SATURDAY MORNING..........APRIL 10, 1886.

A BIG HAUL.

A Tramp Finds $4,000 Worth of Diamonds—The Reward He Received.

One day after I had been hanging around for several weeks as a gentleman of leisure, says a tramp in the Detroit Free Press, a policeman ran me in as vagrant. Next morning the judge heard my story and asked:

"Are you a good traveler?"

"Splendid."

"Do you want to travel?"

"I do."

"Then you shall have an opportunity."

I had heard a good deal about Detroit and its kindness to tramps, and when I left Chicago I headed for the East. Before getting clear of the city I stole a copy of the morning paper off a doorstep and after a walk of three hours I sat down to post up. Some tramps don't care for the news of the day, but I have always felt it to be my duty to look over the dailies whenever I had a chance, and to read every line of them, from congressional proceedings to advertisements. It so happened that one of the first things in this paper to attract my attention was the following:

"Three thousand dollars reward—Lost, on the 13th instant, from a window of a coach on the Michigan Central, west of Pullman, a reticule containing diamonds. The finder will receive the above reward. Communicate with A. B., Room 112, Palmer House, Chicago."

This was the 18th. Five days had elapsed since the loss, and it was probable that a dozen people had been sent to search over every rod of the track. I had no more idea of finding that treasure than you have of flying, but as I continued my way up the track I kept my eyes peeled.

I put in five miles of walking and then sat down to rest again. It was midsummer, and my old boots distressed my feet. I came to a spot where a small creek was crossed by the tracks, and I followed it down to the fence to find a place to wash my feet. Just at the fence was a deep hole and a shady spot, and I tell you it did my old feet good to sit there and paddle the soft and cooling waters. I had been there twenty minutes when a bird flew down on the fence and hopped from that to a stick of driftwood to secure a drink. I was sitting stiff as a stone, not wanting to alarm him, when all of a sudden my eye fell upon that lady's lost reticule. It was jammed among a lot of light driftwood held against the fence. I wasn't half a minute getting possession of it. The bag was provided with a lock, and I out with my knife and cut a hole in it. Out fell the diamonds—rings, pins, bracelets, studs and a gold watch set with flashing stones. I could hold all in one hand, and Jerusha! but didn't the stones sparkle and flash and shimmer and bring my heart up into my throat! I sat there for ten minutes without daring to move, for fear those sparklers would suddenly disappear, but by and by my nerve came back and I made up my mind what to do. I had never thought of appropriating the jewels to my own use, but was in a hurry to return to Chicago.

I wrapped the reticule up in the paper, put the diamonds in my pocket, and at 9 o'clock that night I was in front of the Palmer house. I was about to enter when a hand was laid on my shoulder and a gruff voice called out:

"Now, then, what are you trying to get away with?"

It was a policeman, and he had spotted me for a thief.

"I'm carrying a parcel to a gentleman in here," I replied.

"Oh! you are! Who might it be?"

"His name is Brown."

"Oh! it is. Come along, my fine fellow."

"His name is Brown, and his room is 112. Come in with me. If I have lied to you, you can take me in."

He hesitate for a moment and then entered the hotel with me. As we reached the desk he asked of the clerk.

"Does a Mr. Brown occupy 112."

"No, sir," was the reply.

"Now, you rascal, come along," growled the officer, as he seized my arm.

"It's the A. B. of room 112 who lost the diamonds!" I shouted to the clerk as I was being dragged away.

"Here—wait! What do you know of the diamonds?"

"Here's the reticule, sir, and I have the jewels in my pocket. I found them along the railroad track."

Well, you ought to see how mad that policeman was, and how glad A. B. was, and how tickled I was when $3,000 was counted into my hands. I went out of the tramping business and started a shop, but at the end of two years was cleaned out by the hard times and had to go back to Foot & Walker's line again. I'm there yet, and, if this bit of adventure, scribbled off in a tramp's lodging on a rainy afternoon, is worthy of publication, give it a place.—Detroit Free Press.

A PAPER makes the following curious statement: All fruit that grows with a core, pit, or with seed, can be made to grow without them, when it is understood. It is accomplished by reversing the scion—rooting the top end of the plant. To do this you bend the scion to sprout down, and cover it with dirt. After rooting cut it loose and let the root end be up. Apples are grown without cores, peaches without seed, and grapes and other vines also, by simply reversing the plant. It is true, and can be done to a certainty.

AT Motley, Ga., there are two ladies, who are twin sisters. Their maiden name was Scruggs. They married twin brothers on the same night, the name of the latter being Stephens. Each lady had a boy and a girl. Their husbands were injured in the same accident on a railroad, and two months after died within a week of each other. The widows sued for damages, and recovered between them twenty-five hundred dollars. With the money, they engaged in the mercantile business in which they continue.

A TEACHER observed a huge blot of ink on a little Irish boy's copybook. "What's that?" he demanded. "Sure, I think it's a tear sir." "A tear! How could a tear be black?" "Sure I think wan o' the colored boys dropped it, sir."

THERE are three things that I have always loved and have never understood—painting, music and women.

No, George, the mills of the gods that "grind" slowly are not the gin mills, for they grind exceedingly fast.

A YOUNG lady wrapped up in herself is aptly described as a delicate parcel.

TO THE FRUIT GROWERS OF KENT!

PEACH TREE FERTILIZER
—MANUFACTURED BY—
WILLIAMS, CLARK & Co.

This FERTILIZER cannot be excelled for PEACH TREES. A Special Formula is used containing the essential ingredients of POTASH and KIERSITE (crude Magnesium Sulphate) and BONE needed to feed the growing tree and render it prolific in Fruit Bearing.

THIS IS JUST THE FERTILIZER YOUR ORCHARDS REQUIRE.

IT WILL PAY YOU TO USE IT FREELY THIS SPRING.

We claim it to be the BEST and the CHEAPEST Peach Tree Fertilizer ever put on the market. A trial only is needed to prove this.

It is not an experiment but a well-tried mixture, fully endorsed by intelligent and experienced Peach Growers of the Maryland and Delaware Peninsula.

Separate ingredients furnished for those desiring to mix for themselves, or any formula mixed to order.

PEACH YELLOWS—A Cure and Preventive:

We are favored by the Experiment Department of Houghton Farm, Montainville, N. Y., with the result of an elaborate investigation into the cause of Peach Yellows, by Prof. D. P. Penhallow. In the course of this investigation the bark and wood of 22 species of fruit and forest trees were examined, in order to determine their chemical and physical condition, both in health and disease at different seasons of the year. As the result of these investigations Prof. Penhallow concludes that the disease known as Peach Yellows is not due, as has been supposed, to insects, or to fungoid growths, but rather to deficient or improper nutrition, involving an excess of lime and a want of potash in the wood and fruit, together with an abnormal proportion of certain other constituents.

He states "The external indications as have been long known, are stated to be premature ripening of the fruit with purple discoloration of the flesh, and deficiency of flavor the first year; and small yellow and red leaves and clusters of wiry twigs from the larger limbs the second year, followed by the death of the tree. Examinations indicate the roots are always healthy." As a remedy, thorough cultivation is urged, and the use, instead of stable manure, of a commercial manure containing kiersite (crude magnesium sulphate), dissolved bone, sulphate and muriate of potash. Diseased trees treated with these chemicals by Dr. Goessman of the Massachusetts Agricultural College have been restored to perfect health, even where the disease does not exist, the use of these chemicals while not only acting as a preventive will much improve the quality of the crop making it market at a higher price. The following extracts taken from letters received from our customers may be of interest:

"Where I used none, the trees did not do well and the fruit was nothing to brag of, but alongside of this, where I used your Peach Tree Fertilizer, the trees came out vigorous and healthy, and the fruit was No. 1, bringing twice as much per basket as where I used none."

From Flanders, N. J.: "The Williams, Clark & Co.'s Peach Tree Fertilizer which I used, did remarkably well. The trees sent out dark-green leaves and extended their limbs and seemed to have new life. I can heartily recommend it as a Peach Tree Fertilizer."

From Flemington, N. J.: "I used one ton of the Peach Tree Fertilizer, and am satisfied it is a good thing."

We could add many more opinions of the same kind. We think an application of the Peach Tree Fertilizer will be found very beneficial to all orchards:

Our PEACH TREE FERTILIZER is made of the materials recommended by Prof. Penhallow, containing:

SOLUBLE AND REVERTED PHOSPHORIC ACID	6 to 8 pr cent.
POTASH	5 to 8 "
OR SULPHATE OF POTASH	10 to 14 "
SULPHATE OF MAGNESIA	7 to 10 "
