Kent News.

SATURDAY MORNING..........April 17, 1886.

Kent County Agricultural Society.

Club Room, April 12, 1886.

Messrs. Editors:—The Worton Club met to-day at the usual hour. The attendance small. The committee on the Peach Exchange submitted a report, which was discussed at length and carried over to our next meeting for final action.

The secretary of the executive committee, W. B. Stephens, made report to the club, and among the recommendations was that we should hold a fair this coming fall, which was adopted by vote of the club.

Mr. Wm. Hepbron presented the society with a sample of corn grown from a specimen obtained from territorial Indians. The corn was given to Mr. J. M. J. Byron for planting, and he was requested to report.

Mr. Barnard, on the part of Still Pond Agricultural Association, invited the members of this Club to attend a special meeting of that association to be held May 1, at 1 o'clock P. M., which was accepted.

P.

Fairlee Grange Entertainment.

Messrs. Editors:—It was our pleasure on the 15th inst. to attend one of the special meetings that has made Fairlee Grange famous throughout the country. The many features of these entertainments have been frequently the subject of favorable comment in your valued paper.

That this grange is doing a noble work in shaping the minds of the young, as well as greatly improving the minds of the adult portion of the membership, must be apparent to all casual visitors. The literary productions are in every way worthy of a people much more pretentious than the contributors to this worthy object. To offer such favorable comment at this time as the meeting of the 15th is in every way worthy would occupy much more space than could be devoted to that matter by your paper.

The music was especially to be commended. Musical talent of a high order is certainly possessed by a number of the members of this organization, and the musical productions on this occasion were undoubtedly the result of careful preparation and should have been heard to be fully appreciated.

C.

Items from Betterton.

Messrs. Editors:—Our fishermen are catching quite a number of shad now and prices are comparatively good. Some of the shad are very fine indeed, for instance, Messrs. Taylor & Brice caught one last night that measured 2 feet, 1 inch long, 3½ inches thick, 8 inches wide and weighed 8 pounds full. Can any of your fishermen beat that?

Mr. Wm. E. DeFord, of Baltimore, is visiting friends at Betterton this week. Miss Lottie Proctor is visiting her sister, Mrs. John Cosden. Mrs. John H. Cozzin, who has been visiting her parents in Virginia, returned home last week. Mr. Jas. Greet has moved from Philadelphia and will occupy the house formerly occupied by Mr. Romie Abrams.

The Telephone office has been removed from R. C. Young's store to Turner Bros.' office.

Our postoffice is in a flourishing condition and is getting better.

Business generally is beginning to brighten up a little, therefore we have but little room to complain.

Trebor.

The Labor Problem.

Mr. Ignatius Batory, writing on the labor problem, attributes the periods of distress which every few years befall the people to defects in the financial and economic management of the country by its legislative bodies, State and national, by which inequalities in taxation occur, to the benefit of some and the detriment of others, notably by the exemption of public securities from taxation, the holders of which are no longer on an equal footing with their less-favored fellow-citizens. He asks: Where is the remedy? Is it in labor unions? No! Is it in co-operative shops? No! Is it in strikes? No! Is it in anti-prison labor system? No! Is it in 8-hour laws? No! Is it in arbitration? No! Is it in compulsory copartnerships between employers and employes? No! Can socialism remedy it? No! Can communism remedy it? No! Then where is the remedy? It is in honest, intelligent, judicious, impartial and constitutional legislation upon all financial and States' economical questions. The Knights of Labor, if intelligently managed, can accomplish it by sending to Congress men who are by occupation, mental training and sympathy in harmony with the material interest of those who labor physically or mentally.

Bishop Bowman on Jay Gould.

The Methodist ministers of Chicago discussed on Monday the eight-hour labor movement. Bishop Bowman, of St. Louis, said there was no such conflict between labor and capital as had been intimated. The agitators were not considering the fact that the price of labor had been steadily increasing for the last fifty years, while for the same time the income of capital was decreasing. "And I don't want to be taken as defending Jay Gould," said the Bishop, "I would like to see some one take him by the neck and kick him through New York—as long as he wasn't killed."

Gathering Them In.—Tuesday was a field day in the criminal annals of New York city. Eleven members of the board of aldermen of 1884 were arrested on warrants charging them with accepting bribes for voting for the Broadway railway franchise. The arrested men were required to give $25,000 bail each. Of the 24 members of the board of 1884, 14 are now under arrest, 1 has turned State's evidence, 3 have been fortunate enough to get away, 2 are dead, 2 voted against the bill and are safe from persecution, and 2 are on the anxious seat.

Robbins' Circus.—On Friday, April 23, the Frank A. Robbins Circus, Museum and Menagerie will exhibit in Chestertown. It will be remembered that this show was here last year and gave general satisfaction. This year many new features have been added, as will be seen by referring to the advertisement in another column. We copy the following from an exchange:

The Frank A. Robbins' Circus, Museum and Menagerie arrived in the city at 6.30 yesterday morning by special train of 22 cars on the Canada Atlantic Railway. The show itself was first-class. The menagerie is good, all the animals being choice specimens and in excellent condition. Of the ring performance it is impossible to speak too highly. Every act was good and there was plenty of them. One of the best features of the entertainment was the daring bareback riding of Charles W. Fish, the champion bareback rider of the world, whom it would be impossible to excel. A novelty was the high wire bicycle riding of Miss Susie Cormack, who rode a bicycle to and fro on a wire suspended near the top of the pavilion, while the Decoma Bros. performed a number of their wonderful and daring feats on a trapeze suspended from it. The tight-rope dancing of Melle Dubsk; the wonderful feats of Rixford Bros., the star acrobats, and the unequalled performances of Wentworth and Harbeck, were among the other more attractive features of the performance. The show is an excellent one in every respect, and should it return to this section of the country will be sure of a warm welcome.—Adv.

Lawlessness is ever the foe of honest industry. No cause can hope to command the considerate favor or sympathy of the people of this free land, that adopts lawlessness or violence to attain its ends. All such efforts must not only put the lawless outside the pale of public tolerance, but they must react fearfully against any organization that actively or passively sustains them.

Baltimore Market.—The Baltimore papers of yesterday quote as follows:

Wheat—Longberry 98c.@99c.; Fultz, 95c. @96c. for fair to good. Corn—White, prime, 45@48; yellow, 45@46. Oats—44.
