SATURDAY MORNING.....JUNE 13, 1885.

DEMOCRATIC COUNTY CONVENTION.

The delegates elected at the Democratic primaries on Saturday, June 6, together with a large number of interested spectators, assembled in the Court House at 11 o'clock on Tuesday.

On motion of H. W. Vickers, chairman of the 4th district delegation, David Jones, Esq., of the 5th district, was called to the chair, and Albert Medders, 1st district, appointed secretary on motion of the same. The committee on credentials was appointed by the chair as follows: H. W. Vickers, I. Gibbs, J. F. Beeks, John Gale, John Brice. The committee retired with the credentials and subsequently made the following report:

1st. That the credentials are all correct and no contesting delegations.

2d. That the roll of the convention is as follows:

The above report was adopted and the roll of the convention was called, and all the delegates answered to their names.

The organization of the convention being completed H. W. Vickers moved that the convention proceed to nominate the ticket, whereupon Isaac Gibbs, of the 1st district, nominated Samuel Cacy for Clerk of the Circuit Court, and as chairman of his delegation cast 5 votes for him. John F. Beeks, of the 2d district, nominated Dr. Samuel Beck and cast 5 votes; Thos. Gale of the 3d district cast 5 votes for Beck; H. W. Vickers, of the 4th district, cast 5 votes for Beck; David Jones, of the fifth district, cast 5 votes for Beck. The secretary announced the result, which was 20 votes for Dr. Samuel Beck and 5 votes for Samuel Cacy. Upon motion of Isaac Gibbs, of the 1st district, the nomination of Dr. Samuel Beck was made unanimous.

The convention then proceeded to nominate a candidate for Register of Wills, whereupon Isaac Gibbs, of the 1st district, nominated T. Bromie Strong and cast 5 votes; John F. Strong; David Jones, 5th district, cast 5 votes for T. R. Strong; the result being announced 20 votes for Strong and 5 votes for Calder. Jno. F. Beeks, 2d district, moved that the nomination of Mr. Strong be make unanimous, and it was so declared to be.

P. Hatcherson; H. W. Vickers, 4th dist., cast 5 votes for R. K. Pippin; David Jones, 5th district, cast 5 votes for J. P. Hatcherson. The result was announced 5 for Boulden, 5 for Pippin, 5 for Hynson, 10 for Hatcherson. Mr. Vickers demanded another ballot, which was taken and the result was the same. Third ballot was had with the same result. On the fourth ballot J. T. Pennington, 1st district, voted for Hatcherson. Fifth ballot like results. The roll of the convention was then called and the sixth ballot taken with same result. Seventh ballot. Hatcherson gained one vote from the 2d district, giving him 12 votes, Boulden 4, Hynson 4, Pippin 5. On the eighth ballot the 2d district voted for Robt. K. Pippin giving him 10 votes, Hatcherson 11 votes, Boulden 4 votes. On the 9th ballot the 2d, 3d and 5th and 2 votes from the 1st district making 17 votes for Hatcherson, 5 for Pippin, 3 for Boulden. The convention then proceeded to nominate County Commissioners and the following gentlemen were unanimously nominated by the convention: Ernest, first district; Roe, second district; Cooper, 3d district; Morris, 4th district; Wheatley, 5th district.

Upon motion of Mr. John Brice, H. H. Gresham was declared the nominee for County Surveyor.

Upon motion of Mr. Vickers the thanks of the convention was expressed to the presiding officer and secretary. ALBERT MEDDERS, Sec'y.

The Temperance Question Again.

Messrs. Editors.—It is with no intention nor desire, Messrs. Editors, to trespass upon your valuable space or to enter upon any prolonged discussion that I ask permission to reply to the intemperate article of my friend, "Play Fair," in your last issue. He was evidently touched in a tender place if I may judge by the manner in which he responds. He gets into a fury and gives a sweeping denial of every thing, and cuts and slashes around generally. Now, my friend, be candid; you have been in the temperance work too long to act in such a hasty manner; you have grown gray in the service, and you should be calm. I stand corrected as to the notice given of the intentions of the meeting. I did not see the call as you publish it, but I accept it. But let us examine this call in the light of your recent action. That call assumes that all connection with the State Alliance was dissolved last fall at a certain meeting of the County Alliance. Let me call "Play Fair's" attention to certain facts: Did he not repudiate the action of that meeting? Did he not draw up and publish a card repudiating such action as unlawful—that fair notice was not given and that but three or four persons were present who voted for such dissolution? Was not that card signed by himself and several other gentlemen? Did he not attend a St. John meeting at Worton Station, and did he not request Rev. E. B. Newnam, the speaker at that meeting, to read said card? If you answer these questions in the affirmative, Mr. "Play Fair," why did you at the recent meeting introduce a resolution that the Kent County Temperance Alliance be dissolved? What has led to your conversion! If you were opposed to severing connection with the State Alliance last fall, in the heat of the campaign, why are you so anxious to get rid of even the name "Alliance" at this time? The contest is over, the State Alliance has proclaimed itself to be non-partisan; the very kind of organization you seem to desire, and yet you turn from it and repudiate it. Surely, something has caused this change. Mr. Daniel correctly stated the cause in his speech in Baltimore the other day. I refer you to that address. As you are a great admirer of Mr. Daniel of course his statements will have great weight. As to my not being "of us nor with us," I rejoice in the truth of that assertion. God forbid that I should ever stab the cause I love, and for the success of which I have labored, and that not in words only. I am willing that my record should be placed alongside of my friend's in this respect. I have tried to do my duty, but I cannot and will not boast. I do not question my friend's ardor in the cause, and I will not use the same terms in relation to his services that he has used in regard to mine. I see no necessity for crimination or recrimination in this matter. The State Temperance Alliance has done too much for the cause in this State to be kicked and cuffed by those who formerly rejoiced in it and held office in it.

Now, Messrs. Editors, I am through. I only desired to vindicate an organization for which some temperance men in the county still entertain respect, from the attacks of those who should be its friends. I have nothing whatever against the Temperance League. May success attend the efforts of all such organizations; but let us not, in our prejudice, try to build one up by pulling another down. In conclusion, let me advise my friend, "Play Fair," to put a damp cloth on his head and keep cool. FAIR PLAY.

A VALUABLE INVENTION.—MR. W. E. Bartlett, Jr., of this county, has just invented a useful machine to protect poultry and fruit from destruction by crows, hawks, owls and birds. A large fish is made of wood to swing to the wind on which four wheels are made to revolve in opposite directions, the fan of the wheels are nickel-plated; causing when in action a bright reflection. The large master wheel is made when revolving to lift a lever, which strikes a set of bells arranged on the side of the fish, so with the joint arrangements of the glittering wheels, and the bells constantly ringing, are well calculated to cause crows and hawks to give the machine a wide berth. A small machine has also been made to fix on cherry trees, thereby insuring protection to early cherries. Both inventions will be patented. Four of the machines are now at work, and have given entire satisfaction. Orders have come in so rapidly that they cannot be executed, caused by the want of the necessary castings, which are to be made in Philadelphia. —St. Michaels Comet.

GEN. GRANT'S BOOK.

Extract from His Work—His Interview with Gen. Lee at Appomattox.

Gen. Grant's book, to be published in a few months, will contain the following reminiscences of Lee's surrender:

"I found Gen. Lee had been brought into our lines and conducted to a house belonging to a Mr. McLean, and was there with one of his staff officers waiting my arrival. The head of his column was occupying a hill, a portion of which was an apple orchard, across the little valley from the courthouse. Sheridan's forces were drawn up in line of battle on the crest of the hill on the south side of the same valley.

"Before stating what took place between Gen. Lee and myself I will give all there is of the narrative of Gen. Lee and the famous apple tree. Wars produce many stories of fiction, some of which are told until they are believed. The war of the rebellion was fruitful in the same way. The story of the apple tree is one of those fictions with a slight foundation of fact.

"As I have said, there was an apple orchard on the side of the hill occupied by the Confederate forces. Running diagonally up the hill was a wagon road, which at one point ran very near one of the trees, so that the wheels on that side had cut off the roots of the tree, which made a little embankment. Gen. Babcock reported to me that when he first met Gen. Lee he was sitting upon this embankment with his feet in the road and leaning against the tree. It was then that Lee was conducted into the house where I first met him. Gen. Lee was accompanied by one of his staff, Colonel Marshall. When I went into the house I found Gen. Lee. We greeted each other, and after shaking hands took our seats. What his feelings were I do not know. Being a man of much dignity and with an impenetrable face, it was impossible to say whether he felt inwardly glad that the end had finally come, or whether he felt sadly over the result and was too manly to show it. Whatever his feelings were they were entirely concealed from observation, but my own feelings, which had been apparent on the receipt of his letter, were sad and depressed. I felt like anything rather than rejoicing at the downfall of a foe, that had fought so long and gallantly, and had suffered so much for a cause which I believed to be one of the worst for which a people ever fought, and for which there was not the least pretext. I do not question, however, the sincerity of the great mass of those who were opposed to us. Gen. Lee was dressed in full uniform, entirely new, and wearing a sword of considerable value—very likely the sword that had been presented by the State of Virginia. At all events it was an entirely different sword from one that would ordinarily be worn in the field. In my rough traveling suit, which was the uniform of a private, with the straps of a general, I must have contrasted very strangely with a man so handsomely dressed, six feet high and of faultless form. But this was not a matter that I thought of until afterward. Gen. Lee and I soon fell into a conversation about old army times. Our conversation grew so pleasant that I almost forgot the object of our meeting."

MISTAKEN FOR THE GOVERNOR.

How a Young Country Physician Ogled a Dignified State Senator.

Governor Henry Lloyd came up to Baltimore last Thursday morning on the new boat of the Maryland Steamboat Company, the "Joppa." On his way up he exchanged his stateroom, 17, with that occupied by young Dr. Ridgely Trimble, of Talbot county. When the boat touched Light street wharf in the morning, State Senator Lane, of Washington county, came on board. Supposing Governor Lloyd to be asleep in 17, he rapped loudly on the door and said:

"Governor, wake up and let me in!"

Dr. Trimble turned over in his berth and growled: "Who's there?"

"It is I, governor, Senator Lane," came the response.

"Well, what do you want?" asked Dr. Trimble, who was wide enough awake to see a chance for a joke at Washington county's expense.

"Why, I want to get in,"

"Well, you ain't going to get in," he was told gruffly.

"See here, Henry, that's enough of your chaff," Senator Lane pleaded. "Are you going to the House of Correction today?"

"Not if I can get out of it," Dr. Trimble told Mr. Lane, to his astonishment.

"Well, do you think I ought to go?" he inquired of the supposed Governor.

"Yes, I guess it's the place where you belong," was the blunt response.

"See here, Henry," blurted out Senator Lane, "this is going a little too far."

He was stopped short by a hearty laugh from the opposite side of the cabin. Looking around, He caught sight of none other than Governor Lloyd himself, who had been enjoying the joke so mightily that he could no longer contain himself. Senator Lane's countenance fell, and it was several minutes before he could be persuaded that, as Dr. Ridgely Trimble hailed from Talbot county, it would be an ill-advised job to kick down the door and attempt to pound the practical joker.—Baltimore Herald.

Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Minutes were read of the two last monthly meetings. The usual routine was followed in the opening exercises. Report on anniversary meeting was as follows:

The services of Mrs. Chapin, of South Carolina, have been obtained to deliver two temperance addresses in the M. E. Church of Chestertown, on Tuesday, June 16, at 10.30 A. M. and 8 P. M. Mrs. Chapin is national superintendent of southern work in the W. C. T. U., and comes to us highly recommended as a cultured lady of the South. We trust none will miss the opportunity of hearing her addresses.

Report on scientific temperance instruction: The W. C. T. U. of Maryland have had petitions issued to be circulated throughout the State for the purpose of obtaining the signatures of all the voters possible to the following petition to the General Assembly of the State, asking the enactment of a law requiring scientific temperance instruction in our public schools, "To the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives of Maryland, Believing that such instruction is essential to the welfare of the individual and the well being of the State, we, the undersigned citizens of the county of —— respectfully petition your honorable bodies to enact a law requiring in all schools supported by public money or under State control instruction in physiology and hygiene, which shall give special prominence to the effects of alcoholic drinks, stimulants and narcotics upon the human system."

Now, can any one refuse to give their signature to the ladies who have consented to do this most embarrassing work for the sole purpose of benefiting the youth of our public schools, many of whom never get a word of temperance instruction in their homes. I plead for the children with the solicitude of a mother who knows whereof she speaks, and would scatter these seeds in the youthful mind, trusting to the future for the harvest.

The essay on "Hygiene and Heredity," read at the last parlor meeting, was well received and requested for publication.

Adjourned to meet the first Tuesday in July.
RECORDING SECRETARY.

John Kelly's Waning Power.

MAYOR GRACE'S SCHEME TO CAPTURE TAMMANY—KELLY'S RULE DOOMED TO SPEEDY DEATH.

I told you how Tammany had grown restive at its continued failures under the leadership of John Kelly, and that secretly, anyway, a new chief was wanted. I had it from unquestionable authority, which was substantiated by Mayor Grace's bold move when he attempted to capture Tammany Hall itself. Fire Commissioner Henry D. Purroy turned his back on Tammany Hall some years ago and was branded a deserter by the organization. The scheme which Mayor Grace is credited with originating was to elect Purroy a sachem, and to make Dick Croker, another Fire Commissioner, the grand sachem. The scheme, however, was detected, and, at a meeting on Wednesday night, frustrated.

The Kelly influence still dominates, though Kelly's day is unquestionably over, and the longer he continues his autocracy the shakier Tammany will grow. Confidence in him has been dissipated, and the success of the opposition, the County Democracy, is steadily drawing adherents away from it. Although dispatches from Clifton Springs, where he is staying, say that Mr. Kelly is improving, they are not believed here. The general understanding, whether correct or not, is that Mr. Kelly is both a physical and a mental wreck.—New York Letter in the Brooklyn Union.

GOOD REASONS FOR RESIGNING.—Col. John E. Bryant, republican, who has been succeeded as United States marshal of Georgia by J. W. Nelms, democrat, thus explains his resignation: "I saw that the democratic newspapers of the State, voicing the wishes of the democratic masses of Georgia, demanded my removal from office. It had been my determination, from the time that I knew of the result of the last election, to resign in December next, because I was unwilling to serve under a democratic administration. I believe that the administration should have in the principal offices, men who are in sympathy with the policy of the administration. It is well-known that I am a republican. I fought on that side during the war, and for twenty years since the war. I believe in the principles of the party, and I believe it would be dishonorable for me holding a position under the democratic administration to publicly express opinions in opposition to those of the administration. I am unwilling to remain silent for four years, the length of my term of office. Therefore I decided to resign."

TO REVOLUTIONIZE TELEGRAPHY.

A New Instrument That Prints and Records Messages at Both Ends of the Line.

An exceedingly interesting exhibition of an entirely new system of telegraphy, that bids fair to at least measurably revolutionize telegraphic and telephonic service, was given in Philadelphia last Monday. There were present, by invitation a number of New York and Philadelphia capitalists, electricians and representatives of the press. The tests were highly successful. The most marvelous thing about the contrivance is the fact that a single ordinary telegraphic wire conveys the electric current and operates the receiving machine.

In appearance the sending machine is very much like an ordinary type-writer. The instrument has 42 keys—the letters of the alphabet, the numerals and a few punctuation marks, and every letter or sign struck by the sending apparatus was instantly shown both upon that instrument and the receiver. Pressure upon any key caused a certain number of magnetic impulses to pass through the line. The number of these impulses differ for each letter, and they bring corresponding letters on the type-wheel of the receiving instrument into such a position as to mark the impression on a piece of paper. Any person who can read can transmit and receive messages through it as correctly as could the most experienced expert using the Morse instrument. It is as rapid as it is accurate, and all messages by it being automatically printed, both at the point of transmission and that of reception, can be received with safety and reliability in the absence as well as in the presence of the recipient. The recording of messages at both points precludes all questions of errors in transmission. It cannot be read by sound, and is consequently the only method for preserving privacy in electrical communication. It is at once a stock indicator, telephone and typeprinting telegraph.

The inventor was Mr. George M. Hathaway, but Mr. Linville has done much to make the contrivance practical. The company controlling this system, which is known as the Hathaway-Linville, has already sold, at large sums, territorial rights for Ohio, Western Pennsylvania, Virginia, Missouri and Mexico, and is in negotiation for other large territory. A company in London has contracted to pay $1,250,000 for the right of Great Britain upon delivery of two working commercial instruments in London. Over 5,000 machines are now ordered. The parent company is not selling stock.

A Handsome New Hotel.

Mr. Robert Rennert's handsome new hotel, corner of Saratoga and Liberty streets, Baltimore, which has been in course of construction for nearly two years, is approaching completion. An army of workmen are giving the finishing touches to the interior, and Mr. Rennert proposes to commence the furnishing at once, and expects to be ready for opening for business in September. The building is a gem among hotels, and is not surpassed anywhere in beauty of finish and adaptability. It covers about 12,000 square feet of ground, and has fronts on Saratoga, Liberty and Sharp streets. The structure includes cellar, basement, six stories and attic, the whole surmounted with a shapely tower. The base is of granite, the first story brownstone, and the other stories pressed brick, with brown stone and terra-cotta trimmings. The exterior ornamentation is most effective, and gives an appearance of striking beauty that attracts the public. It is essentially a fireproof hotel, with all the modern appliances for use in cases of accident, including fire-escapes and standing water pipes, with hose, on every corridor, both front and back.—Sun.

MR. GEORGE P. FRICK, who died at his residence in this city yesterday, was one of Baltimore's representative business men, and contributed in many ways to the city's growth and prosperity. He was a gentleman of great energy and rare administrative capacity, as was shown in his management of the street-car system popularly known as the "Frick Line," which he inaugurated and pushed to successful development, and in his direction of the affairs of the Baltimore & Ohio Telegraph and Express organizations, as well as of other important enterprises. Mr. Frick was personally known to a large number of our citizens, and was held in high esteem for his integrity and many amiable qualities.—Sun of Wednesday.

THE POTOMAC FISHERIES A FAILURE.—The fishing season on the Potomac, which closed on Wednesday, has been almost a complete failure pecuniarily. The herring caught was the greatest for many years, while that of shad was the smallest. The price of shad ranged as high as $29 and never below $14 per hundred during the entire season. What was made by the fishermen on shad was, however lost in handling herring, the price of the fish seldom having been lower since the war. Large cargoes sold as low as fifty cents per thousand. Fishermen attribute the scant supply of shad in the Potomac this year to the backwardness of the season.

WHEN they have a shooting match in Kentucky which results in the killing of from two to half a dozen citizens, the local papers speak of the affair as an unpleasant difficulty. Such a difficulty at Berea recently between four men resulted in the death of three of them. Two of the men had been on trial for selling whisky contrary to law and the other two had been witnesses. Somebody else will have to sell the whisky hereafter in that place and one new witness will be required, if trials of this kind are to prevail in future. It is not likely, however, that there will be any scarcity of whisky in Berea in consequence of this affair.

THE CASHMERE EARTHQUAKE.—Dispatches continue to be received at Calcutta about the earthquake in the vale of Cashmere. Whole villages have been destroyed, and Dabgood, Janalapur and Oven have disappeared entirely, having been completely engulfed in the awful convulsions. The fort at Gurais and the granaries in many parts of the vale have been swallowed up. A large supply of rice and a considerable amount of money have been distributed throughout the vale of Cashmere to relieve the distress of the people. It is estimated that 200 persons were killed.

EXPERIENCED lumbermen have always held that timber cut in the spring was not durable for building purposes. Recent scientific investigations sustain this belief. It is shown that the richer the wood is in phosphoric acid and potassium the more likely is it to rot and mould; wood cut in the spring contains eight times as much of the former and five times as much of the latter as when cut in the winter.

BALTIMORE MARKET.—The Baltimore papers of yesterday quote as follows:

WHEAT—Longberry $1.03@$1.05.; Fultz, 93@99 for fair to good. CORN—White, prime, 62@63; yellow, 53@53. OATS—40.
