Nottingham July 28. 1835

Revd. Sir

This is to apologize for my apparent neglect relative to collecting the subscriptions which you sent me. I entirely forgot to say anything about them in my last to you, owing I suppose, to the hurry in which I was. I have long since seen all the persons who owe, and have their promises for payment as soon as they get as much money — When we they settle, I will send the money to you by some safe conveyance — the first, The Col. Journals were all rec.d & distributed as directed, —
I have seen the blacks at Smith's Meeting House, those who have been talking about Emigrating, they say that it will not be in their power to get off this fall, not being able to get their crops secured in time — If an opportunity shows off in the spring, I suppose then they will go

Affectionately Yr. &c
