My Dear Sir,

Your second letter is at hand, and I hasten to give it an immediate answer. I should have answered the first with the same promptness had I had in prospect the information you desired. I have not even yet been able to obtain the information. My old man was here to see me yesterday. And I told him of the letter I had a few days before rec'd from you - and directed him to ascertain the precise number that would be able to go the latter part of this month, and to request my brother to write to him. As soon as my brother hoears his tobacco crop - they will be ready to go - which I presume will not be earlier than the middle of October. But you had better come down to Marlbro, and I will accompany you to my Brothers. Neither Payne or Minor will leave the Country before the Spring - as Bishop Meade is unwilling for them to do so until their situation at the Colony can be rendered comfortable. He has interposed with our board of Foreign Missions & prevails with them to delay their departure until the Spring. Doctor Savage - who
