he is willing to keep them. He also wishes me to make his respects to you and your family. —

Please to give me timely notice of the day on which Vessel will probably be ready to sail for Cape Palmas, that Stephen may be sent on in time. He is quite anxious to go, and will no doubt be delighted when he reaches the land of the free & beholds the goodly heritage of the Coloured race & breathes the pleasant air of that most choice spot of that long neglected Continent.

Please to present my respects to Mrs. McKenney & the other members of your family.

Respectfully Yours
