—A company of ladies on horseback, with escort.

8—Band of Music.

9—Carriages and wagons with or without transparencies.

10—Band of Music.

11—A company of Horsemen.

Fireworks will be exhibited during the moving of the procession.

AT THE GRAND STAND.

From the grand stand in the center of Market Square short addresses will be delivered by prominent gentlemen who have been invited to be present. Among others HON. BARNES COMPTON, the gallant champion of the Democratic hosts in the Fifth Congressional District, THOMAS C. WEEKS, Esq., the silver-tongued orator of Baltimore city, and Col. J. ROLAND DAY, of Kentucky, are expected.

By order
Central Executive Committee of Arrangements.
WM. S. WALKER, Chairman.
Chestertown, Nov. 19, 1884.

GENERAL ORDER No. 1.

Each District Marshal will report to the Chief Marshal on Monday next the number of horsemen, wagons and footmen that will represent his district in the procession.

[This information must be given in order to fix in advance the position of the several delegations in the procession.]

It is recommended that the horsemen wear Sashes and Rosettes. By order,

HARRISON W. VICKERS,
CHIEF MARSHAL.

CHESTERTOWN, Nov. 20, 1884.

☞ Should the weather be stormy on Tuesday evening the celebration will take place the first fair evening thereafter.

Congressional Facts.

With the single exception of 1876, the congressional election of 1884 is marked by the only democratic victory in presidential years since 1856. The latter year the democrats carried the congressional election, and the House then chosen elected Orr, of South Carolina, Speaker. In 1858 the situation was decidedly mixed, and the House then chosen finally, after eight weeks' balloting, elected Pennington, of New Jersey, and a republican, Speaker. In 1860 the House elected was republican, and at its initial session the following March selected Grow, of Pennsylvania, for Speaker. In 1862 the congressional election resulted in giving the republicans almost, if not quite, absolute control, and Colfax, of Indiana, was made Speaker. He was re-elected by the Congress chosen in 1864, and again by the Congress elected in 1866. The Congress chosen in 1868 elected Blaine, of Maine, Speaker, as also did the House chosen in 1870, as well as that chosen in 1872.

In 1874 the first democratic Congress for sixteen years was elected, and when organized the subsequent March its choice for Speaker fell upon Kerr, of Indiana, who died in office and was succeeded by Randall, of Pennsylvania. The congressional election of 1876 resulted in the first democratic victory won since 1856 in a presidential year. The contest for speakership was between Randall, of Pennsylvania, and Garfield, of Ohio, the former being chosen by a majority of seventeen votes. The congressional election of 1878 continued the democratic success, and Randall was re-elected. In 1880, the republicans carried the congressional election, and the House then selected Keifer of Ohio, for Speaker. The congressional contest of 1882 reversed the verdict of 1880, the democrats carrying the House, which when organized elected Carlisle, of Kentucky, Speaker. The congressional election of 1884, as hitherto stated, marks only the second triumph for the democratic party in presidential years since 1856, the democratic majority in the House just chosen being about 40, or over double that of 1876—the single previous exception in twenty-eight years when republican defeat was the result of a congressional contest taking place the same year as a presidential election.

MARRIAGE OF MISS ASTOR.—The marriage of Miss Caroline Schermerhorn Astor, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Astor, to Mr. Marshall Orme Wilson, son of Mr. Richard T. Wilson, the banker, was solemnized at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the art gallery at the residence of the bride's parents, No. 350 Fifth Avenue, New York, in the presence of two hundred invited guests, including representatives from the charmed circles of metropolitan society as well as many prominent people from different sections of the country. The bride wore a robe of white satin, trimmed with point lace, the front of which was embroidered in silver, in the design of a cluster of roses; the veil, which was of rare lace, presented by the bride's mother, fell in folds about the shoulders, the ornaments consisted of a necklace of diamonds, presented by the groom, and pearls. The bridesmaids and ushers received gifts of diamonds from the bride and groom. The presents were many and included a house from Mr. Wm. Astor, precious jewels, solid gold and silver tea sets and objects of art. Their value is estimated at $250,000.

HALL'S
Vegetable Sicilian
HAIR RENEWER

was the first preparation perfectly adapted to cure diseases of the scalp, and the first successful restorer of faded or gray hair to its natural color, growth, and youthful beauty. It has had many imitators, but none have so fully met all the requirements needful for the proper treatment of the hair and scalp. HALL'S HAIR RENEWER has steadily grown in favor, and spread its fame and usefulness to every quarter of the globe. Its unparalleled success can be attributed to but one cause: the entire fulfilment of its promises.

The proprietors have often been surprised at the receipt of orders from remote countries, where they had never made an effort for introduction.

The use for a short time of HALL'S HAIR RENEWER wonderfully improves the personal appearance. It cleanses the scalp from all impurities, cures all humors, fever, and dryness, and thus prevents baldness. It stimulates the weakened glands, and enables them to push forward a new and vigorous growth. The effects of this article are not transient, like those of alcoholic preparations, but remain a long time, which makes its use a matter of economy.
