SATURDAY MORNING.....MAY 23, 1885.

A Visit to Fairlee Grange.

Messrs. Editors :—I was honored by an invitation to attend one of the notable special meetings of Fairlee Grange on April 28. It was one of the most enjoyable occasions I ever attended. The humorous recitation by Mr. L. Alrich showed wonderful memory of such a conglomeration of words and delighted the audience, while that of Mr. Townsend Crew displayed a decided talent of oratory. The music was especially fine—"I'll Plant a Rose Beside Thy Grave" was rendered in excellent style by Mrs. Angelina Skirven, Mrs. Sparks and Messrs. Percy and Arthur Skirven; also, a solo by Mrs. Hulme was enjoyed by all. "The Grange Garner" was very interesting and instructive—we learned from the editor that every piece was original. Among the more interesting contributions was "Farmers' Wives;" also "Chronicles," which proved that by the untiring efforts of the ladies of the grange they had purchased a handsome and rich-toned organ. The "Garner" was read in a clear, round voice by Miss Ida Crew; we heard one remark, "Her papers are always good and read in a pleasing and expressive manner," and it certainly was on this occasion. The lecture kept us laughing; the presentation of the lamp was a success, while the whole was wit and humor of the highest style. A recitation by Miss Minnie Smith was enjoyed by all. The supper, for which this society is famous, certainly sustained its reputation; after which we left with kind wishes and pleasant memories for Fairlee Grange. KENT.

A Pleasant Evening.

Messrs. Editors :—At the hospitable residence of Mr. Joseph Rasin, near Lankford, there was quite an assemblage of young ladies and gentlemen, on the evening of the 15th inst., in answer to the summons of his eldest daughter, Anna. The house was lit up grandly and with the Chinese lanterns, presented a beautiful appearance. Dancing was commenced at 8 o'clock, the music being rendered by Mr. Jno. Hodgkin of Chestertown. The participants in the dance certainly did themselves justice on this occasion, executing some of the difficult waltzes and quadrilles with correctness and very graceful movements. At ten o'clock the attention of the company was called to the refreshments. The hostess had prepared a bountiful repast, consisting of the principal delicacies of the season; having partaken heartily of these, some resumed dancing, while others strolled around the lawn.

We will not attempt to describe any of the young ladies' costumes, but will say that all looked sweet. Having heard some say whom they thought the belle of the evening I will give her first initial—Miss E.

Dancing continued until about 1½ o'clock when after partaking of a second course of refreshments all departed feeling grateful to the kind host and hostess. ANON.

Temperance in Kent.

THE "ALLIANCE" DISSOLVED AND A NON-PARTISAN "LEAGUE" FORMED.

At the annual meeting of the Kent County Temperance Alliance held May 14 at Temperance Hall in Chestertown, a quorum being present, Rev. C. H. Baker took the chair and Wilbur Eliason was elected temporary secretary. After prayer by Rev. Dr. Bates the chair presented his annual report and then declared the alliance ready for business.

Mr. Janvier moved that the Kent Co. Temperance Alliance be dissolved; after debate by Bros. Hales, Janvier, York, Kemp and others the alliance by a unanimous vote passed the resolution and the organization was thereby dissolved. Immediately afterwards those present held an informal meeting electing Brother Baker as temporary chairman and W. Eliason as temporary secretary.

On motion of Bro. Janvier a Kent Co. Temperance League was organized to be thoroughly non-partisan.

On motion Bros. Baker, York and Eliason were appointed a committee to draft a constitution and by-laws.

On motion of Bro. Janvier May 28 was selected as the date of next meeting at 10 A. M.

On motion a committee was appointed to nominate permanent officers to report at next meeting.

On motion of Bro. Kemp the secretary was directed to notify the State Temperance League of the dissolution of the County Alliance and the formation of the Kent Co. Temperance League.

On motion adjourned to meet May 28 at Temperance Hall, Chestertown.

KILLED FOR A DOG.

The Swift Retribution that Followed.

A dispatch dated Liberty, Va., May 17, says: About 11 o'clock yesterday morning Thomas A. Jeter, of this place was shot and fatally wounded by H. W. Terry, of Richmond, son of Gen. W. R. Terry, superintendent of the Virginia penitentiary. Some time ago Terry gave Jeter a dog, and Jeter named it after Terry's sister, but no one knew that this had given offence. Terry was on a visit to his sister, Mrs. S. T. Walker, who lives a short distance from this place. He came to town yesterday to attend to some business, and went from the Windsor Hotel to Jeter's tobacco warehouse and was standing in the yard in front of the door, when Jeter came to the door and in a perfectly friendly manner asked how his father was and then playfully said: "Why don't you come up to see your kin folks?" meaning, it is inferred, why he did not come up to see the dog which he had given him. Terry immediately drew his pistol and fired. The first shot took effect just below the point of the breastbone and ranged upward. Jeter screamed and turned to go to the office in his warehouse, and the second shot was fired and took effect just above the left lung. Jeter did not speak after he was shot and only lived a few moments. Terry was arrested.

The Murderer Lynched.

Another dispatch from the same place dated May 18, gives the following particulars of the lynching of young Terry by a party of men supposed to be friends of Jeter.

For several hours after the killing of Jeter, excitement ran very high here, and open threats of lynching were indulged in, but better counsels finally prevailed, and sorrow over the untimely death of the victim seemed to take the place of passion and resentment. Not so, however, was it in the case in the neighborhood of Jeter's old home, eighteen miles south of Liberty, where the remains were interred at one o'clock Sunday afternoon, in the presence of nearly 1,500 persons. At 2.30 o'clock this morning a body of armed men rode into town and halted on Main street. A small detachment was sent to the jail. The keys were quickly found, and Terry was brought out so quietly that prisoners in the adjoining cells knew nothing of what was going on. All accounts agree that the prisoner spoke not a word; whether he was gagged or not of course no one but those engaged in the affair can tell. He was placed on a horse in readiness for the purpose, where the waiting horsemen surrounded him and marched him off to the south of the town, and about half a mile distant from the jail, where he was hanged to a small apple tree on the roadside. Terry's body was found hanging early this morning, his hands and feet being tied.

THE LOCUSTS ARE COMING.—Prof. C. V. Riley, the entomologist of the Agricultural Department, says that the country will soon be visited by two great broods of locusts, of the seventeen and thirteen year varieties, and that this will be the first time in 221 years that they have appeared in conjunction. They will not prove greatly destructive, and the injury they will inflict will probably be confined to fruit trees. The visitation will be prolonged until late in July.

THE Methodist Episcopal Sunday-school of Centreville will run an excursion to Tolchester on Friday, June 12.

THE first Maryland strawberries were in the Baltimore market last Monday from Somerset.

A FOOLHARDY ATTEMPT.

Prof. Odlum's Terrible Leap—Jumping from the Brooklyn Bridge—His Daring Undertaking and the Fatal Result—Graphic Description of His Descent Through 135 Feet of Space.

The New York correspondent of the Baltimore Sun gives the following graphic description of Prof. Odlum's fearful leap from Brooklyn Bridge last Tuesday:

Prof. Odlum had been in the city for some days preparing for the attempt, which he had long desired to make. It was feared the police would interfere, and the Professor had to watch his opportunity.

Soon after four o'clock Tuesday afternoon a cab left the New York entrance of the Brooklyn bridge and was driven to the middle of the great span. Here the driver pulled up his horses and two men got out and began to climb the railing. Before they had reached the top a policeman came running toward them, brandishing his club and ordering them to "Get down out of that." While he was talking with the young men, a covered wagon containing Prof. Robt. E. Odlum and a companion stopped about a hundred feet behind the cab. Quickly divesting himself of the blue flannel suit in which he was dressed, Prof. Odlum, clad in a red shirt and trunks, jumped from the wagon and sprang lightly to the railing. He quickly reached the top, and, poising himself for a moment, he stood erect and glanced hurriedly at the surface of the East river far below him. The people who were on the bridge in that vicinity sent up a cry of horror when they saw Prof. Odlum prepare to plunge off the bridge into the river, 135 feet beneath his feet. The policeman whose attention had been diverted from the daring swimmer turned his head just in time to take in the true situation. He left the two young men who had endeavored to throw him off the scent, and rushed back toward the Professor. Before he had gone a dozen feet, Prof. Odlum, without a moment's hesitation, had leaped out from the railing into the air. He held one hand above his head as a rudder to guide him in his descent.

The river below was at the moment clear of shipping. A tug and a schooner floated lazily in the stream several hundred yards below the bridge. The tug was filled with reporters and club men. Capt. Paul Boyton stood near the prow anxiously watching the bridge. The moment Prof. Odlum's body was seen to leave the railing, Henry E. Dixey, the actor, started a stop-watch which he held in his hand in order to time the descent. For nearly a hundred feet the Professor came down all right feet foremost. He shot downward with the speed of a meteor, his red suit making him easily discernible for a long distance. When within thirty feet of the water his body began to turn. As if realizing his danger, Prof. Odlum brought down his hand with a wave-like motion to aid him in recovering his balance. The movement was, however, made too late. His body had now turned so far that it was possible to change its course. Half a second later, with a mighty splash that threw up the water on all sides as if torn with a shell, Prof. Odlum's body struck the water on one side, and sank out of sight.

The tug hurriedly pushed itself forward to the place where the body fell, and Capt. Boyton, after seeing that life-preservers had been thrown out into the water, sprang over the side of the boat and waited for the body to come to the surface. Soon he saw the white face of the Professor rising from the water, and a moment later he was by his side. Seizing a life-preserver, which floated near, he with difficulty placed it beneath the body of the now insensible Professor. Blood, mingled with froth, came from the mouth of the daring man. A rowboat, which came to the rescue of the captain and his charge, was soon pushed within his reach.

With considerable difficulty the body of the Professor was dragged into the boat. A few moments later it was transferred to the tug and restoratives were administered. After considerable rubbing the eyes of the sufferer opened and sought the face of Captain Boyton.

"What kind of a jump did I make?" he whispered to him.

"First-class, my boy," responded the Captain; "you'll be all right in a little while."

But he was insensible again, almost before the words had left his lips. The prow of the tug was turned toward Old Slip, and all steam was crowded on. Just as the pier was reached a shudder passed through the frame of the Professor, and then, after breathing heavily once or twice, his heart stopped beating and death came to his relief. Sorrowfully the body was taken ashore and conveyed by carriage to the undertaker's in Pearl street.

Prof. Robert E. Odlum was formerly a professor of a swimming-bath in Washington, but latterly has acted as a clerk in Willard's Hotel. It has been the ambition and dream of his life to make this jump from the Brooklyn bridge. He made the attempt once before the bridge was completed, but was prevented from carrying out his scheme by the police. He was 3½ seconds in the air before striking the water. He was unmarried, 33 years of age, and a man of good habits.

An autopsy of the body of Odlum was made, and the spleen, liver and kidneys were found to be badly ruptured from the shock in striking the water. Odlum had a fine physicue.

James Haggard, who accompanied Odlum in his mission to take the fatal jump, was arraigned in a Brooklyn police court on a charge of aiding Odlum to commit an act endangering the latter's life and outraging public decency. The accused was committed to jail without bail for examination.

Joanna Robinson,
vs.
Isaiah Robinson, George Ingram and Mary E. Ingram.

In the Circuit Court for Kent county, in Equity.

THE object of this suit is to procure a decree for the sale of certain real estate in Kent county.

The Bill states that the plaintiff, Joanna Robinson, together with Isaiah Robinson and Mary E. Ingram, the wife of George Ingram, are seized in fee in equal portions of an undivided tract of land containing about twenty-four and one-half acres lying in the First Election District of Kent county.

That the said real estate is not susceptible of partition amongst the parties entitled, without loss and injury to them, and that plaintiff is entitled to have the same sold and the proceeds divided amongst the parties entitled, and that all the defendants are non-residents of the State of Maryland.

It is thereupon ordered this 14th day of May, 1885, that the plaintiff, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Kent county once in each of four successive weeks before the 15th day of June, 1885, give notice to the said Isaiah Robinson, George Ingram and Mary E. Ingram of the object and substance of this bill, and warn them to appear in this Court in person or by attorney on or before the 15th day of September, 1885, to show cause if any they have, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

Mill Notice!
HAVING leased the GRIST MILL, near Chestertown, commonly called "WHALAND'S," I take pleasure in giving notice to the customers and public that the Mill has been thoroughly repaired and is now in good running order. A new Bolting Cloth and a first-class pair of new WHEAT BURRS for making an excellent White Flour have been put in and I respectfully invite the public to give me a trial. By long experience in the business together with my daily personal attention I hope to merit a liberal share of the public patronage and will endeavor to give general satisfaction. It is requested that customers clean their grain sent to mill as far as possible—this gives the Miller a better chance to give satisfaction both in quality and quantity; grain not cleaned chokes up the machinery and gives great trouble. I recommend making two grades of flour; this gives a good turnout, considering both grades, and makes both better. FLOUR, MEAL and GROUND FEED for sale at moderate prices. JOHN W. WRIGHT.

AYER'S PILLS.
A large proportion of the diseases which cause human suffering result from derangement of the stomach, bowels, and liver. AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS act directly upon these organs, and are especially designed to cure the diseases caused by their derangement, including Constipation, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, Dysentery, and a host of other ailments, for all of which they are a safe, sure, prompt, and pleasant remedy. The extensive use of these PILLS by eminent physicians in regular practice, shows unmistakably the estimation in which they are held by the medical profession.
These PILLS are compounded of vegetable substances only, and are absolutely free from calomel or any other injurious ingredient.
A Sufferer from Headache writes:
"AYER'S PILLS are invaluable to me, and are my constant companion. I have been a severe sufferer from Headache, and your PILLS are the only thing I could look to for relief. One dose will quickly move my bowels and free my head from pain. They are the most effective and the easiest physic I have ever found. It is a pleasure to me to speak in their praise, and I always do so when occasion offers.
W. L. PAGE, of W. L. Page & Bro."
Franklin St., Richmond, Va., June 3, 1882.
"I have used AYER'S PILLS in numberless instances as recommended by you, and have never known them to fail to accomplish the desired result. We constantly keep them on hand at our home, and prize them as a pleasant, safe, and reliable family medicine, FOR DYSPEPSIA they are invaluable.
J. T. HAYES."
Mexia, Texas, June 17, 1882.
The REV. FRANCIS B. HARLOWE, writing from Atlanta, Ga., says: "For some years past I have been subject to constipation, from which, in spite of the use of medicines of various kinds, I suffered increasing inconvenience, until some months ago I began taking AYER'S PILLS. They have entirely corrected the costive habit, and have vastly improved my general health."
AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS correct irregularities of the bowels, stimulate the appetite and digestion, and by their prompt and thorough action give tone and vigor to the whole physical economy.
