My dear Sir. Almost one week since I had the rare & extreme satisfaction to hear from America and to receive your interesting communications. I am much injured to learn that you consider our cause as flourishing at this time & feel much flattered that you are pleased to attribute its present condition in some measure to our success on this side the Atlantic. The Gentlemen of the Board will please accept my very grateful acknowledgment for their complimentary notice of me in their third annual report. I dare of appearance of my ardent solicitude to merit their continued confidence so long as I may have the honour to ~~continue~~ remain in their service. But this period I regret to inform you will be short. I feel but too certain that this climate is ~~[illegible]~~ seriously undermining my constitution & if I continue here untill I am completely wrecked, the time will be but short. By Mr Lowell I informed you of my long continued illness both before & after his arrival & of my anxiety at that time to leave the Colony for a season. However I resolved in some measure about the time he left & continued
