some of them repeals to touch at this port I take them on board: what is the usual price of the passage for grown persons & what for children: & what is the average annual cost of maintainance at the Cape.

When the relation in which Mr & Mrs Wilson are placed in regard to their people, is considered, I trust the Society will be inclined to favor the object I have in view: and it is only on the success of this application that I have any expectation that the majority of them can be induced to leave this country. Hoping the favor of an early reply I am very respectfully
