SATURDAY MORNING .....APRIL 18, 1885.

Kent County Agricultural Association.

CLUB ROOM, April 13, 1885.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—The attendance today was quite large, nearly fifty persons present. I noticed some among the audience who were not members, and they paid strict attention to the proceedings of the meeting. I hope they may all soon become members.

After some little discussion the following resolution was passed:

Resolved, That this association recognizes the value to the farmers of Kent county of local option, and feel the necessity of taking the question of temperance entirely out of politics, and to do this it is necessary to send delegates to the State Temperance Alliance who have the courage of their convictions, and who will stand up to be counted: therefore, this association resolve to appoint three delegates to the State Temperance Alliance to represent the interests of the farmers of Kent county at that meeting.

It has been our custom in reporting the proceedings not to use names, but I think it will not be unpardonable to use the names of the committee appointed. They are as follows: Messrs. E. P. Janvier, Norris Barnard and John W. Corey.

The regular order of business here ceased and Mr. J. W. Hickman, of Chester county, Pa., was introduced and entertained the audience for about an hour with his lecture on the "Past, Present and Future of Agriculture," which was interesting and profitable.

The discussion of the question for today: "Do the interests of the agriculturists of the Eastern Shore of this State require the establishment of an Experimental Station on the part of the State?" was postponed for want of time until our next meeting, April 29. We have no meeting next Monday on account of the circuit court sitting at that time. X.

Chesterville and Vicinity.

Messrs. Editors: — Enoch G. King, living with Mr. E. Cooper, near Chesterville, met with quite an accident on Saturday last. He was using a feed-cutter and, while feeding the machine with his left hand, which was gloved, his hand was caught by the knives and two middle middle fingers were completely severed, while his forefinger was very badly cut and had to be sewed up. Mr. King was at once taken to Crumpton, where Drs. Sheppard and Cahoon amputated the two middle fingers. The patient is doing reasonably well.

Mr. Geo. Taylor, the principal of our public school, has resigned because of ill-health. Mr. T. is the third teacher since the commencement of the term who has been compelled to resign on account of bad health. Mr. Taylor was a good teacher, and by his gentlemanly manners and many virtues made many friends in our midst, who part with him with regret. He left for his home in Charles county last Wednesday.

Rev. W. H. Sanders, pastor of M. E. Church South, Kent circuit, occupied his pulpit last Sabbath. He has been sick ever since he came here, and is scarcely able to keep up. Rev. G. W. Townsend, pastor of Galena circuit, exchanged pulpits with Rev. H. S. Thompson, of Easton, last Sabbath. Rev. C. K. Morris, of Sassafras, filled Mr. Townsend's pulpits in his absence, except at Galena in the morning, where the elder preached.

The wheat crop is improving; the fruit crop is promising.

A gentleman of this place heard a terrible squealing in his poultry house Wednesday night. Seizing his gun he went out and, behold the thief—a tremendous opossum! Under cover of fire he brought him to, and now has him on exhibition. He (the 'possum) has been living on poultry for some time. WALTER.

Letter from Fairlee.

Messrs. Editors: — On Thursday, the 9th, a goodly company of granges and farmers, with their wives and daughters, assembled at the Grange Hall, in this place, to hear Mr. Hickman in his lectures on "Advanced Agriculture" and "Matrimony." I propose to give your readers a bird's eye synopsis of the addresses, as a verbatim report would occupy more space than your columns could afford consistently with their usual variety. This brief sketch however may be sufficient to induce other communities to extend an invitation to Mr. Hickman, which, I doubt not, would be accepted, to repeat his instructive and interesting lectures in other places.

Remarking upon the conservative character of all agricultural peoples from the earliest ages, as illustrated by their disinclination to adopt new implements of husbandry or different processes of tillage, he said the French were the least fearful of innovation. We, as a nation, needed to be more courageous; it had been a great while since the idea that an iron implement was poisonous to growing crops had been discarded and with it the old wooden mouldboard.

By a series of charts, representing pots of growing plants, he gave a vivid idea of the effect of each of the principal elements of the soil upon vegetable growth taken separately and in combination, and considered that much of the highest results attained was due to a proper combination of the essential elements. These charts represented a series of experiments made by Prof. Ville, a French chemist, to show the actual difference in quantity and weight of grain produced by clean, dry sand, and the same pure sand in combination with each of the elementary substances of plant food (more properly soil food), and the whole taken together. By the application of nitrogen the maximum was attained. Every crop taken from the soil robbed it of a portion of each of these elementary constituents, and unless replaced by some means the land must grow poorer and finally useless for cultivation. The minor elements of the soil, as sodium, alumina, &c., were taken up by the growing plants in such infinitessimal quantities and carried off in the sale of products that their loss was of little consequence, as the supply was practically inexhaustible. But with phosphoric acid, potassium, and especially nitrogen, the case was different. These, entering largely into every crop and sold, must be returned by the application of commercial fertilizers or the soil will deteriorate to utter exhaustion. Mr. H. read from a tabulated statement the amount of such soil ingredients carried off the farm by the sale of various crops, as wheat, corn, beef, mutton, &c., and insisted upon the absolute necessity of returning them. Stable manure would not answer the purpose; he thought it would not pay to haul it 2 miles, if given to the farmer it would not cover the expense of carriage that distance. He could carry by hand in a bucket more of the elements of fertility than a farmer could carry in a ton of stable manure. What use of wearing out teams and expending time and labor in moving such heavy materials when so much greater benefit can be secured by the use of concentrated fertilizers without such labor? Mr. H. invited any of his auditors to put any questions the subject might suggest to their minds.

One gentleman sought information as to the value of lime on land. Mr. H. was understood to say that the application of lime was, as in the case of stable manures, a wasteful expenditure of time and labor, as its only action was to hasten the decomposition of vegetable matter left on and in the soil and its conversion into humus, which would take place in time by natural decay. Another gentleman desired to know in what quantity commercial fertilizers should be applied to secure the maximum result, say fifty bushels of wheat per acre. The lecturer thought that because of variations of temperature and seasons and for various other reasons the question could not be definitely answered; but he was evidently not disposed to administer homeopathic doses. Other questions were propounded, a notice of which must be reserved (with your consent) for a future letter. The subject is one of paramount importance to the people of this county and State, and indeed to tillers of the soil everywhere.

After music by the grange choir, accompanied by their new organ, Mr. Hickman introduced the subject of matrimony. Though in its relations to the happiness of mankind it is really a very serious subject, its discussion was as the afterpiece to a drama. The audience were well entertained and especially amused by the means by which he had gained the reputation of a fortune-teller. At the close a married lady was introduced to him with a request to tell what kind of a husband she would be likely to get. But a broad smile from the spectators conveyed the hint the lady was already sufficiently married. The next one introduced desired a description of her husband. He was very fully described, when to the amusement of all parties, it was made known the lady had not even yet taken a ticket in the matrimonial lottery.

THE REV. DR. BRISTOR IS HIS NEW CHURCH.—The Rev. Dr. George R. Bristor, was sustained by the conference against charges brought by his congregation in Newark, preached for the first time Sunday in the Spring Valley Methodist Church to which he was appointed. He made no reference to the troubles he had gone through, but told his hearers how to attain to a high standard of Christian graces. He preached without notes, and after the sermon the most of the members, of whom there are but 66 in all, remained to shake hands with him. "The church," said one of the leading members, "is unanimous now in abiding by the act of the conference. We in this little church have not always been used to such preaching as he gave us today."—New York Sun, April 13.

Letter from Still Pond.

STILL POND, April 15, 1885.

Eds. Kent News:—Grim winter still nestles in the lap of spring. The peach orchards still wear their sombre garb. The wheat fields are not promising and many are discouraged; murmurings are heard on every hand; results are in the hands of Him who hath given us the promise of a seed time and harvest. It better becomes us to watch and wait in patience the consummation than murmur and complain prospectively.

The peach crop is still safe in this locality. Some varieties supposed to have been injured are still in condition to give an abundant crop.

The war cloud hanging over Europe continues to gather and threaten. The extremity of others may prove to be our opportunity, and our people should give due heed and profit to the fullest extent from the threatened calamity to others which we are powerless to prevent.

Rev. Mr. Macnichol held forth to a large and attentive congregation on last Sabbath morning from Matthew 13:33. The subject was treated in his usual practical way—the applications clear and comprehensive. The embarrassment confessed by Mr. M. when he first came a stranger among us has passed away and he is fast finding his way to the hearts of our people and we shall confess to being greatly mistaken if he does not take rank among the most popular of those who have ministered to us in the past. Rev. Dr. Caldwell preached in the evening from Ecclesiastics 12:1: "Remember thy Creator in the days of thy youth." He claimed the close attention of a large congregation. The reverend doctor is always new, no one being able to anticipate him. He is not a follower but a leader in his method, and they who listen are always instructed.

Your correspondent "Jack" seems somewhat sensitive whenever the subject of Town Hall is mentioned. When we want to be a little funny he thinks we are referring to that little air castle that had its origin in the minds of our town people during the early stage of our town hall project. So he grabs his wide-muzzled blunderbuss and fires away, calling us "critic and kicker," hoping to wound us, but that ain't us; we belong to the heavy weights; we neither criticised nor kicked; we subscribed liberally to the stock and we paid up. We belong to that class that represented two-thirds of the stock and were not willing to sacrifice a public necessity to avoid competition in trade. We were heart and hand with those who believed that a larger hall would be required in the near future and have never claimed in any serious mood that our hall was inadequate to meet the present needs of our community. We were among those who predicted that the enterprise would pay six per cent. on the capital stock and we are gratified to find it has paid more than nine per cent. for the present year; we are in no position to feel badly about hall matters, whatever may be said. Our vindication is the "facts" and we would caution our friend "Jack" to always load his blunderbuss with sand instead of powder whenever he proposes to shut both eyes and do a little promiscuous shooting; we haven't heard of his hitting anything, it is true, but then he might.

Last evening the "Ellis Family of Bell-Ringers" gave us one of the best entertainments that has ever visited this locality. The entertainment was characterized by refinement, modesty and high musical accomplishment, acceptable in the highest degree; it was well patronized and everybody was more than satisfied. SQUINT.

A Suggestion.

Messrs. Editors:—Referring to a question before the Agricultural Society of this county—to wit. "Do the interests of the Agriculturists of the Eastern Shore of this State require the establishment of an Experimental Station in the State?" will you permit a layman to express, through your columns, the hope that if the State has money to appropriate for the benefit of our needy farmers, it shall not be frittered away in the manner indicated, but shall be applied to providing for us an abundant supply of reliable labor—male and female help. This is the great want, not only of the Eastern Shore but of the whole State, and the aid of the State in supplying it, if properly directed, may prove invaluable, not only to farmers but to the whole community, and may add largely to the revenues of the State itself by facilitating the development of its latent resources. VERBUM SAT.

Why Smoking Injured Grant.

Mr. Wm. S. Roose, the well-known cigar dealer, of Washington, says that in his belief the real cause of Gen. Grant's disease has never yet been correctly stated. Mr. Roose, from the time that Gen. Grant came to Washington to take charge of army headquarters until he left the White House, always supplied him with cigars, and in all the subsequent visits of the General to Washington he invariably dealt with Mr. Roose. Mr. Roose says the statement which has so frequently been made as to the strength and the number of cigars smoked by Gen. Grant is entirely erroneous. He says that Gen. Grant did not smoke strong cigars, neither did he use half so many per day as is popularly supposed. He always called for a cigar of fine flavor and of medium strength, and paid good prices. It was his habit constantly to retain his cigar in his mouth after the fire was extinguished, which would be the case very often when he was engaged in conversation. Mr. R. says he has many times noticed the General stand or sit for an hour or two with a half-smoked cigar, which had gone out, in his mouth, and people seeing him constantly with a cigar obtained the idea, which has become prevalent, that the number consumed by him was enormous. Gen. Grant never expectorated as so many smokers do. Scarcely anything is more noxious to the smell than an unlighted cigar partially consumed, and the mixture which it makes with the saliva cannot be regarded as a healthy solution. Mr. Roose is of the belief that it was neither the strength nor the number of cigars consumed by Gen. Grant which was the origin of his disease, but that it was due to the retention of the deadly nicotine expectorated by most smokers, and its continued contact with the tongue and the palate before it was received into the stomach.

SYMPATHY RECOGNIZED.—The Providence, (R. I.) Journal, rep., in commenting upon the resolutions of respect and sympathy for Gen. Grant, offered by Wm. Preston Johnston, son of Gen. Albert Sidney Johnston, and adopted by the Veterans of the Confederate army of Tennessee, says they were "worthy of the spirit of the chivalrous commander of the attacking army at Shiloh and of the men who formed his line of battle, and will touch a responsive chord of kindness and gratitude in the heart of every Union veteran, and we doubt not will moisten the eye of the dying soldier, which has not blanched at the face of death.

MR. CURTIS DAVIS, of Federalsburg, died on Sunday evening, aged 76 years. He was one of the most prominent citizens of Caroline county, which he represented in the State Senate during the war. His death was sudden. He was in health, attended church Sunday morning, ate his breakfast and dinner regularly and with appetite, but at supper he was missed from the house. He was found dead in an out-house on his premises.

JACK O'DONNELL, of Plainfield, N. J., and Frank McCullough, of Newark, N. J., fought seven rounds without gloves for $250 a side Friday of last week near Newark, where the States of Maryland, Delaware and Pennsylvania form a triangle. McCullough knocked O'Donnell out in the seventh round. Both men were terribly punished.

ORANGE shipments from the leading points of Florida are falling off rapidly, showing that the bulk of the crop is about marketed. The Jacksonville Herald says the orange crop of the past season was the largest ever produced in Florida and the coming crop promises to be still larger.

Nichols, Sheppard & Co.,
vs.
Thomas W. Ringgold and Thomas H. Stavely.

In the Circuit Court for Kent County, in Equity.

THE object of this suit is to procure a decree for the sale of certain Personal Property, consisting of one Nichols, Sheppard & Co.'s Separator, complete, with stacks, belts and all fixtures and appendages with or belonging to the same; also one Truck Wagon under same; also one Nichols, Sheppard & Co.'s Traction Self-guide Steam Engine, complete with Truck Wagon under same, with hose and all fixtures and appendages, belonging to the same; also one Main Drive Belt; also one Nichols, Sheppard & Co.'s Horse Power, complete with Truck Wagon under same, and all appendages with or belonging to the same.

The Bill of Complaint states that heretofore, to wit: on the 9th day of September, in the year 1884, a certain Thos. W. Ringgold, formerly of Kent county in the State of Maryland, but now residing in the State of Florida, and a certain Thos. H. Stavely, of Kent county, in the State of Maryland being indebted unto a certain Nichols, Sheppard & Co., (a corporation created and existing under the laws of the State of Michigan), in the sum of Seventeen Hundred and Forty Dollars, partly upon three promissory notes, signed by the said Ringgold and Stavely, together with one John F. Newnam, Jr., (who has since died), payable to the said Nichols, Sheppard & Co., as follows: namely, each dated the 25th day of June, 1884, one due October 1st, 1884, for $533.60; one due October 1st, 1885, for $580.00; and one due October 1st 1886, for $580.00, which said sum of $1,740 was due by the said defendants for one Steam Threshing outfit, furnished them by the plaintiff; by the terms of sale of which outfit, if one-third were paid in cash a discount of 8 per cent. was to be allowed, and the plaintiff took said note for $533.60 upon the condition if paid at maturity it was to be considered cash, and hence it was filled up for $533.60 and not for $580.00, and the plaintiff admits a credit of $85.00 in December 1884 upon said note—copies of which said notes are filed as a part of the Bill.

That the said Thomas W. Ringgold and Thomas H. Stavely, intending to secure the payment of the aforesaid promissory notes unto the said Nichols, Sheppard & Co., did by their joint deed or chattel mortgage, bearing date the 9th day of September, 1884, (in which said deed or chattel mortgage the said notes are erroneously described as each bearing date the first day of July, 1884, one due October 1st, 1884, for $533.60, one due October 1st, 1885, for $580, one due October 1st, 1886 for $580, but which said notes in point of fact are each of them correctly described as heretofore set out at length in the first paragraph of this order), grant unto Nichols, Sheppard & Co., certain personal property, lying then and now in said Kent county, and particularly described in said chattel mortgage, (a description of which said property has already been set out in the first paragraph of this order), to which said chattel mortgage there is a condition annexed that if the said mortgagors of the aforesaid debt or sum of $1,740 with interest, and according to the terms of the said in part above recited promissory notes, as by a copy of the said chattel mortgage filed as a part of the Bill will appear.

The Bill states that there is a covenant contained in said chattel mortgage, that in case any default shall be made in the payment of the sum of money mentioned in either of the notes above in part recited, or the idterest thereon, or any part thereof at the time limited for the payment of the same, then the whole of the aforesaid debt, or any part thereof then unpaid shall be deemed due and collectable, and proceedings for the collection thereof may be at once taken.

That the first of said promissory notes, dated the 25th day of June, 1884, due October 1st, 1884, for $533.60, with the interest thereon has not been paid and still remains due and owing unto the plaintiff.

The Bill further states that the personal property aforesaid or so much thereof as may be necessary, may be sold for the payment of the plaintiff's claim with interest as aforesaid.

And that the said Thomas W. Ringgold is a non-resident of the State of Maryland.

It is therefore ordered, this 4th day of April, 1885, that the plaintiff, by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Kent county, in each of four successive weeks before the 4th day of May, next, give notice to the said Thomas W. Ringgold, the said non-resident defendant, of the object and substance of this Bill, and warn him to appear in this Court in person or by counsel, on or before the 5th day of August, 1885, to show cause, if any they have, why a decree ought not to pass as prayed.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs: none so trifled with by the majority of sufferers. The ordinary cough or cold, resulting perhaps from a trifling or unconscious exposure, is often but the beginning of a fatal sickness. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has well proven its efficacy in a forty years' fight with throat and lung diseases, and should be taken in all cases without delay.

A Terrible Cough Cured.

"In 1857 I took a severe cold, which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded me the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of the PECTORAL a permanent cure was effected. I am now 67 years old, hale and hearty, and am satisfied your CHERRY PECTORAL saved me.

HORACE FAIRBROTHER."

Rockingham, Vt., July 15, 1882.

Croup.—A Mother's Tribute.

"While in the country last winter my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with croup. It seemed as if he would die from strangulation. One of the family suggested the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, a bottle of which was always kept in the house. This was tried in small and frequent doses, and to our delight in less than half an hour the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the CHERRY PECTORAL had saved my darling's life. Can you wonder at our gratitude? Sincerely yours,

MRS. EMMA GEDNEY."

120 West 128th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL in my family for several years, and do not hesitate to pronounce it the most effectual remedy for coughs and colds we have ever tried. A. J. CRANE."

Lake Crystal, Minn., March 15, 1882.

"I suffered for eight years from Bronchitis, and after trying many remedies with no success, I was cured by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. JOSEPH WALDEN."

Byhalia, Miss., April 5, 1882.

"I cannot say enough in praise of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, believing as I do that but for its use I should long since have died from lung trouble. E. BRAGDON."

Palestine, Texas, April 22, 1882.

No case of an affection of the throat or lungs exists which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and it will always cure when the disease is not already beyond the control of medicine.
