SATURDAY MORNING.....April 18, 1885.

GEN. SHERIDAN ON GEN. GRANT.

"It is sad to think," said General Sheridan at the recent dinner of the Gridiron Club, "of General Grant dying under such physical torture as is inflicted by his terrible disease and under such mental anguish as I know he endures in consequence of the unfortunate business failure that overwhelmed him and his family. I could never comprehend why the old man (all soldiers call General Grant the old man) went into business, and particularly why he set himself up in Wall street. From the time he inhibited this business notion I have always thought General Grant was off his base, and had lost that abundance of caution that has characterized all his movements. I have listened to him talk about making money in perfect amazement. He imagined that he had a latent talent for making money and that his sons also possessed this talent to a remarkable degree. He seemed never to tire of talking about this when we were so situated as to be free from intrusion, and when we could talk with freedom of by-gone days. Now, I know very well, that General Grant did not possess the talent or genius for making money. His nature is too generous and confiding for that. His talent in connection with money was in an opposite direction and caused him to get clear of money in a very short time. He could never keep money before he set up in Wall street, and you know he is a very brisk fellow who can keep money after he gets there.

"What most surprised me, however, was that the old man should talk so much about this newly-discovered talent. He talked persistently, and Grant always talked well when he felt free to talk, about accumulating a larger fortune, and as I noticed his earnestness of manner I sometimes thought that I underrated him in this particular. Still, I could not entirely divest myself of the apprehension I felt on his account, and his very persistency and earnestness added to my fears. Why, I never knew Grant to talk about the great abilities which he did possess and which the world has recognized. No one ever heard him talk about his great military talents or boast about his splendid achievements in the field. And yet Grant knew he had extraordinary abilities in this direction, because his successful movements and the brilliant and decisive results that attended them showed him this. Indeed, General Grant had greater talent for conducting campaigns and fighting armies than he was really aware of. Nobody, however, ever heard him talk about what he possessed in this direction, and the simple fact that he descanted to me with so much earnestness and frequency on his supposed money-making talents started a suspicion in my mind that his previously strong mental forces were breaking up, and that he was rapidly moving away from his previous well-established lines of prudence and safety. No; the old man should have never gone into camp in Wall street, but should have settled down into private life after he returned from his tour of the world and enjoyed that peace and quiet he so much needed after 12 years of constant application and arduous labor in the field and in the executive chamber. This might not have averted disease, but it would have averted financial disaster and the terrible mental distress which I know he is now undergoing, and is far more poignant than the gnawing of his flesh by cancer."

It is reported that President Taylor, of the Mormon Church, has "skipped out" and cannot be found. As he has twenty-five wives it is supposed that he staid until after midnight at the lodge and was afraid to go home.—Phila. Call.

"Can you tell me," asked a Sunday-school teacher of a little girl, "why the Israelites made a golden calf?" "Because they hadn't gold enough to make a cow," was the reply.

Let go my ear," yelled a passenger on a West Side street car yesterday. "I beg your pardon," said the other man, "I thought I had hold of the strap."—Chicago Herald.

Oscar Wilde, who favors abolishing the coat and waistcoat, will, if he keeps on, soon look like a society lady in full dress.—Boston Post.

Education begins the gentleman, but reading, good company and reflection must finish him.

The Tariff Reduced!

Not anticipating these hard times and scarcity of money, I bought for

THIS SPRING AND SUMMER

a very heavy stock of

MEN AND BOYS'

COARSE AND FINE SHOES,

which MUST BE SOLD, and in order that they may be sold soon I propose to offer them to all cash buyers at a very small margin above first cost.

They are all FRESH and STYLISH GOODS and we only make this offer because we need money.

We have a variety of other goods, such as SUGAR, Coffee, Flour and Molasses; Segars and Tobacco, Powder and Shot, and many other articles, all of which can be bought at a low figure for the money.

This is NO HUMBUG

but we intend to do just what we say.—But in order to be convinced of the truth of this statement, we invite you to call—with the money—and we feel sure that we can satisfy you both in the price and quality of goods.

A MARVELOUS STORY

TOLD IN TWO LETTERS.

FROM THE SON: "28 Cedar St., New York, Oct. 28, 1882.

"Gentlemen: My father resides at Glover, Vt. He has been a great sufferer from Scrofula, and the inclosed letter will tell you what a marvelous effect has had in his case. I think his blood must have contained the humor for at least ten years; but it did not show, except in the form of a scrofulous sore on the wrist, until about five years ago. From a few spots which appeared at that time, it gradually spread so as to cover his entire body. I assure you he was terribly afflicted, and an object of pity, when he began using your medicine. Now, there are few men of his age who enjoy as good health as he has. I could easily name fifty persons who would testify to the facts in his case.

Yours truly, W. M. PHILLIPS."

FROM THE FATHER: "It is both a pleasure and a duty for me to state to you the benefit I have derived from the use of

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Six months ago I was completely covered with a terrible humor and scrofulous sores. The humor caused an incessant and intolerable itching, and the skin cracked so as to cause the blood to flow in many places whenever I moved. My sufferings were great, and my life a burden. I commenced the use of the SARSAPARILLA in April last, and have used it regularly since that time. My condition began to improve at once. The sores have all healed, and I feel perfectly well in every respect—being now able to do a good day's work, although 73 years of age. Many inquire what has wrought such a cure in my case, and I tell them, as I have here tried to tell you, AYER'S SARSAPARILLA. Glover, Vt., Oct. 21, 1882. Yours gratefully,

HIRAM PHILLIPS."

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA cures Scrofula and all Scrofulous Complaints, Erysipelas, Eczema, Ringworm, Blotches, Sores, Boils, Tumors, and Eruptions of the Skin. It clears the blood of all impurities, aids digestion, stimulates the action of the bowels, and thus restores vitality and strengthens the whole system.
