SATURDAY MORNING ..... JAN. 16, 1886.

MARYLAND LEGISLATURE.

Kent's Representatives on the Committees —Appointments—Proceedings, &c.

This body reassembled on Tuesday, having adjourned over from Thursday of last week. In the House the Speaker announced the standing committees. Of the Kent delegation Mr. Wilson is on the committee on organization of the House, which gives to him the selection of the employee from this county, and also on the committee on corporations and on section 24, Article 3, of the Constitution; and Mr. Justis is assigned to the committees on claims, militia, federal relations and Chesapeake bay. The correspondent of the Sun says: "The difference between the two Kent delegates was settled by Speaker Seth, who appointed Mr. Wilson on the committee on organization, on the ground that he is a returned member. Mr. Wilson assumes the responsibility for any difference that may arise in Kent from his selection of an officer of the House from that county. Mr. Justis, the other Kent delegate, had good democratic indorsement from home."

Tuesday was an avalanche day for leaves to introduce bills. The reading clerks were kept hard at work for an hour reading the leaves by title, and the presiding officer referred them very promptly to the appropriate committees.

In the Senate, Mr. Lane, of Washington county, led off on the constitutional convention question. He introduced a bill to provide for taking at the general election in 1887 the sense of the people in regard to calling a convention for altering the State constitution or framing a new one, according to provisions of article 14, section 2, of the present constitution. Senator Lane says he drew his bill to cover this requirement of the constitution, asking the Legislature to provide for submitting the question to the people in 1887. The arrangements for holding the convention if ordered, he says, are left to the Legislature of 1887, and his bill only deals with its submission to the people. The bill was referred to the judiciary committee when appointed.

The House committee on permanent organization met Wednesday morning, organized and selected subordinate offices. Mr. Wilson, of Kent, made choice of Mr. O. B. Chrisfield, of Galena and he is assigned to the position of folder. There are so many counties represented by Democrats at the present session that none will get more than one employee and Caroline indeed gets nothing. T. W. L. Harley, of Queen Anne's, gets the place of a committee clerk.

The Senate standing committees were announced by President Warfield on Wednesday. Senator Burchinal is assigned to the committees on education, militia, public institutions, retrenchment in the expenses of the State government and rules of the Senate. There are but four Republicans in the Senate, and as it is customary to place a minority member on each committee, the Republicans are assigned to an unusual number. Mr. Brewer, of Anne Arundel, is the only republican Senator complimented with a chairmanship. Being a resident of Annapolis it was thought he was especially suited for the public buildings committee, and he was made the chairman.

A number of bills have been introduced and both houses will settle down to business next week.

THE DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS.

Unanimous for Gorman and Lloyd.

The democratic caucus of members of the Legislature to nominate a United States Senator and Governor was held in the chamber of the House of Delegates on Wednesday evening. The lobbies were jammed with people at 8 o'clock, the hour for the caucus meeting. Senator Rusk, of Baltimore city, was selected as chairman.

On taking the chair Mr. Rusk made a neat little speech thanking the caucus for the honor conferred upon him and reminding his hearers that as the people had expressed their confidence in the party by electing an almost solidly Democratic Legislature that a supreme effort should be made to justify that confidence. The chairman then announced that he was ready to entertain business under the call, and Senator Hayes nominated Hon. Arthur P. Gorman for United States Senator.

In presenting Mr. Gorman's name Mr. Hayes referred to the fact that he had cast his vote in the House of Delegates for Senator Gorman in 1880, and said that Mr. Gorman had well performed the trust confided to his keeping. Comparing him to his predecessors in the United States Senate, he said that Mr. Gorman was not the jurist that Reverdy Johnson was, nor had he the eloquence of Pinkney, but in solidity of intellect, executive ability, strong common sense and fidelity to the interests of his party, State and Nation, he had no superior in the long line of his predecessors. Mr. Hayes spoke of Senator Gorman's position in the campaign in Maryland last fall, and said his re-election had been made an issue before the people. The result was a "spectacle, perhaps never before witnessed in our country, of the people virtually electing by a direct vote a United States Senator." The speaker ascribed Mr. Gorman's hold upon the masses of the people to the fact that "he is of the people and for the people, and against the improper encroachments of the moneyed monopolists and corporations of our land."

The nomination was seconded by President of the Senate Warfield, Senator Rayner and Delegate Ireland, of Anne Arundel, all of whom made speeches.

Mr. Schultze, of Baltimore city, moved that the nomination of Mr. Gorman be declared by acclamation. Carried. Mr. Stonebraker, of Washington county, moved that a rising vote be taken. This was adopted, and the entire body of legislators rose to their feet. Chairman Rusk then declared that Senator Gorman had received the unanimous nomination of his party for United States Senator for the term beginning March 4, 1887.

Chairman Rusk stated that he was ready to proceed under the call for the nomination of a candidate for Governor. Dr. Benj. L. Smith, of Dorchester, nominated Gov. Henry Lloyd. He paid a high tribute to Gov. Lloyd's integrity and worth, and said he had proved himself a capable, industrious, honest and reliable public servant.

The nomination was seconded by Senator Hayes, Senator Slingluff, of Baltimore county, and Mr. Paul Winchester, of Talbot, in brief but eloquent speeches. Dr. Wm. H. Gale, of Somerset, moved that the nomination be made by acclamation, which was carried, and a unanimous rising vote was taken. Chairman Rusk declared that the Hon. Henry Lloyd had been chosen unanimously as the nominee of his party for Governor of the State of Maryland to fill the unexpired term of the Hon. Robert M. McLane.

The deliberations of the caucus were harmonious throughout and frequently enthusiastic. Every one of the one hundred democratic members took part in the caucus.

THE BIG DAKOTA FARMER.—A correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer says: "I had a conversation yesterday with Mr. Dwight, the manager of the great Dwight farm in Dakota. He has sixty thousand acres of land to till—one of the largest tracts in Dakota or the country. I asked him if the India wheat crops affected Dakota, and was surprised at the prompt answer in the negative. He explained his reply by saying: 'The wheat raised in Dakota is harder than any wheat that is grown in quantities anywhere on the face of the globe. It will always bring a higher price than any other wheat because it makes better flour. As long as some men are richer than others, and will have the best of everything that money can buy, so long Dakota wheat will have the best of every market. I attribute the quality of the grain to the coolness of the climate, and the large quantity of alkali that it finds to absorb in Dakota soil. The Indian wheat is soft and pulpy. It is not a good article of food. Right alongside of us Montana and Washington Territories are unable to produce such wheat as we do.'"

A TERRIBLE RAILROAD ACCIDENT.

A Wreck and Fire at Wilmington—Three Men Killed and Several Injured—Awful Scenes!

About 7.30 o'clock last Saturday morning a collision occurred on the Philadelphia, Wilmington & Baltimore Railroad, near the Wilmington station, between a train which was preparing to leave the city on the Wilmington and Northern Railway for Reading, Pa., and a shifting engine which was engaged in clearing the tracks of the heavy snow. The train consisted of a baggage and mail car and passenger coach, and it was backing up to the station of the P. W. & B. R. R. to take on its passengers when the collision occurred. As the tracks were clogged, it had an extra engine, No. 9, attached to the rear next to the passenger coach, and was backing at full speed, when shifting No. 16, which was coming from the station on the same track under full steam, in order better to clear the track of snow with its snow plow, dashed into the extra engine of the backing train. A blinding snow-storm was in progress, and the engineers could not see their danger. Engine No. 9 was driven into the passenger coach, the boiler of the engine was fractured and the car took fire from the furnace. A. G. McCausland, superintendent of the Wilmington and Northern Railroad, and Geo. Black, conductor, who were standing on the platform of the car, were thrown out into the snow, but Black was pinioned in the debris, and badly scalded by the escaping steam. The engineer of No. 9, his fireman and three brakemen were crushed in the wreck. The city fire department extinguished the flames after three of the bodies had been practically incinerated.

It is probable, however, that they were dead before the fire added to the horror of the occasion, as their limbs had been torn off and other frightful wounds were discovered upon their bodies. Four or five wounded men who lay helplessly pinioned were rescued before the fire had reached them. It was nearly two hours' work to remove the bodies and gather up the human fragments, a work so revolting and horrible that nearly every one engaged in the task sickened. A nauseating odor of burning human flesh filled the air, and parts of the bodies of mangled victims were strewn over the snow in all directions. One dead body had the legs cut off and the flesh of the trunk was roasted to a crisp. The entrails protruded from the second body taken from the wreck, and the face was so much burned that the flesh fell off, exposing the skull to view. The other dead man was in a cramped posture, and his arms stood aloft, quivering and trembling, the heat producing a rigidity which added to the ghastliness of his appearance. His skull had burst open, the hair had burned from his scalp, and the brains were cracking and sizzling with the heat. Many men fainted at the sight, and but few could continue the humane work. The dead and wounded were all residents of Wilmington." The dead are: Albert L. Jones, conductor of shifting crew, a young man, unmarried; George W. Brinton, the signal-tower telegraph operator, recently married, identified by a small ring taken from a finger of his hand, which was parted from the body, and Harry Ahrens, brakeman of a shifting gang, a young man, unmarried, whose body was almost entirely incinerated.

Abe Lawler, a fireman of engine No. 9, was terribly burned about the legs, necessitating immediate amputation of the left limb. His recovery is only a possibility. John Garry, assistant yardmaster, received a wound on the head which produced concussion of the brain. He cannot recover. George Black, conductor of the wrecked train, was severely scalded and bruised, but there is some hope of saving his life. J. J. Flynn, a brakeman, was severely bruised and shocked. Samuel McMullen, conductor, was badly bruised internally and severely shocked. Jas. Melvin, train dispatcher, suffered a compound fracture of the right leg and internal injuries. His condition is very critical. Elwood Coyle was thrown through the cab window of his engine. His head was cut and his legs badly bruised. The list of wounded includes a number of others whose injuries are slight.

WM. M. SINGERLY'S new house in this town has been finished and partially furnished. The interior is finished in oak and California red wood, which has been polished to correspond with the oaken furniture. The gas jets are lighted by electricity, and altogether the house is more like a fairy palace than the residence of an ordinary human being.—Cecil Democrat.

Letter From Rock Hall.

Hymeneal—Oystermen and Oysters—Plenty of Snow but Poor Sleighing.

Editors Kent News:—"Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth." This encouraging promise applied to our little Alice when on Wednesday, the 6th inst., the Rev. Geo. S. Conaway, by the authority vested in his priestly office, made her one of the Meeks. The wedding was more of a common-sense ceremony than an attempt at stunning display. We confidently assert that Rock Hall has not seen a prettier bride for many a year; while the bridegroom wore a look of honest manliness which appeared a sufficient guarantee that they will inherit as much of the earth as will make them comfortable and happy, which, with unfaltering love and confidence, will cause the storms of life to pass lightly over them, giving a taste of Heaven while on their journey thitherward; which is the sincere wish of the bride's old friend.

Our oystermen have had a very dull season so far. In the early fall the oysters were not only scarce but in such poor condition that prices ruled exceedingly low, hardly sufficient to make common wages. We have hopes of better times to come, as Swan Point Bar, which during the last four or five years has been depleted by dredgers until it was not worth their attention, is fast beginning to recuperate. It is said there are plenty oysters there, many of them a fair size and growing fast. We have seen some that have grown fully an inch the last season; so if we can only have them protected in the course of two or three years it will be as rich, if not richer, than it has ever been, when we will be sure to have booming times in our neighborhood, which is now progressing marvelously considering the drawbacks we have to contend with.

Fidgety Alley has but three vacant lots now, and one of them at the corner of Squinting Lane is occupied by Capt. Apsley's platform scales, manufactured by Jones, of Binghamton, which is a reminder of the Lieut.-Governor of all the bushwhackers whenever we go to the postoffice. Lane Forlorn is beginning to fill up, there being two very nice houses completed there the past summer. There have been quite a number of smaller houses erected such as H. Ayres & Son claim to build for so much per dozen; but we hardly know how to locate them, as our villages multiply faster than our houses. We have now Learyville, Georgetown, Lousetown, Alexburg, Rock Hall, Denbeigh and Shewellville on about three miles of corkscrew road. We would suggest that they all be lumped together and named the city of "Oh Don't!" then we will know where we are during a half hour's walk. But by far the most noticeable structure is the one erected by our friend Sharp, to fit a door that is said to have been used for a stretcher at the battle of North Point, which he found in some of his antiquarian researches. The building is located at the corner of Broadway and Squinting Lane, and is of the style known as city flat, with the roof slope running lengthwise, making quite a saving in the matter of spouting. Until we have a city built to it, it will continue to be a most whimsical blending of the unique and antique, though Bill Whalen has nearly obliterated the antique by covering the door with a fresh coat of paint. It is now occupied by John Downey as a drug store. He certainly has a pretty set of bottles—wish your townsman Stam would take a squint at them. The store is located in the ell of an old building, making an alley about three feet wide half way around it, which from present appearances, as soon as warm weather sets in, will be an effectual counter-irritant for any disagreeable odor emanating from the drugs. But what gives it its chief prominence is being pushed out about ten feet into the street beyond the line of other buildings with a heavy cornice on the front (Broadway end), running out in corner tips, which, viewed from Squinting Lane, gives the impression that they are wings sprouting and that it is only waiting for them to develop that it may fly away to more congenial society.

Since Saturday, the 9th inst., Jack Frost and his comrade, Boreas, have been giving us a reminder that though they have overslept themselves they have waked up at last with undiminished vigor and all their oldtime spite at tender feet and unmittened fingers.

There is about six inches of snow, which had it been left where it fell would have given us a nice run of sleighing, but much of the road is swept entirely bare, while other parts are piled up as high as the fences on either side, making travel anything but enjoyable for the present. The mercury sunk to within 6° of zero, while many an unprotected nose would gladly have shrunk into a bulb or anything that would protect it from the biting breath of "Keewaydin."

HIGH GRADE BONE FERTILIZERS.

We take pleasure in again calling the attention of farmers to our High Grade Fertilizers. It being eight years ago this spring since they were first offered to consumers under their present form; and from that time until now there has been an increasing demand for them, which is a far better testimonial to us than any letters of praise could be, although we do not want for these latter, as we are in receipt of many. It has been our aim to put up the best fertilizers we know how, and the results in the field clearly show that we have hit the mark right in the bull's eye, and we believe if consumers will take our target (American Brand, bull's head) they will a good result every time—the bull's eye, if their aim is good.

THEIR CHARACTER.

The main characteristic of our fertilizers is that they are prepared with particular reference to the crop, and not to a chemical analysis; the latter does very well in its place, and we believe in chemistry thoroughly, but consumers are too often deceived with the idea that a chemical analysis is the main thing, and if they get a good analysis and high commercial valuation as figured out with arbitrary prices by the chemist, they must have a fine fertilizer. Now it may happen that a fertilizer, with a commercial valuation of $25 00 per ton, will give a better result on the crop than one with a valuation of $40 00 as based on a chemical analysis. And why should this be? Only because the material used in the one valued at $25 00 was better adapted to the crop than the other.

THEY ARE UNIFORM.

The goods we manufacture are uniform in composition, and are only varied in proportions, year after year, as we believe it to be an advantage to the crop. We have such large supplies of Bone, Blood, etc., from the slaughter establishments of New York, that our fertilizers are largely composed of these, and there is not that inducement for us to use cheaper material, that there might be, if we did not have this material.

BONE FERTILIZERS.

Our products are of a bone base, because we believe that is the most satisfactory source of phosphoric acid, and the large amount of animal matter our fertilizers contain makes them especially valuable in what may be considered the off or poor seasons. Some years it is noticed that almost any fertilizer will give fairly good results, but we find themost favorable comparisons for our products are in he poor years.

MARBLE WORKS!

[NEXT DOOR TO THE MARKET HOUSE, CHESTERTOWN.]

I Challenge the United States to produce better marble or finer finished work than I have done at my Yard. I guarantee its durability. You can see for yourselves in all your Cemeteries or in my Yard. I work no Scraps that have been thrown away by the saw-yards. I work no Pennsylvania marble; it will not stand the weather. I keep no agent out to torment. Persons know when they want and they had better look at the stone before buying—go look through your Cemeteries and see the broken and defaced stone. If you want a good and lasting Tombstone or Cottage Monument or a Shaft Monument of any size, I have the Largest Finished Stock of Marble on this Shore, and I will not be outdone in Prices. Call and examine for yourself. Respectfully,
