SATURDAY MORNING.....Dec. 13, 1884.

Time's Spinning Wheel.

BY MATILDA CANEY.

The past is past, yet I plainly see
Ghosts that arise in the dusky sea
Spinning on wheels of memory.
Beautiful forms in the dear old home,
In the golden morning swiftly come,
And I sigh that I should from the dear spot roam.

Stars shone out and illumined the night:
One with enchantment was so bright
It flashed like a meteor on my sight.
Hope never wavered. On I fled,
Swifter than wheel of time I sped
To realms of bliss the phantom led.

Not a cloud did the Hope beam dim;
Far away on life's bright rim
Pleasure flowed to the cup's high brim.
This was the dream of youth untried,
Pain and sorrow were underlied
With life and hope, in its fullest pride.

The past is past, and the spinning wheel
That sang each day with a buzzing reel,
My fingers cannot in these days feel.
Ghosts are on the garret stair,
Sloaling forms come floating near,
Through a score of years the same forms wear.

The wheels have turned and turned around,
'Till not a finger awakes the sound,
'Till faint in dreams they now are found.
Reality twines in fond embrace;
In the dear old halls is a lovely face;
Bows of promise hang over Grace,

A silvery thread doth the fair child hold,
Love that is tinged with a priceless gold,
That Tyrian looms have not unrolled.
The past is past. On memory's wall
Shadows anew of today will fall,
But hope will ever shine over all.

Beautiful buds and flowers will bloom,
Perfume floats through each dear old room,
From field and garden dispelling gloom.
The Sassafras river all bright and gay,
Will touch its harp for the queen of May;
On its banks as of yore will maidens stray.

One there more gifted than I, may bring
Tradition old in her songs to sing
'Till the woods of Stoneton in triumph ring.

AFTER TWENTY-THREE YEARS.

Two Lovers Who Waited for a Democratic Victory.

From the Louisville Evening Times.

A very pretty story, in which politics and love are romantically blended, is told in the courtship, love trials and long delayed marriage of Jesse Small and Rebecca Woodson. The two were engaged 23 years ago, and remained devoted sweethearts until a few days ago, when they were made man and wife. In Hart county, Ky., about six miles southeast of where Medfordville now stands, lived before the war Martin Small, an honest farmer, whose family besides a wife and three daughters, consisted of six sons, the youngest of whom was Jesse. Jesse was a fiery, impetuous fellow, who went to every cross roads dance, and was considered the finest rifle shot in the neighborhood. In those days turkey shooting was the favorite pastime of the country gentlemen during the fall and winter months. To distinguish himself as the finest shot at a turkey match was the Hart county farmer boy's greatest ambition. It happened one day that the turkey shooting took place at old Farmer Ezekiel Woodson's. Farmer Woodson was the father of one of the prettiest girls in all Hart county. She was not yet sixteen and already she had received numerous proposals for her hand in marriage. On the day of the turkey shooting at Farmer Woodson's it was noticed that Jesse Small took no hand in the sport. Jesse and Farmer Woodson's daughter, Rebecca, had stolen away from the crowd and were breathing in each other's ears the gentle words of love.

The politics of old man Small were Democratic, violently Democratic, of the Breckenridge school of Democracy. His sons took example from the father. At the secession of the confederation in 1861 and with the muster of confederate troops the entire male portion of the Small neighborhood enlisted. Before he went to the army Jesse visited Rebecca. The scene which was enacted at parting could be better described in the language of some of the local poets, one or two of whom have since fortunately escaped from the county. The lovers promised each other that they would never wed until the country had been saved and a Democratic administration restored. During the bitter years of conflict that followed Rebecca heard but once or twice from Jesse. One letter told her that he had been shot and mortally wounded on the battle-field of Manassas. She had no hope of ever seeing him again. One bright and sunshiny morning near the close of the war Jesse returned to his old home in Hart county. A bullet hole had pierced his side, but fortunately for him he had been carried from the field by a comrade and cared for by a skilled physician. He had almost entirely recovered.

After the last column of figures in the official count had been added up and the Democratic majority was announced 1,157, Jesse and Rebecca began their preparations to seal a contract that had stood inviolate for twenty-three years. To duly celebrate the occasion it was agreed to make a trip to Louisville and they solemnized the nuptials while here.

Mr. Small is 44 years of age and his bride is five years his junior. He is tall with a thin face covered by iron-gray whiskers. Mrs. Small has a pleasant face and blue eyes. Both were dressed in simple country style.

Odd Rhymes about One of Man's Friends.

From the Detroit Evening Post.

A doctor of some note gives the following rhythmical enumeration of the qualities of a good cow:

"She's long in her face; she's fine in her horn,
She'll quickly get fat without cake or corn;
She's clear in her jaws, she's full in her chine,
She's heavy in flank, and wide in her loin;
She's broad in her ribs and long in her rump,
A straight and flat back, with never a bump;
She's wide in her hips, and calm in her eye,
She's firm in her shoulders, and thin in her thigh;
She's light in her neck, and small in her tail,
She's wide in her breast and good at the pail;
She's fine in her bone, and silky of skin,
She's a grazier without and a butcher's within.

How Wood Carving is Done.—For an original wood carving the sculptor goes to work precisely the same as though he was modeling for stone. He makes his clay studies and changes them as he thinks may suit the surroundings for which they are intended, and then he makes a plaster cast of them. This cast he sends to a wood-carving shop, and the carvers go to work on it. A carving machine first comes into play. This machine has a plane full of little knives, which is first placed over the cast, and the knives adjusted to the various elevations of the design. Then the plane is taken to the machine, placed over the block of wood, and set in motion. In an exceedingly short time the outlines and exact elevations of the cast are "roughed" out, and the block is ready for the finisher.

Twenty-five manuscripts a day is the average received at the office of the Century Magazine. And yet, singular as it may appear, only one editor has died during the past five years!—Norristown Herald.

Beware how you allow words to pass for more than they are worth, and bear in mind what attention is sometimes produced in their current value by the course of time.

Notice to Tax-Payers of 3d District.

THE tax books for the Third District are now in my hands and the bill of each individual tax-payer is ready for settlement. I hope that payment will be made promptly, thereby saving me the disagreeable duty of resorting to legal measures.

The law explicitly requires that I shall proceed WITHIN THIRTY DAYS from the date of receiving the books to collect, so that I have no option in the matter.

I may be found at Worton Station every Tuesday afternoon and at the court-house in Chestertown on Saturdays.

Respectfully, JAMES S. GEMMILL,

KING'S EVIL

Was the name formerly given to Scrofula because of a superstition that it could be cured by a king's touch. The world is wiser now, and knows that can only be cured by a thorough purification of the blood. If this is neglected, the disease perpetuates its taint through generation after generation. Among its earlier symptomatic developments are Eczema, Cutaneous Eruptions, Tumors, Boils, Carbuncles, Erysipelas, Purulent Ulcers, Nervous and Physical Collapse, etc. If allowed to continue, Rheumatism, Scrofulous Catarrh, Kidney and Liver Diseases, Tubercular Consumption, and various other dangerous or fatal maladies, are produced by it.

SCROFULA

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Is the only powerful and always reliable blood-purifying medicine. It is so effectual an alterative that it eradicates from the system Hereditary Scrofula, and the kindred poisons of contagious diseases and mercury. At the same time it enriches and vitalizes the blood, restoring healthful action to the vital organs and rejuvenating the entire system. This great

Regenerative Medicine

Is composed of the genuine Honduras Sarsaparilla, with Yellow Dock, Stillingia, the Iodides of Potassium and Iron, and other ingredients of great potency, carefully and scientifically compounded. Its formula is generally known to the medical profession, and the best physicians constantly prescribe AYER'S SARSAPARILLA as an

Absolute Cure

For all diseases caused by the vitiation of the blood. It is concentrated to the highest practicable degree, far beyond any other preparation for which like effects are claimed, and is therefore the cheapest, as well as the best blood purifying medicine, in the world.
