SATURDAY MORNING......... JUNE 20, 1885.

Children's Day at Rock Hall.

ROCK HALL, June 17, 1885.

Messrs. Editors: Dear Sirs — Last Sunday was "Children's Day" here, and by the way the children turned out one might suppose the day a well-selected one. By the time the services began, 9.30 a. m., there was scarcely an available seat to be had, and at the afternoon and evening meetings standing room was acceptable. Rock Hall Sunday school is one of the largest in the county, numbering over 190, and the regular attendance is above the average Sunday school. Mr. Rhyne, our superintendent, deserves a great deal of credit for the success of the school. Saturday afternoon was the time appointed to trim the church and it certainly was handsomely decorated with cut and potted flowers, and a large arch over the pulpit recess with the words "Children's Day, 1885," added much to the beauty of the decoration. Each teacher, officer and child seemed to feel it was his or her duty especially to see how much they could do to assist in making the church look handsome.

The responsive reading by the school was well rendered, and the singing was, as usual, grand. When it comes to singing and pretty girls, we will put our school against the country. A solo by Little May was very pretty indeed.

Dr. D. W. Bates, of the M. P. Church, delivered the address in the morning and was listened to very attentively by the children as well as the older ones. Dr. Bates has the highest appreciation of the Rock Hall people, and we are always glad to have him with us. Mr. Conaway delivered the address in the afternoon, and notwithstanding the extreme heat all seemed to appreciate his good effort. In the evening Mr. Downey, Mr. Satterfield and others entertained us with some very appropriate remarks. The meeting closed and everybody seemed pleased with the success of Children's Day, 1885, and if no good was done it is a grand satisfaction to know that one whole day has been spent for a grand and good cause.

Yours, truly, SCHOLAR.

Items from the Fifth District.

Messrs. Editors: — Sunday was observed as "Children's Day" at Rock Hall. The church was elaborately and beautifully decorated with flowers. The pastor delivered a very entertaining address on "Temperance."

The Edesville Cornet Band held a festival in their new hall last Wednesday and Thursday evening. It was quite an elegant affair. The band furnished most delightful music and is comprised of a very enterprising, moral and worthy set of young men.

Mrs. John P. Edes has opened a first-class millinery and notion store and will guarantee satisfaction to any of her friends who are pleased to give her a call.

I believe politics have at last cooled down and the "Cacy men" have become reconciled.

June 16. ANON.

[FOR THE KENT NEWS.]

JUNE 17, 1885.

Messrs. Editors: — As a portion of my article on the "Temperance Question" last week pointed to Mr. E. P. Janvier as the author of the article signed "Play Fair," and as that gentleman assures me that he was not the author, nor did he approve of it, I take pleasure in recalling in my last article which reflected upon him in any manner. I esteem Mr. Janvier very highly and had no intention of putting anyone in a false condition. I think this statement due to Mr. Janvier. FAIR PLAY.

Whole Families Reported Starving.

A dispatch from Parkersburg, W. Va., says: "The destitution among the people of Jackson county threatens the most serious results unless prompt relief is afforded. From time to time the lack of food and consequent suffering have been described by people outside the county who became acquainted with the facts, but these statements have been persistently denied by those who should have been foremost in extending aid. Now the truth is reluctantly admitted by all, and the county press in the issues of this week editorially appeal for aid, while the columns of the papers are filled with touching incidents of the famine. At a large meeting of citizens held at the village of White Pine, presided over by the Rev. J. B. Tope, and at others held at New-Kentuck, at Short School Home, at which the foremost residents of the county were gathered, speeches were made by over fifty people, all relating the uniform tale of lack of food and threatened starvation. At the New-Kentuck meeting John Smith, the assessor, is quoted in the Jackson Herald as saying that unless help came three hundred families in Washington district would starve. Editorially the Herald says: 'One large family subsisted for five days on lettuce, the father being ill and confined to bed, and had not prompt aid been rendered all would have starved, and we are informed by those in a position to know that hundreds of families are no better off than this one. Something must be done. Talk will not save the people. Let all who have flour or meal do something for their dying citizens."

Mr. Randall on Offensive Partisanship.

"I talked with Mr. Randall about the offices," said Colonel Goode, of St. Louis. "He takes the ground that questions of this kind should be virtually determined by the representatives; that the representatives should have a great deal and the senators very little to say to the President about the candidates for appointments. He gives pretty strong reasons for his position. The administration should get advice from as near the people as possible in the matter of selections, and the representatives are, therefore, best qualified to recommend. Then he thinks it doubtful propriety on the part of senators to go to the White House in the interests of certain candidates when they will be called upon hereafter to pass upon the appointments.

"He said to me, 'I wouldn't give a nickel for a man who isn't an offensive partisan in the sense now applied to the term, actively in the interest of the party to which he belongs. I am an offensive partisan myself. Officeholders should be removed because they are Republicans. Public sentiment, in my opinion, would sustain such a course.'

"I asked Mr. Randall if he thought any of Mr. Cleveland's nominations would be fought in the Senate.

"'They undoubtedly will,' said he, 'and there I think the President's position would be stronger if he stood on the broad plank of the right to surround himself with the members of his own party. I have urged the administration to pursue this course rather than to rely upon the offensive partisanship. The latter is a flimsy pretense, to my mind.'

"Mr. Randall further remarked that in his conversations with members of the administration he had steadily urged his views, but he did not venture an opinion as to whether offensive partisanship would be dropped and this more practical policy be adopted."—Globe-Democrat.

SENATOR HARRIS ON CIVIL-SERVICE REFORM.—Senator Harris, of Tennessee, in an interview in Chicago last week said he was opposed to "this civil service." He added: "I was opposed to the law creating the commission, and have never seen anything to cause me to change my views. I regard it as a humbug, calculated to do more mischief than good. I am opposed to the commission; that is, I don't think that the three commissioners should have the authority to name the appointees of certain classes of clerkships under the government, but, on the contrary, I hold that the heads of the departments, the men who are most interested in the successful administration of the departments, should have the right to select their own subordinates. I don't think it follows that because an applicant for a clerkship passes a successful examination on subjects that are most foreign to the scope of his official duties that he will make a better or as good a clerk as one who is deficient in the classics and higher mathematics, but who writes a good hand, is intelligent and has had some experience in clerical work. I think good, efficient men should be retained, and there are numerous papers on file in the departments with my name signed to them protesting against the removal of republican clerks whom I knew to be efficient and in every way desirable. President Cleveland and I do not agree on the civil-service laws. He is an earnest advocate, in fact I might say he is an ultra civil-service reformer."

LOGAN ON WHINING REPUBLICAN OFFICIALS.—The Chicago News says that just before General Logan left for Washington he said to a friend: "I hope every Republican who asks to be retained by this administration will be turned out of office. I have received letter after letter from Republicans in office urging me to exert myself in that way. I would rather help to get Republicans of that sort out. In fact it is strange to me that a Republican would ask a Democratic administration to keep him in office. No Republican would ask Cleveland to appoint him if he was out of office. A petition for retention stands on the same principle. It is virtually asking a Democrat for an appointment. If a Republican would not ask for an office he should not ask to be retained in one. If he is holding an office and is asked to remain on account of his faithful services it is another thing. In that case he has a right to accept, but he is clearly wrong in asking to be retained."

Senator Gorman's Success.

Few men in public life have, in so brief an experience, obtained such remarkable distinction as Mr. Gorman has done, without in any way seeking it. As chairman of the executive national committee in the presidential compaign, he rendered service the value of which is only known to those who were informed of the plans of the Republican managers to repeat, if possible, the fraud of '76. When the history of that scheme is fully disclosed, the country will be astonished at the narrowness of the escape from an impending convulsion. The courage, the foresight, and the fidelity to duty which Mr. Gorman exhibited throughout that trying period averted a most serious danger, and secured Cleveland's undisturbed election. Maryland is grateful for these services and will reward them by a compliment never before conferred on any of its citizens. Mr. Gorman deserves all the honor he will receive, because he stands as an example of what modest merit may achieve, without the aid of family or of fortune.—New York Sun.

A MISERABLE END.—The death of L. G. Dennis, better known as the "Little Giant of Alachua," at one time a prominent Florida republican, has been announced. A dispatch to the Jacksonville Herald states that in Gainesville last Sunday Dennis wagered he could drink two quarts of whisky in one day. He made the attempt, and died Tuesday of delirium tremens. Dennis, it will be recollected, manipulated the count of the presidential vote in 1876 at Archer precinct, in Alachua county, and returned 209 more votes for the republican electors than were actually cast. The fraudulent vote from this precinct gave the vote of the State to the republican electors, and this was sanctioned by the "8-to-7" commission. Dennis claimed his reward, but was only offered a revenue appointment in Ohio, which he declined. He became disgusted, and since then has not worked well in party harness.

THE Civil Service rule which prohibits the examination of applicants for office in the postal service over thirty-five years of age, and over forty-five years of age for the revenue service, is an outrage, and should be changed as soon as possible. Age should be no bar to official position. Qualification should be the test. This is a government by the people—all the people—and the postal service does not belong to those under thirty-five years, nor the revenue service to those under forty-five. Men are in their prime from forty-eight to sixty-five years, and to shut them out is to shut out the wisest and best. Change the rule or the people will repeal the law altogether.—Democratic Advocate.

THE stone work on the B. & O. bridge over the Susquehanna is all done but one pier which will be completed in a few days. The iron work is being put in position and several spans of scaffolding have been erected on the island. The viaduct on this side is completed. A continuous track from Philadelphia to the Susquehanna will be completed in a week or two. Work is being pushed ahead at all points.—Cecil News.

THE demand of the civil service reformers for the removal of postmasters who have permitted the collection of assessments in their offices is likely to bring many an official head under the knife long before they would have otherwise come to this fate.

REV. DANIEL DENNISON WHEDEN, D. D., L. L. D., late editor of the Methodist Quarterly Review, died at Atlantic Highlands, New Jersey, last Monday week. He was one of the most learned men in the M. E. Church, and was an able writer and vigorous reviewer.

for NEATNESS OF WORK and lightness of draft to the team. As I have ordered a large number of these plows, both two and three-horse, farmers will do well to give me an early call.

We also keep on hand the old reliable Concave Nos. 9, 10 and 11. Polished Minor & Horton, Wiley Nos. 3 and 4, and Two-Furrowed Plows; Harrows, Twin Single A and Double A; Cultivators and Cultivator Teeth unsurpassed by any manufacture. Single, Double, 3 and 4-Horse Trees and Hames.

As there have been a great many Chilled Plows sold in these counties, and as farmers have been put to a great deal of trouble to get Castings for them, if they will only give the name and number of the plow we will endeavor to keep them on hand at my shops in Galena and Chestertown. I always have on hand Plain and Slip Shares for the Ohio, Oliver, Roland, Advance and Syracuse.

If any of you are in need of anything in my line please give me a call, as I intend to sell low for the cash.

Thankful for past patronage, I solicit a continuance of the same.

AYER'S

restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray hair to a natural, rich brown color, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use light or red hair may be darkened, thin hair thickened, and baldness often, though not always, cured.

It checks falling of the hair, and stimulates a weak and sickly growth to vigor. It prevents and cures scurf and dandruff, and heals nearly every disease peculiar to the scalp. As a Ladies' Hair Dressing, the VIGOR is unequalled; it contains neither oil nor dye, renders the hair soft, glossy, and silken in appearance, and imparts a delicate, agreeable, and lasting perfume.

MR. C. P. BRICHER writes from Kirby, O., July 3, 1882: "Last fall my hair commenced falling out, and in a short time I became nearly bald. I used part of a bottle of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, which stopped the falling of the hair, and started a new growth. I have now a full head of hair growing vigorously, and am convinced that but for the use of your preparation I should have been entirely bald."

J. W. BOWEN, proprietor of the McArthur (Ohio) Enquirer, says: "AYER'S HAIR VIGOR is a most excellent preparation for the hair. I speak of it from my own experience. Its use promotes the growth of new hair, and makes it glossy and soft. The VIGOR is also a sure cure for dandruff. Not within my knowledge has the preparation ever failed to give entire satisfaction."

MR. ANGUS FAIRBAIRN, leader of the celebrated "Fairbairn Family" of Scottish Vocalists, writes from Boston, Mass., Feb. 6, 1880: "Ever since my hair began to give silvery evidence of the change which fleeting time procureth, I have used AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, and so have been able to maintain an appearance of youthfulness—a matter of considerable consequence to ministers, orators, actors, and in fact every one who lives in the eyes of the public."

MRS. O. A. PRESCOTT, writing from 18 Elm St., Charlestown, Mass., April 14, 1882, says: "Two years ago about two-thirds of my hair came off. It thinned very rapidly, and I was fast growing bald. On using AYER'S HAIR VIGOR the falling stopped and a new growth commenced, and in about a month my head was completely covered with short hair. It has continued to grow, and is now as good as before it fell. I regularly used but one bottle of the VIGOR, but now use it occasionally as a dressing."

We have hundreds of similar testimonials to the efficacy of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR. It needs but a trial to convince the most skeptical of its value.

Egg-Making Feed

—FOR—

ALL VARIETIES OF POULTRY.

THE object of the Egg-Making Feed is to supply from artificial sources the chemical and physiological elements absolutely required to form egg shell, albumen and egg yelk. We believe the use of this powder will directly enhance and increase the production of eggs.
